Alpine (Tex.) Man Shooting Wife and Colonel Will Not Tell Why He Did It.

Alpine, Tex., July 22—Mystery surrounds the motive of Harry J. Spannell, manager of a local hotel, for shooting and killing his wife.

Spinnell, who was held over night in the county jail, was taken today to another town, the name of which was not revealed, for safe-keeping.

An investigation by local authorities disclosed that Spannell was driving his wife and Colonel Butler in his car along the main residence street of the town when suddenly he stopped his engine, turned in his seat, drew an automatic pistol and a revolver and with the one began shooting Colonel Butler and with the other his wife.

He calmly emptied both firearms into the bodies of the victims. Apparently Colonel Butler was shot first and killed instantly for persons nearby heard the woman cry out after the shooting had begun, "Harry, don't kill me," while the officer made no outcry.

Had Been Friendly with Butler.

It is recalled today that he was extremely cordial toward Colonel Butler, with whom he had been very friendly, as he ushered his wife and the officer into the car for the fatal drive.

Before being taken away from the local jail Spannell broke down completely and sobbed bitterly for hours, bemoaning what he termed his "madness."

A graduate of musical conservatories in this country and abroad, he was an instructor in music in Baylor university at Waco, Tex., when he met the daughter of John R. Holland, cattle man and banker of Alpine, whom he later married.

He calmly emptied both firearms into the bodies of the victims. Apparently Colonel Butler was shot first and killed instantly for persons nearby heard the woman cry out after the shooting had begun, "Harry, don't kill me," while the officer made no outcry.
