Hatch Takes Blame for the Failure

Newark, N. J., July 28.—Full resumed late today by Edwin H. Hatch, responsibility for the collapse of the Mutual Trust company of Orange, N. J., which was closed Monday by state banking authorities, was as vice president of the institution, and said to be one of its largest stockholders. The crash, he said, resulted from the over-certification of a $34,000 deposit to ten times that amount, $340,000.

Hatch's statement, issued from his sick bed, followed the arrest of himself and Thomas S. Byrne, secretary-treasurer of the bank. The latter previously had admitted, according to the authorities, that he had a part in the alleged conspiracy, but asserted his act was not prompted by a desire for personal gain, but by the belief that he was serving the bank.

In the Silent Drama

Muse—Friday and Saturday Anita Stewart appears at the Muse in "The Daring of Diana." This picture is a vivid tale of newspaper life. Diana being a reporter on one of the biggest sheets in New York City. In one scene she is seen roaming about the streets trying to find some news, when suddenly the fire engines appear and she crowds her way through them. This is no "fake," for the engines are really going to a fire and so are the crowds. The fire in the picture is a factory fire. Billie Burke in "Handed Through" and a Mutual silent cartoon are also on the bill. Many electric fans have been installed recently, making the Muse delightfully cool.

This is the theme of the story at the Hipp today called "Under Cover."

Empress—The four Milanese, comedy European gymnasts, are presenting feats of agility and endurance which makes their act quite out of the ordinary. Mr. Moylan of Larry Moylan and company, is one of the cleverest card manipulators in the country and is capably assisted by a daintily garbed Irish colleen, whose work will cause you to sit up and take notice.

Strand—William Farnum is the featured player at the Strand today and tomorrow in a story of western mining camp life called "The Man from Ritter Root." Of course, there is one of those corking good Farnum fights and the action is fast and furious throughout, holding the spectator spellbound throughout.

McNeil and Roberts, the two English buyers, merely paid the local market a trip of inspection. They purchased two carloads of horses, all of which we had on the market that suited their purpose, and left.
