

HUGHES TALKS TO LABORING AND TO MEN IN BUSINESS

Republican Nominee for Presidency Spends Busy Day With People of Frisco and Oakland.

RECEIVES WARM WELCOME

Repeats Declaration for Protective Tariff and Liberal Working Conditions.

IS FOR OLD AGE PENSIONS

San Francisco, Aug. 19.—Charles Evans Hughes, republican candidate for president, spent the second day of his San Francisco visit talking with workmen at the Union Iron Works, luncheon at the Commercial club, conferring with the republican country newspaper editors assembled here, and addressing a mass meeting in Oakland. Between engagements he viewed as much of San Francisco and the bay section as his limited time allowed.

At the Union Iron Works, where the men assembled to hear the former governor, Ignatius Sullivan, a grimy machinist, left his lathe long enough to climb into Mr. Hughes' automobile and introduce him. The candidate repeated his declarations for protective tariff, argued for more liberal working conditions and said he believed in better hours for laborers, old-age pensions, proper recreation and safeguards for life and limb.

Must Be Co-Operative.

"You can't make wages out of industrial turmoil," he said. "Endless restlessness must stop. There must be a spirit of co-operation between all. There can be no success of labor without co-operation with capital, and no success of capital without co-operation with labor."

"A foundation must be formed by contented workmen, who know they have a share in the nation's prosperity. At present I think the human factor in production has not been recognized enough."

Following his address, Mr. Hughes shook the grimy hands of several hundred workmen as his automobile edged its way in and out of the crowd. At the Commercial club luncheon the candidate again made his declaration in favor of a protective tariff, argued for preparedness and assailed the Wilson administration for its Mexican policy.

Must Foster Enterprise.

Mr. Hughes told his business audience at the Commercial club: "I do not believe we can run this government by mixing business and politics. I am for business honestly administered. We have had abundant money, but nobody can live on surgery alone; the patients body must be built up. We must foster enterprise and make the man of business feel he has free avenues to success."

"I do not believe in, nor do I know any panacea for our governmental ills. I believe in cost sheets and getting down to hard facts by a study of our problems and then solving them on that basis. The administration of our government should be an example to business men."

"I like to see where we can do for America, not to look to cut off and destroy."

Compensation Bill Passed by Senate

Washington, Aug. 19.—The workmen's compensation bill to provide uniform compensation for government employees when disabled and adequate benefits for their families in case of death was passed today by the senate practically in the same form as it passed the house.

Hundreds of Tents in Camps Near Brownsville Are Blown Down

CENTERS CORPUS CHRISTI BULLETIN.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 19.—Lives were lost in the tropical storm at Rockport, on the coast about twelve miles north of Port Aransas, according to a telephone message received here from Beeville, Tex., about sixty miles inland. Heavy Damage at Corpus Christi.

San Antonio, Tex., Aug. 19.—With army wireless reports received up to a late hour last night stating there had been little damage and no known loss of life in the Brownsville district, chief anxiety centered early today on the situation at Corpus Christi and that vicinity as a result of the tropical storm which struck the Texas coast yesterday morning.

The storm had abated somewhat at

Cooking Outfit for Entire Company Weighs 125 Pounds

Douglas, Ariz., Aug. 19.—Captain C. O. Thomas, Jr., supply officer of the First Cavalry, will leave here in a few days for San Antonio, taking with him by direction of General Frederick Funston, a field cooking outfit of his invention for demonstration purposes. It has been demonstrated to the satisfaction of the commanding officer here, it is stated, and according to army men, will revolutionize the culinary department of the army in the field.

The entire outfit, capable of preparing food and hot water for a company of 150 men, folds into a package fourteen by twenty by twenty-eight inches and weighs 125 pounds, making a load for one side of a pack saddle, the other side of the pack to be filled with food.

Captain Thomas has had two stoves made here and will take them to San Antonio with him.

Here is Young Lady Who Would Be Queen

England once had a "Good Queen Bess Who never wore less Than twenty gowns a day."

AK-Sar-Ben now has an opportunity to get another Queen Bess. For the morning mail Friday brought a letter to President Everett Buckingham of Ak-Sar-Ben in which a girl, who signs herself just "Bessie," filed her application for the position of queen.

She had her king all picked out, too, for she named a certain man, well known in railroad circles, as the one whom she wants for king.

Mr. Buckingham referred the matter to W. D. Hosford, another of the board of governors, and Hosford had the thing passed along to the secretary's office. Maybe it will come up at the next board meeting. Maybe not.

JURY HOLDS AUTO DRIVER FOR THE MURDER OF WOMAN

Six Men Decide He Was Driving in Careless and Negligent Manner When Accident Happens.

WOULD SAFEGUARD RIGHTS

VERDICT OF JURY.

That Christina Cunningham came to her death on the 17th day of August, 1916, in the city of Omaha, county of Douglas, state of Nebraska, by being struck and run over by an automobile, driven by Charles E. Stockdale at Twenty-sixth and Farmington streets, while said Christina Cunningham was attempting to board a street car; said automobile being operated by said Charles E. Stockdale in a careless and negligent manner, and in violation of the statutes of the state of Nebraska and ordinances of the city of Omaha. We therefore recommend that Charles E. Stockdale be held for the death of Christina Cunningham.

We believe that the lax enforcement of the ordinances and statutes covering the operation of motor vehicles and the lack of adequate punishment for the violators when arrested, has been responsible for the growing disregard of all traffic rules, ordinances and statutes by drivers of these vehicles. We, therefore, further recommend that drivers of automobiles and motorcycles who violate the ordinances of the city of Omaha or the statutes of the state of Nebraska, be arrested, vigorously prosecuted and adequately punished, to the end that the rights of pedestrians on the streets of Omaha may be safeguarded, and that the drivers of automobiles and motorcycles shall understand that the ordinances and statutes are to be obeyed rather than disregarded.

The coroner's jury which inquired into the death of Mrs. C. G. Cunningham, late yesterday afternoon brought in the above verdict and the significant commentary on the present disregard of traffic ordinances and statutes, which follows the verdict proper.

At the afternoon session of the inquest, which adjourned at 11 o'clock to get the testimony of the motorist and conductor of the car which Mrs. Cunningham was about to board, the testimony against Mr. Stockdale piled up still further and his attorney, E. A. Conaway, decided that it would be wise for him to take the stand himself.

Mr. Stockdale was on the verge of a breakdown several times during his stay in the witness chair and although he was sure that he was

The Serbian statement, issued August 18, announces: "Yesterday at dawn the Bulgarians attacked along our front in the sector of Moglena (Moglenica), north of the village of Sepunia and Projar. The Bulgarians were repulsed by our counter attacks and were thrown back upon their original position after sustaining enormous losses."

Farmer Badly Injured By an Enraged Bull

North Platte, Neb., Aug. 19.—(Special.)—John Crandall, a farmer living eleven miles southwest of here, is in a critical condition from injuries sustained when he was thrown to the ground and severely mauled by an enraged bull. Crandall was driving a herd of cattle from one pasture to another when the bull suddenly became enraged, rushed upon him, threw him to the ground and, dropping on his knees, mauled the farmer for several moments. Crandall finally managed to roll under a nearby fence and escape. He walked nearly a mile to his home where medical examination showed that two ribs were fractured, his body severely bruised and possible internal injuries. The bull had previously shown signs of viciousness and had been recently fed delinquent. This fact Crandall undoubtedly owes his life.

Little Two-Ounce Bottle Causes Consternation in Marshal's Office

A little package caused a big feeling of discomfort in the office of United States Marshal Flynn Saturday.

It was a two-ounce bottle done up in many thicknesses of soft paper. The bottle was full of nitroglycerine.

It belonged to Charles Davis, alias Charles Lewis, one of the men who robbed the postoffice at Okala, Neb., Wednesday.

Davis, a little, smiling man, was in the room awaiting removal to the county jail, and altogether too happy, it seemed, for a man who had just offered to plead guilty and go to prison for from three to six years.

What to do with that two ounces of bottled calamity and devastation was what worried Marshal Flynn.

"Put it out in the street. It'll evaporate in a few minutes," said Davis. "I'm going to plead guilty anyway—won't need it for evidence."

"Guess there's enough there to blow up this whole building," ventured Deputy Grant Yates.

"Yes," said the yeoman in a bored sort of tone. "If it gets too hot the bomb's liable to go off any minute. Don't need no fuse."

EDITOR'S DAUGHTER DISCOVERED SHOT

Miss Dessie Westervelt's Body Found With Bullet in Head in Father's Office.

NO MOTIVE FOR SUICIDE

Scottsbluff, Neb., Aug. 19.—(Special Telegram.)—Miss Dessie Westervelt, oldest child of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Westervelt, was found dead in the office of the Scottsbluff Republican, her father's paper, at an early hour this morning.

About 6 o'clock she left her home, a block from the office, to take a walk. Nothing more was seen of her until the office force reported for work.

One of the men went to the back of the office behind the presses to hang up his coat and found the dead body.

A 38-calibre revolver belonging to her father was on her breast and the shot that had ended the life passed into the temple.

Miss Westervelt, who was one of the finest and most highly respected young women in the city, has lived here all her life. She graduated from the local high school.

For a number of years she was in the employ of the local postoffice but for a few months she has been staying at home. A coroner's inquest will be held, but there is little probability of its clearing up the reason for either suicide or foul play.

She is not known to have had any trouble of any kind and neither is she known to have had any enemies in the world. On the contrary everyone who knew her respected and admired her.
