OMAHA DROPS ONE MORE TO TOPEKA

Kaws Hammer Gaskell and O'Toole, and Rourke Defense Makes Errors.

GAME IS A WOOLLY AFFAIR

With a pitcher playing first and two pitchers and a first baseman in the outfield, the well known Topeks ran away with another combat from the Rourkelets yesterday, 7 to 3. If the Topeks could lose a couple of more athletes now, they might cop the pennant.

As the pesky Lincoln Links won again yesterday, the Rourke lead is only four games. It behooves Marty Krug to send out the S. O. S. for reinforcements.

The game was a wooly affair, in which both sides staged some marvelous stuff. If Martin Beck had seen the fray yesterday he could have signed up a whole bill of headliners.

Make Seven Errors.

The Rourkes made seven errors. Seven is sometimes a lucky number, but it was unlucky yesterday. The Topeks only made four errors. Omaha had eleven men left on bases. Topeka had twelve. The pinch hitting was punk.

At that, Mr. Henning, who played left field Tuesday and pitched yesterday, got away pretty lucky. Twice the Rourkes contested the runaway. Once nobody was out and the other time one was out. The first time Krueger hit into a double play and the second time Marty O'Toole hit into a double play. Both doubles were started at the plate, so nobody scored.

Krug Poles Triple.

The first Rourke counter was scored in the fifth on Marty Krug's triple and an error by Lathrop. In the seventh the other two local markers were annexed on Thompson's single, Miller's triple and Krueger's single.

Prince Gaskell started to exhibit his hooks and curves, but was yanked in the home half of the second for a sniper and Marty O'Toole got the bumps the rest of the matinee.

Kewpie Kilduff did not play. He is all crippled up. He donned a uniform, however, and sat on the bench for emergency purposes. A couple of dozen emergencies arose, but Kewpie wasn't disturbed. Krug went to short and Irelan played second.

The Rourkes and Kaws will combat again this afternoon, starting at 3:15.
