teenth and Farnam streets, Sunday evening at 8 o'clock.

Fight Over Owen's
Bill May Delay
Adjournment

Washington, Aug. 26.—Senator Owen made another futile effort in the senate today to get consideration of the corrupt practices bill. Senator Smoot, republican, objected, but Senator Boran declared the republican leaders could bind him to no legislative program and said he desired to vote on both the corrupt practices and immigration bills before adjournment.

Senators Reed and Salsbury, democrats, declared they would aid Senator Owen in his effort to get the corrupt practices bill before the senate, and that precipitated a flurry over the democratic program for adjournment next week.

Indications were for a close fight over Senator Owen's motion when he makes it.

CIRCUS SUNDAYS
IN THE GATE CITY

Thousands Watch the Circus Men Put Up Their Big Tents.

TO PARADE STREETS TODAY*Circus Day at a Glance.

Exhibition grounds, Twenty-first and Paul streets.

Doors to animal menagerie and main tent open at 1 and 7 p. m.

Main tent programs opening with fairyland spectacle "Cinderella," followed by two hours of circus acts, beginning at 2 and 3 p. m.

Down town seat sales located throughout show day at the Myers-Dillon drug store, 1609 Farnam street.

Kids' parade will depart from the circus grounds at 8:30 a. m. and pass over the following streets: Twentieth to Douglas; Douglas to Eleventh; Eleventh to Farnam; Farnam to Fifteenth; Fifteenth to Howard; Howard to Sixteenth; Sixteenth to Cuming; Cuming to Twentieth; Twentieth back to show grounds.

Afternoonabsence of two years the Ringling Brothers circus family of 1,300 or so arrived in Omaha yesterday, spent the day here and will hold "house warmings" in their tents at the show grounds at 2 and 8 p. m. today.

The Ringlings were informal hosts to several thousand people yesterday.
Under gentle pressure they admitted that their household of people, animals and furnishings had greatly increased in size since last they visited this city.

And if you think it is an extravagant statement to say that one of the most interesting parts about a circus is that which appears "behind the scenes," you should follow the silent man on horseback who preceded the first thing on wheels that arrived on the circus grounds yesterday. No matter how late the hour, he is in no hurry; they do things methodically, those Ringlings.
He reads the signs, the bits of red and white cloth fluttering from the little steel rod that mark the camp site; he waves his hand. The driver of the eight horses that pull an immense wagon calls out the name of the off leader, the grays turn into the field, settle down into their collars and drag the unwilling vehicle through yielding turf to the spot indicated by a particular flag.

Circus Arrives.

The circus has arrived.

A quiet man, who smokes a cigar and who has heretofore been taken for a bystander, looks at his watch.
"We'll be serving breakfast in forty-five minutes." Nothing looks more unlikely.

Then a whistle sounds, and from nowhere spring a myriad of men. A wave of the hand from the man with the cigar and they have stormed the first wagon before the horses are fairly unhitched. They warm over it like ants; they dismember it; they rip off the red sides; they unlimber the red pipes and connect them; they dig out mammoth copper kettles and the kitchen outfit of a giant. To the mysterious vehicle turns out to be the steam boiler wagon which cooks the meals. The fireman lights the fire; smoke curls from the stack. The circus has put on its coffee pot. By this time another wagon, heavier than the first, has been placed; has been converted into a range and is sizzling with steaks and chops.

regular meeting Tuesday evening in Barrett's hall, Nineteenth and Douglas streets. Preliminaries will be considered for active work during September, along the lines of new members and the drill team will do the rest.

The session held by Comenius camp, No. 76, in Metz hall, Thirteenth and William streets, Saturday evening, last, was well attended.

Papio camp, No. 221, which holds its session in the village of Benson, has promised some activity during September. Its membership is composed mostly of farmers, the name of McArdele in the lead.

Omaha-Seymour, No. 16, will meet Tuesday evening at Omaha-Seymour hall, Crouse block, Sixteenth street and Capitol avenue. The degree team is busy preparing for active duties during Ak-Sar-Ben week, as it will participate in the historical parade.

Woodmen Circle.

The membership of the various circles will be well represented on Fraternal day, Saturday, September 2, between home-coming week, at Plattsmouth, Neb. All members of the order are invited. The train leaves the Burlington station at 12:30 p. m., Saturday, returning the same evening, leaving Plattsmouth at 7:40 o'clock.

bers and friends, Wednesday evening, August 30, in the hall, Seventeenth and Howard streets.

Loyal Order of Moose.

Malcolm Burns, national director of the Loyal Order of Moose, was introduced to Omaha members of the lodge at the regular meeting last Wednesday. Mr. Burns comes to Nebraska from Oklahoma to take charge of the organization work in this state. Officers of Magic City lodge No. 308 were guests of Omaha lodge No. 90 at the meeting.

Danish Brotherhood.

Lodge No. 1, Danish Brotherhood, gives a smoked in its hall, Twenty-fifth and Leavenworth streets, Tuesday evening. This is the first one of the season, and for members only.

Tribe of Ben Hur.

Mecca court, No. 13, will hold an open meeting Thursday for members and friends, at the hall, Nineteenth and Farnam streets.

Improved Order of Moose.

Fonterelle tribe, No. 78, is still doing a nice business and keeping up with the times. Saturday evening, September 9, the tribe and Redwing council, No. 3, Degree of Pocahontas, will give a picnic in Elmwood park.
There will be no chance to spend wampum for anything other than carfare. Each one is requested to bring a well-filled basket, and their friends.
At 6 o'clock there will be an old-time basket dinner. This is to get the members together with their families and get better acquainted.

Brotherhood of American Yeomen.

The next regular business meeting of Omaha homestead, No. 1404, will be held in Labor temple, Wednesday evening, September 6, at which a large class will be initiated. It is expected that the district manager will be present at the initiation.

Mrs. Jessie B. Quaintance, 3902 North Twenty-fourth street, who has been seriously ill because of an accidental fall at Carter lake, is now recovering.
