LEGISLATURE WILL FIX STATE CAPITOL

Rebuilding of East Wing Will Be Left to Lawmakers of Next Session.

DANGER NOT IMMEDIATE

Lincoln, Aug. 28.—(Special.)—Rebuilding the east wing of the state house will be up to the next legislature, the committee appointed by Governor Morehead, which met this morning, taking a stand in favor of making a report of the condition of the same and leaving it to the legislature to meet the emergency.

The committee, consisting of President of the Senate Phil Kohl of Wayne, Speaker George Jackson, Senator Spirk of Saline and Representative Peterson of Lancaster, with State Engineer Johnson and some of the members of the State Board of Public Lands, accompanied by the governor, made a close investigation of the state house and its condition, going to the top and following down on the inside to the bottom.

Up around the dome on the side next to the east wing they found several cracks where the stone had pulled away from the dome, large enough to stick a fist in, but it was the general condition of the wing which appeared to cause most concern.

No Immediate Danger. According to State Engineer Johnson the outside layer of stone has sunk below the rest of the wall about four inches. This has weakened the whole wall. He does not think there is any immediate danger, but believes the legislature should take some steps as soon as it convenes.

The wing might fall tomorrow or it might stand for a considerable time, but the fact remains that the board considers that it would be almost criminal negligence on the part of the legislature not to take some steps toward repairing the wing.

Governor Morehead, who has not in the past showed much enthusiasm over a new state house, after examining the building this morning, frankly stated that he thought something should be done. He thought, were it not that the next session is only four months away, it would be best to call a special session in order that something should be done. "If it was a year away," said he, "I should seriously consider calling a special session."

Building in Bad Shape. "I believe I would be like pouring money into a rat hole to attempt to fix up the wing by repairing it," said the governor in the discussion which took place. The whole building is in bad shape, and while my offices are fairly comfortable, those on the north side are almost uninhabitable in the winter time. I believe we should tear down the east wing and rebuild it larger and in such shape that it would be a part of a new and commodious building later on."

The matter was left for the state engineer and J. H. Craddock, of Omaha, an architect who accompanied the committee on its trip of investigation, to draw up a report to the legislature which will be submitted to the committee at a later meeting.

Elevator Bursting With Nebraska Grain

Lincoln, Aug. 28.—(Special.)—According to Railway Commissioner T. L. Hall, who has returned from a trip out in the state, the elevator of the Farmers' Co-operative Grain company at Arnold, a station on the Callaway branch of the Union Pacific, is so full of grain that it is in danger of falling over, and telephone poles have had to be set against it to prop it up.

The company has not been able to secure cars to ship the grain and so Mr. Hall has taken up the matter with the railroad company and they have promised to furnish cars immediately, in order that the elevator can be relieved of its weight.

Mr. Hall says the crops in the valley along the railroad there are in fine shape, and that one of the biggest corn crops ever raised in that section is assured.

ARCHBISHOP JOHN LANCASTER SPALDING

ARCHBISHOP JOHN L. SPALDING

Archbishop Spalding was born at Lebanon, Ky., June 2, 1840. Nineteen years later he received his A. B. degree at St. Mary's college (Maryland) and during the next fifteen years studied extensively abroad. He spent much time at the University of Louvain, Belgium.

In 1865 he was ordained to the priesthood, becoming secretary to the bishop of Louisville. Six years later he was made chancellor of the diocese there, and the following year was sent to New York, where he spent seven years.

On May 1, 1877, he was consecrated bishop of Peoria, where he served continually until his resignation in 1908 because of his ill health.

Archbishop Spalding is probably best remembered by the general public for his work in the settlement of the great anthracite coal strike in 1902. He was a member of the commission appointed by President Roosevelt to bring peace in the mines and so successful were his individual efforts that he was universally admired and respected long after by the miners and operators alike.

Archbishop Spalding's last and highest church honor came in 1909 when he was created titular archbishop of Scythopolis.

He died at his home on Friday, August 25, 1916.

He saved the police here considerable trouble by driving up immediately in front of the police station and the minions of the law, who were looking out for the car, nabbed him and thrust him immediately into duress via. The requisition for his return was granted this morning, and he is now on his way back to face the charge.

SHOOTS MAN WHO DIDN'T KEEP WORD

John Carter Sends Charge of Shot at Man Who Went With Daughter.

FAILED TO GO TO CHURCH

Grand Island, Neb., Aug. 28.—(Special Telegram.)—Enraged because he had ascertained that he had been deceived by the young man calling for his daughter and by the latter, in that they went to Schrimmer's Lake, a riverside resort, instead of to church, as promised, John Carter, is under arrest today on the charge of shooting with intent to do great bodily harm, and Frank Housh, a taxi driver, is in the hospital with a badly bruised head and many scattering shot in his body.

Roush conveyed two young men to the Carter home, who asked Miss Carter to go to church with them. Permission was given to go to church provided a certain other young woman accompanied them. The father inquired at the churches. They were not present. Late in the evening the party returned, as the father learned, from Schimmer's Lake, and he assaulted the driver of the taxi with the butt end of the gun and as he fled from his machine, shot at the retreating figure, the worst of the charge landing in the heel.

Carter is out under a $500 bond.

Little Girl Survives Stroke of Lightning

Sioux Falls, S. D., Aug. 28.—(Special.)—To be struck by lightning and live was the unusual experience of the 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Larkin, living near Wagner. The little girl was pumping water at a windmill, when a bolt of lightning descended and struck her on the shoulder, went down to her waist and then passed around her body twice, after which it went down one of her limbs to the ground. Her skin was burned wherever the lightning passed. When picked up the little girl was supposed to be dead, being unconscious, but after an hour's work over her she revived and now apparently is none the worse for her experience.

Prisoner Escapes from the Fort Dodge Jail

Fort Dodge, Ia., Aug. 28.—(Special.)—Henry Jackson might have been legally out of jail after Tuesday, but he took his leave Saturday afternoon after sawing a bar in his cell window. If caught he probably will have to spend a sentence of a year in jail.

Jackson was arrested for alleged shooting of Patrolman Lou Fisher early in May. Although a diligent search for evidence to support conclusions has been made it was very probable that the grand jury would not have returned a true bill against him.

Jackson is about five feet, seven inches tall, dark complexioned, light-brown hair, and weighs about 130 pounds. Where he got his file with which he sawed his way out has not been learned.

Council Rushes Through Business to See Parade

City commissioners are but boys grown up, after all. The sound of a caliope moving along Sixteenth street was too much for the city dads when assembled in committee of the whole. They rushed the meeting through and deferred most of the business until Tuesday morning, that they might go down town to see the circus parade.

The mayor said he was going just to take his wife, while others pleaded they had little ones needing their care. The facts were, they all wanted to see the parade.
