MILK DEALERS ARE NOT IN A COMBINE

County Attorney Magney Gives the Results of His Investigations on Prices. ANSWERS THE IMPROVERS

Milk dealers of Greater Omaha have not combined in restraint of trade in increasing the price of milk to its present price of 8-2-3 cents per quart, according to an exhaustive examination just concluded by County Attorney Magney.

In order to violate the law then engaged in the milk business must enter into a combination for the purpose of fixing the price of milk, and preventing its sale at a price lower than that fixed by the combination.

Each individual can legally fix the price of his milk as he sees fit. His customer can buy, or not, as he pleases. The wrong is in a combination which arbitrarily fixes the price of milk and prevents its sale for less.

PICK THE AD WHICH SUITS YOU THE BEST

And Tell Why in Short Story and Take Chance on Winning Some Coin.

R. H. MANLEY TO BE JUDGE

Sharpen your pencil—grind your shears—put on your spectacles and prepare for The Bee's "Best Advertisement" contest Sunday.

Everybody knows when an advertisement appeals to them. You know when an advertisement has "news" for you in it just as you know when any other item in the paper is news to you.

Take your copy of Sunday's Bee, look the advertisements over carefully and select the one that appeals most to you. Cut it out and send it to the Contest Editor of The Bee with 300 words or less, telling as clearly as you can why it is the best for its purpose of any advertisement in that issue.

Creamery Fails to Fall for Old Trick
