DRIVE AUSTRIANS OVER CERNA RIVER

Roumanians Victorious Over Teutons in First Hard Battle Fought.

IT LASTS FOR FIVE DAYS

London, Sept. 3.—In the first hard battle between Roumanians and Austrian troops, the Austrians have been forced to retire across the Cerna river, north of Orsova, near the Iron Gate on the Danube. Vienna announces that the Austrian troops withdrew after five days of heavy fighting.

In eastern Transylvania, the Austrian retirement continues. Hermannstadt has been evacuated. Apparently the Austrians are carrying out the reported plan of shortening the battle line in Transylvania.

London announces another Zeppelin raid over the esat coast of England on Saturday night. Few details have been received. Bombs were dropped on several places.

Note to go to Zaimis.

The entente ministers at Athens, says a belated dispatch from the Greek capital, have drafted a note for presentation to Premier Zaimis. The note probably was handed to the Greek premier on Saturday. The tenor of its contents is not known.

The arrival of an allied fleet off Piraeus, the port of Athens, has been followed by the announcement that the flag of France has been hoisted on four German and three Austrian merchant ships in the harbor. Boarding parties from the entente warships seized the vessels.

No official announcement of political changes has come either from the Greek government or the entente capitals. The revolt reported in Macedonia is now said to have spread over the whole of northern Greece.

Dispatches from Athens say that Premier Zaimis had a lengthy audience with King Constantine Thursday, and afterward announced that Greece maintained her policy of friendly neutrality toward the entente.

Russ Take Position.

The Greek premier, another dispatch says declared that political questions would be cleared up probably before Sunday morning.

Against strong Austrian resistance, Petrograd says the Russians have taken positions forty miles east of Lemberg. Near the Hungarian frontier scveral heights have been captured.

Attacks by the Russians against the Austro-German lines in Volhynia, Galicia, and the Carpathians, were repulsed, Berlin says. Some ground was gained north of Thorow, Galicia, and nearly 1,500 prisoners have been taken by the armies of Prince Leopold and Archduke Charles.

Operations on other fronts show little activity.

Bring Zeppelin Down in England

London, Sept. 3.—One of a squadron of German Zeppelins which raided England tonight with London and the eastern counties apparently as their objective, was brought down in flames, an official announcement says. Many bombs were dropped, but no reports of casualties have been received.

The statement says:

"The attack tonight was made by a larger number of airships than ever previously raided England. The eastern counties of London apparently were their objective. The attack on London was beaten off and one raider was brought down in flames. Many bombs were dropped in widely separated localities, but no reports of casualties or damage have been received."

Dead Body of Hastings Man Is Found at His Home

Hastings, Neb., Sept. 2.—(Special Telegram.)—The dead body of William Lewelling was found late this afternoon at the family home. An investigation showed that he had been dead several days, as the body was in a bad condition. Mr. Lewelling was last seen by Charles Hebert, last Monday morning, and he was enjoying good health. He was a carpenter and was employed by Hebert. Mrs. Lewelling, who is visiting in Clay Center, has been notified. A coroner's inquest will be held Tuesday morning.

HUGHES CHEERED FOR 21 MINUTES

Republican Nominee in Speech at St. Louis Attacks Wilson Policies.

CITES NEW YORK RECORD

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 3.—Charles E. Hughes faced an audience in the Coliseum last night that cheered him twenty-one minutes, and in his talk he referred repeatedly to points made by President Wilson in his acceptance speech. "I protest," Mr. Hughes said, "against the extravagant claim that the anti-trust act was clarified by definition by our opponents. They folded themselves up in a vague phrase and presented that as the solution."

Mr. Hughes said that "from the claims of our opponents with respect to child labor legislation, you would suppose they had discovered children.

"I am for the protection of children," he said. "I was for it before the present administration was heard of."

What Governor Said.

"I want to read you what a governor of a state said to a legislature nine years ago," said the nominee. "He said in 1907, 'I recommend to your careful consideration the ipmortant subject of child labor laws for the protection of children in securing for them their rights through an elementary education and in surrounding them with appropriate safeguards, making an especial appeal to human sentiment and that nothing should be left undone to give them full effect.'

"That, I said in the state of New York nine years ago."

Mr. Hughes referred to child labor legislation, enacted during his term as governor of New York.

"I think I know something of child labor and the importance of protecting it," he said. "The recent bill passed in congress affects a very small number of children in this country. There remains a vast amount of necessary work to be done by our states before child labor shall be prohibited to a degree which will safeguard this important asset. I am for the protection of our children."

Business Man's Rights.

The nominee declared that the business man had a right to know what he could and could not do.

"Here again we are met with extraordinary claims," he said. "I suppose allusion is made to the federal trade commission law. I have no quarrel with the composition of the trade commission law, but I cannot accept the crude statement of suggestion that the anti-trust law should be clarified by definition.

"It is said in the federal trade commission act that unfair methods of competition in commerce are hereby declared unlawful.

"Now, what are unfair methods of competition? Naturally a man in the street would think about fraud. It is not necessary to establish a trade commission to deal with fraud. Fraud has been recognized by the common law since its institution.

Not Thinking of Fraud.

"No, they are not thinking of fraud. Fair competition had a different meaning than the fraud under the law. It is a time-honored phrase. We know what it means. In a very simple way of statement it may be said to have relation to methods by which one man's goods are palmed off as the goods of another man, through deceptive statements in advertising and the like.

"Those things are described in the law as unfair competition. Was this law passed to reach them? Of course not. Talk about clarifying the anti-trust act by definition. Why, there is not a business man in the country who knows what that act means or what he should do or not do under it.

"I complain of the extravagant claims made with respect to the clarification of the law in the alleged interest of business when nothing of the sort has been done and the act expressly states that nothing of the sort was attempted. You cannot mislead the American people by claims of that description."

Not Made Good.

Mr. Hughes assailed the administration's Mexican policy on the ground that the profession in dealing with smaller nations in the same manner as with larger nations, "is a profession belied by practice.

"It has not been made good; it ought to be made good," he said.

"We said to Huerta, not simply that he would not be recognized, but that he should not even be a candidate at a Mexican election. Is that the way we deal with a great powerful state? Do we dictate who shall be candidates of great and powerful states? What is the use of talking about treating small and weak states in the way in which we treat great states when we depart from principle and get ourselves involved in serious difficulties by the departure when we attempted to control Mexican policies instead of adopting the straight course of protecting the lives and property of American citizens."

Mr. Hughes' address in the Coliseum was the third he had delivered today. The first was at a non-partisan luncheon gathering of business men.

A. E. Thomas Critically Ill at Home of Daughter

A. E. Thomas, who has been a resident of Omaha for sixty years, and who was one of the first conductors on the Union Pacific railroad, is critically ill at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. C. Haynes, 4508 North Twenty-fourth street. He is 81 years of age.

Had Bilious Attacks.

"My son nineteen years of age suffered frequently from bilious attacks. My husband brought home a bottle of Chamberlain's Tablets and began giving them to him. They helped him right away. He began to eat heartily and picked up right along," writes Mrs. Thomas Campbell, Kirkville, N. Y. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

Text of Adamson Bill as It Goes to Wilson to Be Signed

Washington, Sept. 3.—The text of the eight-hour Adamson bill as it was sent to the president for his signature follows:

Be it enacted by the senate and house of representatives of the United States of America, in congress assembled, that beginning January 1, 1917, eight hours shall, in contracts for labor and service, be deemed a day's work and the measure or standard of a day's work for the purpose of reckoning the compensation for services of all employes who are now or may hereafter be employed by any common carriers by railroad, except railroads independently owned and operated not exceeding 100 miles in length, electric street railroads and electric interurban railroads, which is subject to the provisions of the act of February 4, 1887, entitled "an act to regulate commerce," as amended, and who are now or may hereafter be actually engaged in any capacity in the operation of trains used for the transportation of persons or property on railroads, except railroads independently owned and not exceeding 100 miles in length, electric street railroads and electric interurban railroads, from any state or territory of the United States or the District of Columbia to any other state or territory of the United States or the District of Colubbia, or from one place in a territory to another place in the same territory, or from any place in the United States to an adjacent foreign country, or from any place in the United States through a foreign country to any other place in the United States. Provided that the above exceptions shall not apply to railroads, though less than 100 miles in length, whose principal business is leasing or furnishing terminal or transfer facilities to other railroads or are themselves engaged in transfers of freight between railroads or between railroads and industrial plants.

Section 2: That the president shall appoint a commission of three which shall observe the operation and effects of the institution of the eight-hour standard work day as above defined, and the facts and conditions affecting the relations between such common carriers and employes during a period of not less than six months nor more than nine months, in the discretion of the commission, and within thirty days thereafter such commission shall report its findings to the president and congress; that each member of the commission created under the provision of this act shall receive such compensation as may be fixed by the president, that sum of $25,000, or so much thereof as may be necessary be and hereby is appropriated out of any money in the United States treasury, not otherwise appropriated for the necessary and proper expenses incurred in connection with the work of such commission, including salaries, per diem, traveling expenses of members and employes and rent, furniture, office fixtures and supplies, books, salaries and other necessary expenses, the same to be approved by the chairman of said commission and audited by the proper accounting officers of the treasury.

Section 3: That pending the report of the commission herein provided for and for a period of thirty days thereafter, the compensation of railway employes subject to this act for a standard eight-hour workday, shall not be reduced below the present standard day's wage, and for all necessary time in excess of eight hours, such employes shall be paid at a rate not less than the pro rata for such standard eight-hour workday.

Section 4: That any person violating any provision of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not less than $100.

HAPPENINGS IN THE MAGIC CITY

Heavy Annual Run of Range Cattle Expected After Labor Day.

ANOTHER CONCERT TODAY

The biggest day of the annual run of western range cattle will be delayed several days this year, due to the strike scare, according to Traffic Manager A. F. Stryker of the Live Stock exchange of the local yards. Labor day has previously held records for the greatest number of cattle to be shipped from the west during the annual range run period.

"When the railroads placed an embargo on shipments of live stock to the markets of the country, they caused shippers to delay their deliveries indefinitely," Mr. Stryker said yesterday. "We have every reason to believe that the cattle run this Labor day, usually the heaviest of the year, and for the rest of the week will be comparatively light. I expect these delayed shipments to arrive in force before the end of next week."

Hing Lee Under Arrest.

While between fifty and sixty people were eating and drinking at the chop suey house of Hing Lee, Twenty-fifth and N streets, Friday evening, detectives from the local station, acting under orders of Captain of Police Briggs, rushed the doors. There was utmost confusion and in the mixup half the crowd escaped, jumping from the windows to the roof of the next building, or through the elevator.

The majority were taken to the police station and booked as inmates of a disorderly house. There were six girls in the arrested group. The inmates were discharged Saturday morning in police court by Judge Reed. Four failed to show up and forfeited bonds. The case against Lee, as keeper, was continued until next week.

Police say that liquor is being constantly sold after hours and large numbers of people patronize the place.

Final Concerts Announced.

Last municipal concerts to be given this summer in South Side parks are scheduled for dates during the coming week. Dan Desadunes' colored band will hold a crowd together at Mandan park this afternoon.

Sunday afternoon, September 10, is the last date for a concert at Mandan. On Wednesday evening, September 13, a banner concert of the entire year will be held at Highland park at Twenty-fifth and C streets.

South Side Park Superintendent John F. Schultz announced yesterday that he would have men working during the entire winter at all of the parks.

Health Representative Henry Schmeling made the rounds of the West Side yesterday, looking to see whether clean-up orders had been obeyed. Residents are complying very well with the request of the city, says the health man.
