KING AK'S MINIONS "CLOSE" AT THE DEN

Final Initiatory Ceremonies Are Held at Den With Much Jest and Jollity.

SOMETHING NEW PUT OVER

The cavalry horses galloped in, tails first, Delmonico dropped his spoon, the fire hose spurted anything from gasoline to a shower of navy beans, yea, all these things at Ak-Sar-Ben Den Monday, for it was the closing night.

Not one of the working crew could be trusted, no, not one. For no sooner would a gang of huskies pull off a stunt on the candidates and turn to chuckle over their success than a neighbor gang of the same stripe would turn the battery of ridicule upon them in some fashion or other.

Some New Turns. Frank Latenser concocted new versions of his famous lyrical appeal for greasy pork chops.

Frank Latenser concocted new versions of his famous lyrical appeal for greasy pork chops. Billy Lawrence injected a new stanza into his eulogy of the prowess of himself (Coronado), and Jack Alvord as King Tartarax was louder than ever in his disparagement of gold fish as a steady diet for a gentleman king of the prehistoric prairie.

Yet with all this there was a strain of sadness in the thought that the season of shows and initiations is again brought to a close. Throughout the evening the orchestra occasionally struck up one of the old familiar airs to which the crew has sung favorite lines last year, or in previous years, and as if just for old time's sake, the 1,200 men in the audience crooned the words gently with a rollicking wag of the head.

Making History. Thus the famous gold fish, the romantic Coronado, the historic Peter Sarpy, the jovial Delmonico, the fair Crema, the wise seer, and the unspeakable goose passed into history, and even the eye of the old search light on the roof seemed dimmed by a tear.

Something like 11,000 strangers, that is men not living in Omaha or suburbs, have enjoyed the show this year.

Prof. W. H. Clemmons, president of the Fremont Normal college, was the only visitor who spoke last night. He spoke of the fact that the territory now known as Nebraska was 113 years ago sold to the United States by Napoleon for a few mills per acre, as a part of the great Louisiana territory.

W. F. Baxter and L. V. Nicholas were the Omaha men who talked. They spoke "briefly and sweetly" of Nebraska and Omaha, maintained stoutly that Omaha is a good place to live, and as there was no one to dispute them, they got away with the statement.

Regents Confer With Architect on State Hospital

The campus of the state hospital and college of medicine of the University of Nebraska, Forty-second and Dewey avenue is soon to be graded down, and walks and driveways laid in accordance with an architectural plan made by Architect John Latenser.

The board inspected the state hospital as far as the construction has gone, and all the members expressed themselves as highly pleased with it. All members of the board and Chancellor Samuel Avery were present. They met with the architect and others for luncheon at the Omaha club at noon.

Lansing Speaks Upon British Trade Spying

Washington, Sept. 12.—A declaration by Secretary Lansing today that he considered information secured by censors from the mails should be used only for military purposes was believed to forecast injection of that issue into the negotiations with Great Britain over mail seizures.

While no inquiry has been sent regarding the statement in parliament of David Lloyd George, the British war minister, that information gleaned by the censors properly could be put to "any public or national use," Mr. Lansing said he had read the war secretary's speech and that the matter might become a subject of diplomatic negotiations.

Word "Omaha" Sounds as Magic To Tender-Yearred French Orphans

Little Tots Write and Send Photos to Their Godmothers in Omaha.

Far off on the Mediterranean, in the little French town of Villefranche, the word "Omaha" falls as sweetest music on the ears of tender-yearred children orphaned by the war. In all, thirty-two little boys and girls have been "adopted" by Omahans, men—women and children as the godparents—through the good offices of the local Franco-Belgian Relief society.

Elizabeth and Virginia Barker, 15 and 11-year-old daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barker, are among the youthful godparents. Miss Elizabeth has just received this letter from Louis Luciano, aged 7. "Dear Mademoiselle Elizabeth: Thank you so much for your good friendship. My poor papa died of sickness taken in the war. I am not very learned yet, but I love you.

Letters and photographs are being received almost every day from the French orphans. Dr. and Mrs. C. A. Hull, Mrs. Walter Page and Mrs. E. P. Peck have heard directly from their godchildren, while Madame A. M. Borglum, the most zealous worker in the cause, has heard from the three children adopted by her family as well as the two which the Franco-Belgian society undertook to care for.

Initial work for this winter's campaign for relief will be planned at an informal tea Wednesday afternoon, to which Mrs. John A. McShane has invited ten women. Each of the tea will in turn interest another group of ten women and in this manner it is hoped to raise funds to continue the work.

The accompanying cut is from a photograph sent to Mrs. Walter Page by her godchild, Andria Gioday, who inscribed on the back of the photograph, "To my dear benefactor."

Tabloids of Politics

Little Items About the Progress of the Campaign.

"I have traveled out in the state a good deal lately," said Robert C. Drucesedow, "and I hear much political gossip. I want to tell you that from what I can gather I believe Hitchcock and Neville are not in it at all this fall. I hear any amount of the democrats say they will not vote for these two."

In his personally conducted hunt for votes for re-election Senator Hitchcock is being escorted in his auto by two faithful salaried employees of his newspaper, Vic Smith of the local staff, who will write up the meetings in fancy, highly-colored language, and Earl Gaddis, his state house correspondent, who is to mix around the edges and "tuffy" sore constituents.

A. L. Sutton, republican gubernatorial candidate, has gone on an auto tour of two weeks, speaking at the Hall county fair at Grand Island and proceeding to Franklin, Gering, Scottsbluff, Alliance, Sidney, Ogallala, North Platte, Lexington and Kearney. On his return he will speak in Wayne, Pierce, Dixon, Knox and Boyd counties.

"Now that the Douglas county republican headquarters have been opened at 477-479-480 Brandeis Theater building, we expect to press the campaign with a vengeance," said Secretary Clyde C. Sundblad. "Attorney Guy Kiddoo of the South Side has been selected assistant secretary and will be in charge of the headquarters."

The executive committee of the county republican organization will meet with the candidates Wednesday night, when the general plan of the campaign will be outlined. This evening the committee will meet State Chairman E. D. Beach to arrange details of co-operation between state and county tickets.

Senator Thomas of Colorado is to speak in Omaha some time between September 20 and 30 in the interest of the democratic campaign. State Chairman L. F. Langhorst for Nebraska was in Omaha a few hours Monday looking after some political fences and arrangements for Senator Thomas.

After six years of suffering

Woman Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Columbus, Ohio.—"I had almost given up. I had been sick for six years with female troubles and nervousness. I had a pain in my right side and could not eat anything without hurting my stomach. I could not drink cold water at all nor eat any kind of raw fruit, nor fresh meat nor chicken. From 178 pounds I went to 118 and would get so weak at times that I fell over. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and ten days later I could eat and it did not hurt my stomach. I have taken the medicine ever since and I feel like a new woman. I now weigh 127 pounds so you can see what it has done for me already. My husband says he knows your medicine has saved my life."

Mrs. J. S. BARLOW, 1624 South 4th St., Columbus, Ohio.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound contains just the virtues of roots and herbs needed to restore health and strength to the weakened organs of the body. That is why Mrs. Barlow, a chronic invalid, recovered so completely. It pays for women suffering from any female ailments to insist upon having Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

for a place in the legislature. He stood on a beef box Monday noon in front of the packing houses and frankly confessed to the bare-armed laborers that he wants their vote.

"The twelve apostles of the corporations," the "beef trust" and the "tools of the corporations" fairly writhed under Jerry's verbal abuse.

Omaha Motor Show Will Be Held Last Week in February

The annual Omaha automobile show will be held February 26 to March 3, inclusive in 1917.

This decision was made at a meeting of the Omaha Auto Show association held yesterday. It was the first meeting of the association since May. Eight new dealers applied for membership in the association.

The dates selected for the show will place Omaha right in line with Chicago, Minneapolis and Kansas City, so that factories will send their exhibits from one show to another.

Fifteen Years for the Assault of a Girl

Fifteen years in the state penitentiary at hard labor was the sentence meted out to Robert Williams, colored, when he pleaded guilty to assaulting a 16-year-old white girl in the criminal court. "You will have plenty of time to make up your mind that the best thing for you to do is to mind your own business and refrain from violating the laws of society and the community," said Judge Sears in passing sentence.

Skin trouble costs many a man his job

No matter how efficient a man may be, if he has an ugly skin-eruption, there are positions in which he cannot be tolerated. He may know that it is not in the least contagious, but other people are afraid, they avoid him, and he must make way for a man with a clear, healthy skin. Why run this risk, when

HUGHES PLEASED WITH MAINE VOTE

Republican Nominee Expresses Satisfaction Hearing News From Pine Tree State.

HE SPEAKS AT SYRACUSE

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Charles E. Hughes came back to his home state today to campaign. He addressed two audiences here, one at the state fair grounds, the other at a dinner tonight given in his honor by the Syracuse allied clubs. At the dinner he outlined his views on American enterprise.

"I have no sympathy," he said, "with those who look askance upon carrying the American name and American investment to foreign lands. We should take pride in every extension of our commerce and the enterprise of our citizens which takes them to other lands. So long as they peaceably conduct their honest business, it is the duty of the United States to protect their lives and property and American rights under international law.

Way for Progress. "There is no other way for American progress. It is perfectly idle to suppose that we can have an enduring peace and prosperity if we do not have an intense, patriotic sentiment dominant throughout our land, demanding that the rights of our citizens shall be respected."

Mr. Hughes reiterated his declaration that he had done his part toward correcting abuses in the past. "And I should do it again," he declared, "as zealously and vigorously as I know how if confronted with any abuse that needs correction."

Thrill of Obligation. "We have got to have a splendid stimulus in American patriotism," he added. "We have got to feel the thrill of national obligation, we have got to revive the old spirit that gave us our country and saved our country; we have got to take pride in American achievement throughout the world; we have got to foster every American industry that needs it; we have got to be so bound up in our patriotic desire for success that it is the one great idea above all others if we are to achieve real success for the United States in the twentieth century.

Mr. Hughes received the returns from the Maine election while at the dinner table and evinced his satisfaction. He left later for Plattsburgh to make the last address of his present campaign trip tomorrow.

William D. Wilcox, republican national chairman, joined the nominee here tonight.

Employing Printers Leave for Typothetae

Four Omaha employing printers left last night for Atlantic City to attend the annual convention of the United Typothetae of America, which will convene at the eastern resort this week. They were Joe Redfield of Klops & Bartlett company, Samuel Rees, jr., of the Rees Printing company, I. A. Medlar of the Medlar Printing company, and J. W. Barnhart of Barnhart-Waters company.
