SWINE SHOW HERE

WILL MARK EPOCH. Entries From Canadian Line to Gulf and Coast to Coast Are Booked. NINE BREEDS IN CLASSIC. When the doors of the big horse barn on the South Side are thrown open on the National Swine Show...

Without exception every hog-raising community from coast-to-coast and from the Canadian line to the Gulf will be represented at the Omaha classic. From the present outlook, in the neighborhood of 3,000 hogs—every hog the cream of its particular herd—will be shown. Breeders have agreed that this great national event will be no place for mediocre swine; as a result, and in most cases, hogsman have picked out one, two and sometimes three animals for show purposes.

So great has been the interest in the Omaha show that a flood of applications for pens has necessitated the superintendent of exhibits, E. Z. Russell, associate editor of the Twentieth Century Farmer, to arrange for 200 additional pens other than those in the huge horse barns. In one day—Thursday—Mr. Russell received entries from breeders in the following states: Nebraska, Iowa, Illinois, Ohio, Missouri, Indiana, Wisconsin, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, Minnesota and Washington.

Every breed of hogs in the United States, with the exception of two which are about extinct, is to be represented. As visitors to the show will see the cream of the following breeds: Poland-Chinas, Duroc-Jerseys, Hampshires, Chester Whites, Berkshires, Spotted Poland Chinas, Mulefoots, Tamworths and Yorkshires. There are a few, a very few, herds of Essex stock in the extreme east. There is a doubt if any breeder 'round these parts can reveal the location of any herds of Victorias. These two breeds, what there are left of them, complete the United States' hogdom.

College Men Here Swing to Hughes in Large Numbers. The Hughes National College League, 511 Fifth Avenue, New York, is receiving enrollments by the tens of thousands in response to the quarter of a million letters sent to the alumni of all the colleges in the United States. The work of organizing branches in all states and most of the important cities is being actively carried on under the direction of Langdon P. Marvin, an overseer of Harvard university, and Samuel J. Reid, Jr., secretary of the Princeton Club of New York.

Nebraska Hotel Men Wind Up Their Convention Here. Prohibition and its effect on the earnings of a hotel in a large city was the topic on which F. E. Zonne of Minneapolis chose to address the morning session of the convention of the Nebraska Hotel association at the Hotel Fontenelle. Mr. Zonne showed where the by-product of the major part of the revenue of many hotels and in some instances alone netted the only profits for a hotel. Prohibition would severely hurt many hotel men, he said.
