

MIDWEST DOCTORS FORM GOLF LEAGUE

First Annual Tournament Is Held Over Links of the Happy Hollow Club.

DR. OVERGAARD PRESIDENT

What will be known as the Mid-West Physicians' Golf association was organized at the Happy Hollow club during the convention of the medical men in Omaha.

The medicos had a field day at Happy Hollow and it proved such a successful event that the Mid-West association was formed and annual competitions will be held.

Dr. A. P. Overgaard was elected president and Dr. C. O. Rich, secretary and treasurer.

E. T. Manning is the first champion of the association, winning the honor from a field of forty. He shot the Happy Hollow course in 91. J. E. Pulver with a 95 was second and Dr. Shuman of Sioux City third with a 96. Pulver had the best net score, a 79, made with the assistance of a handicap of sixteen.

A nine-hole choice event was won by Dr. J. Woodward of Lincoln, who made a 33 for his best nine holes. A blind bogey contest resulted in a tie between Dr. C. O. Rich and Dr. C. H. Waters with bogey scores. Bogey was 87. On the draw Dr. Rich proved the lucky one.

Teams chosen by Dr. Manning of Omaha and Dr. Shuman of Sioux City played under the Nassau system for the dinners. Manning's team won by seven points. Scores were as follows: Shuman, S. C. 10; Manning, Omaha, 9; Lowry, Ft. Dodge, 10; Jarvis, Oklahoma, 11; Rich, Omaha, 11; Hollister, Omaha, 12; Schalek, Omaha, 10; Salter, Norfolk, 10; Sanders, Ft. "Kewpie" is Stumped By Eager Couple What's in a name—a name like this, "John B. Wawrzykiewicz"? When the owner of this cognomen appeared before "Kewpie" Stubben-dorf in county court and asked for a marriage license he stumped the clerk. "Write it out for me," asked Studden-dorf. Then he had to do the writing stunt again when he gave the name of the prospective bride, Nellie D. Leczkowski. Wawrzykiewicz is a driver at Fire station No. 21 on the South Side. With him when he applied for the license was Frank Zurck, who will become the husband of the sister, Annie W. Wawrzykiewicz. The double ceremony will be performed by the Rev. Father Gluba. While the father of Wawrzykiewicz was employed as a watchman at the South Side packing houses, associates tired in their efforts to pronounce his name. They dubbed him "Schultz," and the name has been handed down to the son.

"JONES AND SMITH" GET HIS NINE BONES

Ancient Game of Matching Separates Falls City Youth From Cherished Bucks.

TELLS HIS DOLEFUL STORY

When Carl High backed the old mare into the stable and went to the farm house to wash up before hopping the 7:15 local out of Falls City for Omaha for a joyous week-end, the very last thing the boys told him was to keep his $9 out of sight and not let anybody in Omaha know he had that much money.

"They've got slickers there as will do ye," one of the other hired hands told him.

"They'll not do me, because I'm too darn sly," boasted Carl.

Tells His Doleful Story. This much and more he told a reporter who found him disconsolate early last evening.

The Falls City boy had been purged of the $9 before he had been in Omaha six hours.

"You don't happen to know a feller named Smith and a feller named Jones here in Omaha, do you?" he asked.

"Nope. I don't think there's any families by them names here in Omaha."

"I thought not," savagely exclaimed the youth, clenching his fists. "They're slickers, that's what they are. I'll bet I never see my $9 an' more."

"It was this way," began the victim. "I was a-standing doan there by the town hall lookin' at the cars when a feller comes up and asks me for a match. I gave him one and he says 'thanks,' and he feels so good about meetin' an accommodatin' person in a city—he bein' from Beatrice only a week ago—that he gives me a smoke, too. His name was Smith, he says. Then we got to walkin' around together and pretty soon a feller named Jones came up and Smith introduced me to him and we walked out here to a park. When Jones was to get a drink of water, Smith told me he had lots of money, and we could get it matchin' dollars, 'odd map lose,' if I'd lay down heads every other time."

Gets Mixed Up. "Yes, yes, go on."

"Well, we matched a couple of times, but I got mixed up. That made Smith kind of mad, but he didn't want to let on in front of Jones so he says to me, 'How much money have you got?'"

"I wasn't going to tell him about all my money so I said I had only $8."

"Lemme see it," he says.

"I showed it to him an' he took it an' put it in his pocket, sayin' he'd be back in a minute with a new game because matchin' coins was too slow."

"Me an' Jones waited for a while, but he didn't show up, an' then we got to matchin' money an' I lost my other dollar, an' Jones said he'd meet me at the postoffice. I ain't seen neither one of 'em since an' I bet they never show up, either. I bet them wasn't their names, either," he concluded indignantly.

May Need Another Deputy To Handle Inquest Cases

In case the supreme court of Nebraska upholds the validity of the law passed by the last legislature placing the duty of the coroners of the county attorneys, it is planned to ask lawmakers to amend the law so as to eliminate the expense of holding inquests. The holding of these investigations should be left to the judgment of the county attorney," said Deputy Attorney Abbott yesterday in discussing the outcome of the suit filed against Election Commissioner Moorhead by Coroner Crosby of Douglas county demanding that his name be placed on the ballot at the fall election. Attorney Abbott appeared before the supreme court in defense of the law. The decision of the court will be handed down during the coming week.

"This business of holding inquests when they are not required is simply another means of grabbing fees. In case the duties of the office devolve upon the county attorney another deputy will be required, but plans can be made to lessen the burden of costs upon the taxpayers by elimination of unnecessary moves now being taken by coroners," concluded Mr. Abbott.

Two Omaha girls were hurt, one of them seriously, Thursday night about 10 o'clock, when an automobile in which they were riding with A. L. Scott, head of the Commercial Duplicating company, turned over twice in the road a mile this side of Millard.

Miss Elsie Nellor, 20, 2107 Locust street, who was driving, sustained a deep gash in her right leg which bared the bone and got painful bruises about the head and body. Miss Catherine Melchers, 20, 1016 South Twenty-fifth street, escaped with only slight hurts on her shoulders and arms. It is feared that Mr. Scott received internal injuries in addition to painful flesh lacerations.

Jelinek Loses Case Against Street Railway Company

After brief argument of claims of Anton Jelinek against the Omaha Street Railway company for $20,000 alleged damages, District Judge Estelle yesterday took the case from the jury and ordered a verdict for the defendant. The judge asserted there was no cause of action.

Jelinek's case has been buffeted about the courts for five years. He originally secured a verdict for $500 but the judgment was reversed by the supreme court and the case ordered back for new trial. He complains that he sustained serious injuries when he was struck by a street car at Twenty-second and Cuming streets January 24, 1911.

TO YOU WHO ARE SICK

There are few diseases which are not benefited or entirely relieved through Chiropactic adjustments. Hundreds of Omaha people have visited my offices and received permanent relief for the so-called "Incurable Diseases," such as brain, nerve, spine troubles, Rheumatism, etc. A fair trial will convince even the skeptic that the Chiropactic theory and practice are absolutely correct. I do not use electricity, X-rays, drugs or anything else to treat the symptoms, but depend upon the adjusting the wrong, which produces the ailments. Consultation costs nothing. Adjustments $1.00, or 12 for $10.00.
