

WILSON SPEAKS IN SUPPORT OF POLICY

President, in a Nonpartisan Speech, Lauds Acts of Administration.

HE RECEIVES AN OVATION

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 25.—President Wilson, speaking before the Grain Dealers' convention here today, upheld the federal reserve act and the shipping bill, and declared that if its business is properly conducted America has an unexcelled future before it.

President Wilson arrived here at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon and was driven immediately to the Lyric theater. The president's progress through the streets was marked by a continuous ovation. Four automobiles carried his immediate party. There were no bands, because of Mr. Wilson's insistence that the occasion be kept nonpartisan.

Mr. Wilson declared at the outset that a political campaign seriously interfered with the consideration of public questions. He said he desired his audience to forget for the time being that a campaign was on.

"What I have come to say," he said, "I want to say in an atmosphere of calmness."

"I want to speak to you of the business of the world from the standpoint of America."

He said that the export of grain from the United States was decreasing in ratio, adding that the agricultural acreage of the United States should produce at least twice as much grain as at present.

"I want to see America seek not to exclude, but to excel," said the president in discussing American trade. He spoke in support of the tariff commission created by the last congress.

The president said he did not fear to say that previously tariff laws had been founded on theories. He did not fear the investigation of the facts by the tariff commission.

"It will look for the facts, no matter whom it hurts," he said.

"We have swung out into a new business era in America," continued the president. "Now our business has extended to the whole world. Our trade has burst its jacket. We have realized that American business men did not have enough ships to carry their goods."

The president, speaking slowly, turned to a discussion of the banking system of the United States. "Only in very recent years," he said, "have we even studied the question. Not until the present federal reserve act was passed did American bankers have proper facilities for carrying on foreign business."

"Not only when this war is over, but now America must take its stand in American business on a scale it has never known before."

"A few years ago American business men took up their morning papers with a degree of nervousness to see what the government was doing to them," he continued. "Now they have no nervousness. There is no contest between proper business and the government."

"We are creating instrumentalities through which a thorough investigation can be made of every American business," the president declared.

He was interrupted frequently by hand clapping. "But business must be founded on truth," he said. "We must have co-operation between all." As a step in this direction he advocated a law to all American exporters to utilize common selling agencies abroad.

"I despise monopoly and have an enthusiasm for co-operation," he declared.

The trend of laws in the United States, according to the president, will be to remove "all ingenious obstructions" from the activities of the people of the nation.

Speaking of the need of more ships for America he asserted that "we cannot lose any time in getting the means of delivering our goods to foreign markets." He explained the shipping bill by saying that under it the government will seek to build up trade routes, but will step aside when private capital wants to keep up the business.

"The real wealth of foreign relationship," he said, "is the wealth of friendship and common understanding."

"There is only one thing I have ever been ashamed of in America, and that is its timidity in facing foreign competition. I know that American business men have enough brains to compete with anybody."

The president spoke emphatically and slapped his right fist on the palm of his left hand with a resounding smack.

"My interest in American affairs," he said, "is to do my utmost in releasing the intelligence of America for the service of mankind."

At he concluded the band played the Star Spangled Banner, and the entire audience stood and cheered again and again.

RUNAWAY TROLLEY CAR LEAPS RAILS, SIX PERSONS HURT

Junk. All the persons inside were thrown out. Only the motorman, Kofka, was seriously hurt. The other ones injured were merely cut and bruised.

Wires attached to the wrecked telephone pole were torn down and traffic was made extremely dangerous.

Miller, as the car crossed Seventeenth street, called to his fellow passengers, "Hold tight, boys, you know what happens when we hit Sixteenth. Hang on!" The next moment the car, which was hurtled across the Sixteenth street tracks.

Wanted to Jump. Kofka during the last few blocks of the car's ride clung to the steps with the intention of jumping, but was persuaded just before the final crash by Kent to come back to the platform.

An enormous crowd congregated at Sixteenth and Cumming streets during the morning watching workmen clear away the debris.

Kent said, "The first time that I became fully aware of our danger was just before the car reached Thirty-third street. Kofka came to the rear platform and told me. He was preparing to jump to the pavement, but I kept him from doing so. Shortly afterward, I think the car was going fully eighty miles an hour. We had a flat wheel that made an intermittent sound when we were traveling at a normal rate of speed, but it was purring when we hit Twenty-fourth street, and the lights went out. I knew the finale would occur when we reached Sixteenth, and called to the passengers. All clung to some portion of the car like death. I remember one man sitting down on the floor bracing his feet and back against the seats."

Braces for Crash. "Oh, God, Oh, God," he kept saying. I was trying to pray when we struck the Sixteenth street turn, and a second later a telephone pole. A thousand lights of as many different colors seemed to strike my eyes, then a black curtain shut them out, and—here I am."

All of the passengers assert that their thoughts were so confused when they realized their danger, that aside from clinging to the nearest object and praying for the best, they had no connected ideas.

Mrs. Lillie Stockman, mother of Claude, says she had a presentiment during the evening that her son was in danger and prayed that no ill might befall him.

Mrs. E. F. Dugher had a similar mental flash about her son, but dismissed the idea as nonsense and retired.

Matches Hidden in Wheat Bundle Set Fire to Strawstack

Friend, Neb., Sept. 25.—(Special.)—While threshing wheat out at Fred Shunk's farm, some six miles southwest, Saturday, the grain stacks were fired by fire from the engine and three stacks and a part of another one was burned. The machine was hauled out of the way. Mr. Shunk loses about $400 worth of wheat.

While another crew was working at the farm of M. J. Murphy, one mile east of Friend, the straw stack was fired and burned. An investigation showed that the bundles in the stack were literally loaded with matches. In one bundle fifty-one matches were found. The wind being favorable, the machine and stacks were saved. An investigation showed handfuls of the heads of matches in the wheat which came from the machine. The machine had a pneumatic stacker and blew the fire out into the straw stack.

BRITISH APOLOGIZE TO UNITED STATES

Expressions of Regret Made by England for the Seizure of American-Owned Goods.

WON'T BE DONE ANY MORE

Washington, Sept. 25.—Informal expressions of regret have been made by Great Britain to the State department for seizure at Hong Kong of American-owned goods consigned to Manila on board the steamers Chinese Prince Kaafue and Aymeric. It was learned today that in response to a vigorous protest by the United States assurances have been given that there will be no more such seizures.

The British action first was explained on the ground that the goods were consigned to blacklisted firms. Later it was claimed that several of the firms were ringleaders in a junta alleged to be seeking to cause a rebellion in India.

The seizure of packages from the Chinese Prince caused very bitter feeling in Manila and a maximum fine was levied on it when it entered port with its manifest short. The fine was later reduced to $25,000 and finally rebated when the missing goods arrived on another ship.

KING OF QUIVERA ENTERS CITY TODAY

fall. In the halcyon days o old all circuses and street fairs and carnal companies carried a thriller, some foolhardy man or woman who gambled with short odds against fate and laughed at the undertaker. But after a few years even the most inventive brain failed to figure out thrillers that would thrill—the public had seen so many—and the thriller became a thing of the past.

But this year Mr. Wortham uncovered a daring autoist with a new stunt. He somersaults in the air, not just half a turn as they used to do, but a full turn in the air, and with nothing but the hard earth below.

"I'll take your breath completely away," is the prediction of those who have seen this merry show in action. But the Wortham chap does not make their only bid for popularity with this thriller. A score of other attractions, not so exciting, perhaps, but as interesting, are included in this jubilee company.

Many Other Attractions. Ak-Sar-Ben will have considerable assistance this year in making September 26 to October 7 an exciting period. Countless other events are scheduled for these ten days.

Today Hon. Charles W. Fairbanks, republican candidate for the vice presidency, will be in Omaha to speak at noon at the Commercial club and this evening at the Auditorium.

September 27 to 30 will be the week of wonderful windows, during which time all of the merchants will present especially decorated and brilliantly beautiful windows for the interesting gaze of Omaha and her visitors.

October 2 to 7 the National Swine show will be held. This alone will bring visitors to Omaha from all parts of the country.

The Douglas county fair will also be held October 2 to 7. The kite-flying contest will be on September 30. And on October 5, the day of the Nebraska semi-centennial historical parade, Woodrow Wilson, president of the United States, will be Omaha's guest.

Large Barn Burned Near McCook by Incendiary

McCook, Neb., Sept. 25.—(Special Telegram.)—The barn on the Perry precinct farm of M. W. Watkins of McCook was destroyed by fire last night entailing a loss of $3,000 with insurance. Fire is thought to have been of incendiary origin. An attempt was made to destroy all the live stock on the farm by secretly driving them into the barn before the fire. The tenant succeeded in driving them all out of the burning building. The barn had been entered a few days before and considerable grain stolen.

SUTTON REPORTS HUGHES IS GAINING

Republican Candidate for Governor Sends Statement to Chairman Beach.

NORTH PLATTE FOR G. O. P.

A growing republican sentiment throughout the western part of Nebraska has been found by Judge A. L. Sutton, who yesterday made a statement of conditions as he found them to State Chairman Beach. The statement follows:

I just returned from a two-weeks' campaign trip out in the state and hasten to you a detailed report of my trip and the situation as I found it, of interest to your committee.

I made part of my trip by automobile and part by train, speaking at Grand Island, Franklin, Dearing, Scottsbluff, Alliance, Sidney, Ogallala, North Platte, Lexington and Kearney. I also visited a large number of small towns, shaking hands with the voters and distributing republican literature.

I take pleasure in advising you there is a growing republican sentiment throughout the western part of Nebraska, and in the last ten days there is a noticeable change from Wilson to Hughes. I am glad to report to you the republicans in western Nebraska are enthusiastic for Hughes and the entire state ticket, and you and your committee will be proud of western Nebraska when the vote is tabulated.

I was surprised and gratified at the large, enthusiastic meeting at North Platte, for the reason that that is the home of the democratic candidate. But the republicans in Lincoln county are wide-awake and enthusiastic, and when the returns come in from Lincoln county the republican candidates will be proud of the Lincoln county vote.

The producers of western Nebraska are especially strong for protection, and I noticed with pleasure that John L. Kennedy will pull a tremendous big vote in western Nebraska, and I have an abiding conviction when the returns come in from western Nebraska, a big surprise will be in store for our free trade United States senator.

I wish to thank you and your committee for the aggressive campaign you are making in Nebraska and hope you will supply the western part of the state with republican literature as soon as possible, as the republican voters of the west are anxious for campaign literature and Hughes' campaign buttons.

New York Six-Cent Loaf Will Be Heavier

New York, Sept. 25.—The largest baking company in this city announced the price of its 5-cent loaf of bread will be advanced next Monday to 6 cents, but that it will be accompanied by an addition to its weight. A smaller loaf than heretofore will be sold at 5 cents.

WORK OF THE LIFE AGENT. What is the work of the life insurance agent, and what does it mean directly to homes and broadly as to society? His direct work is good. There can be no question of this.

Indirectly his work is far reaching. It is because of the premiums paid by the policyholders whom he obtains that the life insurance companies exist; it is by reason of his tireless endeavor that the companies prosper and grow large. Through these companies it may be said that he erects buildings, constructs bridges, helps towns and municipalities in construction work and puts railroads in places where there were but endless dead stretches of mere landscape. The life insurance agent is an important factor in the development of many enterprises.

HUNDRED THOUSAND VOTING ON STRIKE

More New York Unions Are Balloting Today on Question of Suspending Work.

179,500 VOTED ON SUNDAY

New York, Sept. 25.—Labor organizations including about 100,000 workers, meet today to vote on the question of joining in the proposed general strike to take effect here Wednesday morning. Ernest Bohm, secretary of the conference of labor organizations directing the movement, said that unions representing 179,500 workers already had voted to quit work.

A meeting of the leaders will be held this afternoon to hear the reports from the local unions. Among those who vote today are the machinists, metal workers, laundrymen and butchers.

Secretary Bohm asserts that if the general strike becomes effective it will not last more than two days, as he believes it will quickly force the traction companies to arbitrate with their striking employees.

Milk Wagon Drivers Strike. According to Secretary Bohm, the strike among drivers for Borden's Condensed Milk company, which began yesterday and continued to spread today, was due to an attempt by the company to enforce upon the men the "master and servant" form of contract, which is one of the issues in the traction strike. The Borden company's example was being followed by other employers he said and would not be tolerated. The milk drivers strike would be extended to other companies, he declared.

Bohemian Demonstration Is Held at Milligan, Neb.

Milligan, Neb., Sept. 25.—(Special.)—About 10,000 Bohemians assembled in Milligan Sunday to show their interest for securing freedom for their native country, which has been in the grip of the Hapsburgs for centuries. In the forenoon a parade in which about 2,000 marched was held.

In the afternoon F. J. Kutak of Omaha, talked on "The Hopes of the Bohemian Nation," and E. Tuma, editor of the "Daily Polak," spoke on "Personal Liberty in America."

An address by Congressman Charles Sloan followed. The afternoon program was concluded by a speech by K. Pergel of Cresco, Ia., about the hopes and aspirations of the Bohemian nation and the work that is being done by Bohemians in America to secure liberty for their native country.

Charles Smrha, Joseph Jicha, N. Svatos and Dr. V. V. Smrha made up the committee in charge of the demonstration.

About twenty Omahans made the trip to Milligan in automobile.

Peel Off Your Freckles

To remove freckles, blotches or any complexion difficulty, the best thing to do is to remove the skin itself. This is easily and harmlessly done by the application of ordinary mercurized wax. The wax peels off the defective outer skin, a little each day, gradually out of the skin. The new skin is beautifully soft, clear, white and young looking. Just procure an ounce of mercurized wax at any drug store and use like cold cream.—Ad.
