Charles W. Fairbanks Declares it Will Vanish Before the Sun When War Is Over.

WAS PURELY ACCIDENTAL Says it Was Made Possible by a Cataclysm in Political World.

CLAIMED AS TROPHIES

Charles W. Fairbanks, former vice president and present republican candidate for the office, addressed two Omaha audiences yesterday.

He spoke at the Commercial club before an assemblage of business men at noon, and in the evening at 8 o'clock he addressed a mass meeting in the Auditorium.

W. F. Gurley presided over the evening meeting and introduced the speaker. Mr. Fairbanks left with his party at 12:20 o'clock this morning for Colorado, where he will continue his campaigning.

Before the evening meeting at the Auditorium he was the guest of honor at a dinner at the Hotel Rome. It was informal, with no speaking. It was just a way of getting a dozen or more local republicans in close touch with the vice presidential candidate. The guests were State Chairman E. D. Beach, former Senator Joseph Millard, former Senator Norris Brown, Byron G. Burbank, Gould Dietz, R. B. Howell, W. F. Gurley, Victor Rosewater, Frank S. Howell and Harry S. Byrne.

Enthusiasm Shown.

Nearly 2,000 persons had gathered at the Auditorium for some time before Mr. Fairbanks and his party arrived from the hotel where a dozen republicans entertained him at a little dinner. When W. F. Gurley introduced Mr. Fairbanks as the "next vice president of the United States" all in the house rose to their feet and cheered enthusiastically for several minutes.

Frank S. Howell, chairman of the Douglas county republican committee, introduced W. F. Gurley as presiding officer of the evening. Mr. Gurley in his characteristic eloquence made a political speech of his own. He declared he had failed to hear anyone thus far claim the present prosperity due to the democratic administration.

"Suppose," he said, "that the democratic congress had adjourned for good the 1st day of August, 1914, does anyone suppose that we would not have had the same prosperity at this time? This is a war prosperity. The gold that is now crowded in our vaults has been paid for by bullets and shrapnel.

Trade with Europe's Camps. "We are enjoying a large trade, to be sure, but is it a trade with the nations of the world? No, it is a trading with the camps of Europe." He declared there were enough independently thinking voters in the country to elect Hughes and Fairbanks.

Among those on the platform were: W. F. Gurley, Ben Baker, Walter Jar-dine, Frank Shotwell, Victor Rosewater, F. S. Howell, John Lee Webster, R. B. Howell, Roman W. G. Fire, J. M. C. Foster, Charles Elgenter, Dr. Harry A. Foster and a score of others.

The audience was made up almost entirely of voters, there being very few women in the house.

Problems Are Grave.

"We are confronted," said Mr. Fairbanks in his speech at the Auditorium, "with graver problems than have taxed the judgment of the American people since the days of Abraham Lincoln. We have not lost the capacity of self-government; we are as true to the highest and best traditions of America as those who preceded us. I wish to address my observations to men of all political faith, for I have always been a believer that the great heart of the American people is true and loyal to our best traditions of the republic; we do not all look upon public questions from the same angle;

Talks Before Commercial Club, Opens Carnival and Addresses Big Crowd at Auditorium.

"The conflagration in Europe has been brought about by ignorance, neglect or sinister design," said former Vice President Fairbanks in his talk to the Commercial club at noon. "In the years past somebody made a mistake in Europe; we do not know who is to be credited with the responsibility for the greatest strife among mankind in the history of the world. We look upon the bloody spectacle with a sense of horror.

"If we can draw no other lesson from it, we can certainly draw this, and that is that governments are not secure against the possibilities of overthrow, no matter how long they have endured or how secure they are in the opinions of men."

Mr. Fairbanks said he realized that the proprieties of the occasion made it necessary for him to refrain from political utterances at the public affairs luncheon tendered in his honor at the club rooms. "But I trust," he said, "that a word or two of politics in the broadest sense may not offend the most delicate sensibilities.

Our Civic Duty. "One thing that impresses me more and more as the years pass is the importance of the full, faithful and loyal discharge of our civic duty. Too many of our countrymen view with more or less indifference the discharge of their political responsibilities.

"We are engaged in the task of nation building. It is a gigantic undertaking, and challenges our wisest judgment. Our nation is what we make it. It thrives not upon ignorance. It does not attain successful proportions by mere accident; it is wrought out by intelligent service and sacrifice. In the final analysis we get out of our public institutions what we put into them. We cannot enjoy liberty without making our sacrifices full and fair upon the altar of liberty. There is one great fact that we must bear in mind and that is the fabric of our government thus far advanced is not beyond the reach of the peril of change. Change is one of the laws of nature. It adheres in the institutions of men and throughout the physical world about us. History is filled with the stories of the bloody destruction of governments. Europe offers the most graphic illustration of this potential fact at this moment."

Breakfast in Private Car.

Mr. Fairbanks and party arrived at 8 o'clock in their private car. They took breakfast in the car, and were then brought by the local committee to the Hotel Rome, where Mr. Fairbanks was the personal guest of Rome Miller.

The Fairbanks party was met at the train by a local committee of no less than fifty men, including such leading republicans as E. D. Beach, chairman of the republican state committee; F. S. Howell, chairman of the Douglas county committee; Harry S. Byrne, president of the McKinley club; Victor Rosewater, editor of The Bee; W. F. Gurley, Byron G. Burbank, Senator Norris Brown, and others. At the Commercial club luncheon Mr. Fairbanks was introduced by Senator Norris Brown.

A gentleman from Indiana was the first person to purchase a ticket of admission to the celebrated jubilee grounds of King Ak-Sar-Ben yesterday, when the gates of Quivera's frolicking place were thrown open to start Omaha's famous ten-day fall festival.

But those loyal subjects of the great monarch for whom the jubilee grounds have been planned and arranged felt no jealousy because an inhabitant of a hostile state won the distinction of purchasing the first ticket. In fact, they felt rather pleased, rather flattered. For the gentleman from Indiana was the Hon. Charles W. Fairbanks, former vice president of these great United States of America and the distinguished running mate of Charles Evans Hughes.

First Cash Customer.

When Mr. Fairbanks arrived in Omaha he immediately made it known that he intended to be the first cash customer at the jubilee grounds. That honor and glory were to be his and no pressure of speaking engagements or political confessions or anything else could detain him. So when the gates to the jubilee grounds were thrown open the distinguished guest from Indiana, surrounded by a coterie of Ak-Sar-Ben governors, was right on the job to be the first man at the ticket window.

The jubilee grounds are at a new location this year. The entrance is at Fifteenth street and Capitol avenue. That the Ak-Sar-Ben organizers in choosing this location made a wise move was clearly manifest to visitors to the grounds this afternoon. The layout of the ground is such that there is plenty of room for the immense crowds expected to congregate within the enclosure, even on the parade days, when 25,000 and 30,000 investigate the wonders of the Ak-Sar-Ben carnival.

All Attractions Ready.

Those Omahans who have hesitated to attend the carnivals on the early days in the past for fear that all of the attractions were not quite ready, need have no such apprehension this year. For when the gates opened everything was in readiness. Every tent had been pitched, every scenery set had been placed, every barker was tuned up for the grind, the diving girls were ready and prepared to plunge into the pool, the dare-devil motorist who somersaults in the air had his machine ready for his flight through the air, the Oriental beauties were ready to respond to the first notes of the clarinet, the smallest mother in the world had donned her party dress and gathered her "babies" around her, everything was ready. The Wortham shows believe in preparedness and they were prepared when the turnstiles began to click.

No Confetti This Year.

An improved atmosphere about the jubilee grounds was instantly noticed by early visitors. The shrill shrieks of the noisy stinkies, perched on three barrels stationed at intervals along the center of the pike, called out the sale of confetti, were missing. And it was a pleasant surprise. There will be no confetti any day during the jubilee this year, the Ak-Sar-Ben governors have placed it on the taboo list.

That the Ak-Sar-Ben festivities are here are evidenced by increased activities at the railroad stations. Incoming trains brought an unusually large number of people into the city. Out-of-town visitors are coming earlier this year because Ak-Sar-Ben has more to offer and it will take the full ten days to take in all the sights and added attractions. The railroad executives put to bring many more thousand visitors to Omaha this year than ever before.

Put Five Hundred Villistas to Death At Chihuahua City

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 26.—Wholesale executions are taking place in Chihuahua City following the Villa attack. It was announced at military headquarters here today. Five hundred Villa adherents have been executed in all the states, and many other prisoners have been taken.

COMBLES FALLS; ALLIES NOW HOLD ALL OF THE TOWN

British and French Make Combined Attack on Point Blocking Advance on the West.

TEUTONS ARE MOVING OUT

Victory of Entente Achieved at End of Series of Fights Costly in Time and Men.

FIGHTING NEAR VERDUN

BULLETIN.

Paris, Sept. 26.—The town of Combles is entirely in the hands of the Anglo-French forces. This is announced in the official statement from the war office tonight, which adds that the battle north of the Somme is proceeding in favor of the entente allies. The French also have advanced farther north of Fregicourt. Along the Bethune road the French have gained additional ground. A vast stock of munitions and provisions were captured in Combles, the statement says, and the town was found filled with German dead. Elsewhere along the front in France there has been intermittent cannonading.

BULLETIN.

Berlin, Sept. 26.—(By Wireless to Sayville.)—Successes were achieved by the Anglo-French forces on the Somme last night to the east of Eau-court L'Abbaye, north of Flers, says the official statement issued by the German army headquarters today. The conquest of the villages on the line of Guedeucourt and Bouchavesnes, the statement adds, must be recognized.

London, Sept. 26.—The British have entered Combles on the Somme front, the war office announced today, and are overcoming the resistance of the Germans.

More than 1,500 prisoners taken in the fighting of the last twenty-four hours have already been counted and a large amount of war material has been captured. The announcement follows:

"Yesterday's operations were entirely successful. The preparation and execution of the attack by the artillery and infantry and the co-operation between them were in all respects admirable. More than 1,500 prisoners already have passed through the collecting stations and more are arriving. Much war material has been captured, but the amount cannot yet be estimated. "Further progress has been made during the night and this morning. A strong redoubt which had held out between Les Boehufs and Guedeucourt now has been captured, and the garrison made prisoners. "Our troops entered Combles from the west and are overcoming the enemy's resistance. There the enemy's losses were very severe."

French Penetrate Cemetery.

Paris, Sept. 26.—Continuing their offensive north of the Somme the French last night captured all the village of Fregicourt and penetrated the Combles cemetery. Violent counter attacks were made by the Germans last night on the Verdun front between Thiaumont works and Fleury. These assaults were checked by the French artillery and rifle fire.

Battle Lasts All Night.

Fighting continued all night north of the Somme, the Germans making desperate efforts to stem the tide which is engulfing Comles. According to latest advices reaching Paris, the allies have so far succeeded in clinging to their gains and have even improved their positions slightly. From the south of Morvat, held by the British, to the French positions south of Fregicourt, a distance of only about 1,800 yards, was the only part of the loop around Combles which it remained to close. That is now practically accomplished since the fire of the English and French crosses, and the situation of the Germans in Combles is worse than precarious, in the view of the allied officers.

Valuable as Defensive Point.

Combles, a town of some 2,000 population before the war, had been rendered of small strategic importance to the allies by their long continued encircling movement. It has been of notable value to the Germans, however, because as long as they cling to it the French-British freedom of action in pushing their offensive numbers toward Bapaume and Peronne, on either side of it, was hampered. Turned into a strongly fortified position by German defensive ingenuity, it has persistently held fast like a rock in the course of a turbulent stream that has had to be blasted loose before the channel was fully opened up.

This process has only been accomplished by long continued, severe and costly effort on the part of the allies. Driving in from the south, the French successively swept Murepas, Lefort and finally reached Fregicourt, a mile east of Combles. More slowly, but

VILLA IS MOVING TOWARD PERSHING

Report to General Indicates Bandit is Preparing to Attack American Force.

SKIRMISH NEAR RAILROAD

Field Headquarters, Mexico, Sept. 26.—(Via Radio to Columbus, N. M.)—Pancho Villa and his bandit command are moving northward toward the American expeditionary force, according to reports received today at field headquarters from a source which is described as being very reliable. Villa is reported to have crossed the Northwestern railroad at San Andres, forty-five miles southwest of Chihuahua City, where a slight skirmish is said to have occurred between Villistas and Carranza troops.

Villa Not at Chihuahua.

Washington, Sept. 26.—Confidential advices, it was announced today at the State department, show that Villa was not present during the Hidalgo day fighting at Chihuahua City, that no arms were captured by the bandits, and that there were no desertions from the Carranza garrison. Secretary Lansing said the dispatches bore out statements by Eliseo Arredondo, Mexican ambassador designate, regarding the affair. The source of the department's information was not disclosed.

Representations Have Been Made by the State Department to the Carranza government in behalf of Burton Wilson, president of the American club of Mexico City, who was arrested and reported threatened with deportation. A cablegram to the Navy department today from Captain Burrage, commanding the battleship Nebraska at Vera Cruz, reported all quiet there. Eliseo Arredondo, the Mexican ambassador designate, conferred with Secretary Lansing today and later made public a summarized account of the Chihuahua fight, based on dispatches from General Carranza, Foreign Minister Aguilar and General Trevino, the Chihuahua commander. "The attacking party," the statement said, "remained only a few hours in possession of the penitentiary and federal palace, before General Trevino disposed his forces and enveloped it. It is calculated that only one-third of the bandits escaped, the remainder being either killed, wounded or captured."

Letter Written by Girl Exonerates Roland

Fairbury, Neb., Sept. 26.—(Special.)—The preliminary hearing of Bert Roland, charged with kidnapping Miss Mary Groothouse, daughter of John Groothouse, near Reynolds, in this county, was held in county court and resulted in a dismissal of the case. The defendant lives in this city and became infatuated with the young Groothouse girl, who is 15 years of age. They eloped from Reynolds and went to Rulo, Neb. In the investigation, Miss Groothouse admitted that she wrote Roland a letter and asked him to elope, which was sufficient to exonerate the defendant. The girl was returned to her home near Reynolds.

Kearney County Fair Being Held in Minden

Minden, Neb., Sept. 26.—(Special.)—The Kearney County Agricultural association is holding its annual fair, together with the fall festival within the city of Minden. This is an innovation from previous years, as the fair has always been held on the fair grounds adjacent to Minden. The fair grounds are now under litigation. A mortgage having commenced foreclosure, two judgment creditors trying to sell and the county of Kearney trying to enforce its lien.

LEGISLATURE MAY DEAL WITH STRIKE

Governor Whitman Will Consult City Members as to Availability of Extra Session.

260,000 AGREE TO QUIT

New York, Sept. 25.—Governor Whitman has promised to meet here this afternoon a committee representing members of the state legislature from Manhattan and the Bronx to hear their request for a special session of the legislature to deal with the situation resulting from threats of a general suspension of work Wednesday morning in sympathy with the striking car men. No method of dealing with the proposed strike was set forth by the committee, but it was pointed out the power of the public service commission was inadequate.

Hugh Frayne, an officer of the American Federation of Labor, and one of the directors of the strike movement claimed today that assurances had been received by the labor leaders that 260,000 organized workers will quit work tomorrow morning.

A committee of the general officers of the national and international unions have quarters here and representatives of the Central labor unions, trade councils and local unions will meet Wednesday morning to organize and extend the suspension of work. Means of supplying financial support to strikers and plans for holding demonstrations will be considered. The building trade councils of Manhattan and the Bronx representing about 83,000 workers have postponed their response to the call for a suspension. Disorders again broke out during the early hours today. According to the police, a dozen elevated trains were bombarded with sticks and stones thrown from roof tops by strikers and sympathizers. Three persons were injured by flying glass when the windows of a Third avenue elevated train were shattered by missiles. Two arrests were made. One of the men in custody is charged with having a revolver in his possession.

Greek Chief of Staff Resigns

London, Sept. 26.—General Constantine Moschopoulos, chief of the staff of the Greek army, has resigned, according to a Reuter's dispatch from Athens.

General Moschopoulos commanded the Greek forces at Saloniki at the time of the landing of the Anglo-French expeditionary force. He ordered the troops under his command to salute French and British officers and was generally reported to be friendly to the cause of the allies. In August General Moschopoulos was appointed chief of staff and in a statement given to the press expressed the hope that he could strengthen the good relations between Greece and the entente powers. "I think I can be a precious advocate of the entente," he said.

Wilson Will Speak At Chicago Oct. 19

Chicago, Sept. 26.—President Wilson will speak in Chicago on October 19, it was announced at the democratic western headquarters here today, following receipt of a message from Shad-y Lawn N. I. summer home of the president, by United States Senator Thomas I. Walsh, in charge of the local headquarters. The president will speak under the auspices of a non-political organization, senator Walsh said.

MR. HUGHES SPEAKS TWICE AT TOLEDO

Workmen Attempt to Heckle Him During His Criticism of Adamson Act.

CHEERS FROM THE CROWD

Toledo, O., Sept. 26.—Charles E. Hughes faced two audiences here today, one at a theater, which cheered him repeatedly, another in the open air at a large automobile plant composed of workmen off for the noon hour. A number of the latter sought to heckle the nominee and cheered for Wilson. There were also many cheers for Hughes.

Mr. Hughes spoke on the Adamson law in his open-air speech. He reiterated his declaration that he "would never surrender to force," and repeated his assertion that the measure was not an eight-hour law, but a wage law. The audience listened quietly at first and cheered points made by the nominee.

"What about the Danbury haters?" shouted a man on the edge of the crowd. There were many street noises from passing traffic, and apparently Mr. Hughes did not hear. Toward the end of his speech other workmen took up the question: "What about the Danbury haters?" shouted many.

There was much other noise and voices. Mr. Hughes did not answer after the meeting he said he had not heard the question. "How about the unions in the factory here," shouted another man. Mr. Hughes replied that he favored unions, and was cheered.

As the nominee neared the end of his address there was a growing volume of Wilson cheers sprinkled here and there with uncomplimentary references to Mr. Hughes. He continued, however, with a smile on his face and amidst frequent applause, to discuss the Adamson law, declaring that labor, least of all, could afford to surrender the principle of arbitration.

The nominee repeated his attack on the administration for the Adamson law in his address at the theater. He was vigorously applauded. He also declared for the protection of American rights.

"The path of proper preparedness, the path of maintaining justly and firmly of American rights, is not the path that leads to war," he said. "It lies in the path of security. The path-way of peace is to announce American rights in advance and have the world understand exactly what we think and what we are prepared to do."

SOUTHERN PACIFIC NET INCOME GROWS

Figures from Annual Report Show Increase of Over Fifty Per Cent in Year.

ITS INVESTMENTS LARGER

New York, Sept. 26.—A gain of 50.14 per cent in net income is reported by the Southern Pacific company in its detailed report for the fiscal year ended June 30 last, that item increasing from $20,570,319 to $30,885,254.

The gross income increased from $69,647,992 to $60,393,006, an increase of 21.64 per cent, and net revenue from railway operations increased from $42,111,833 to $35,250,570, a gain of 11.20 per cent.

The Southern Pacific company was materially benefited by the heavy travel to the San Francisco exposition and derived additional income from its holdings of stock in other railroads, as well as various other properties, including the Associated Oil company of California.

The company's investments of $689,916,652 show an increase of $16,922,999 over the previous year, these including stocks, bonds and notes. Its current liabilities of $19,388,707 are but slightly increased over the previous year.

Its gross earnings of $152,594,228 are the largest in the history of the company, surpassing the previous record of 1913 by $9,919,523 and a gain over 1915 of $22,828,553.

Closing of Canal Helps.

In his review of the year's operations, Chairman Julius Kruttschnitt says: "The interruption of steamship service through the Panama canal since September 18, 1915, has minimized sea competition and has restored to your company's lines the freight which had been diverted from it by frequent steamship service through the Panama canal during the previous year and by the low rates then prevailing. Nearly all the steamers which had operated through the canal found more profitable employment in consequence of the increased demand for steamship tonnage owing to the European war, and they have not been restored to regular service between Atlantic and Pacific ports since the reopening of the canal. Upon the return of normal conditions, however, it may safely be assumed that the intense competition of the steamship lines will be encountered again."

Mr. and Mrs. Redman Have Golden Wedding

St. Edward, Neb., Sept. 26.—(Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Redman of this place celebrated their golden wedding at their home in this city Saturday. They were married in Hancock county, Indiana, on September 23, 1866, and moved to Nebraska a few years later, coming to St. Edward in 1901. Mrs. Redman was 70 years of age in May and is in poor health. Mr. Redman is a veteran of the civil war, having served in Company K, Twenty-fifth Indiana Infantry. He will be 70 next month. They have four children—Mrs. J. M. Schreckengast of Alton, F. M. Redman of Genoa, L. D. Redman of Treynor, Ia., and Mrs. R. E. Creamer of Henderson, Ia., and fifteen grandchildren.

Man Held Month By Blackmailers Admits Identity

Chicago, Sept. 26.—Edward R. West, vice president of the C. D. Gregg Tea and Coffee company of New York and Chicago, admitted today that he was the "A. R. Wesley" who was trapped in a New York hotel with "Alice White" by representatives of the International band of Mann-at-Amer-mailers, now held by federal authorities. After being taken prisoner to Chicago he was mugged of $15,000 on the strength of a fake federal warrant.
