Mr. and Mrs. August Mothe Borglum entertained at dinner at their home Friday evening the musicians, Signor and Mrs. G. Aldo Randegger, who are at the Orpheum this week, and Miss Mary Mikova, who is in the city for a short time before her return to spend the winter in New York. Miss Mikova played a number of piano solos for the guests and Signor Randegger played with the vocal accompaniment of his new opera, "The Promise of Medea," which is soon to be performed in the Metropolitan opera house in New York. The libretto has been composed by Mrs. Randegger, and her interpretation of the lines was very beautiful.

FEARLESS DAREDEVILS FLIRTING WITH DEATH IN "THE FOLLIES OF THE DAY"

What's the Matter With the Boss?

EVERYTHING in the office stops still. The boss, nursing the hang-over of last night's excessive drinking, can't make up his mind how to handle the big proposition that's come up. He just can't seem to think. From head clerk to office boy the same thought runs through each mind. "The boss is losing his grip. He's been boozing again." And yet the boss thinks he's fooling them. The man who drinks can't hide it. It speaks in his actions, in his movements of body and mind. It fogs his brain, it slows up his thinking processes, he loses confidence and worries because he doesn't think as fast and clearly as he used to. And soon he learns to fear. He hesitates and loses that power of decision that raised him from the ranks and made him an employer. Once that power is gone he will again take his place among the masses, because the world watches to seize the moment when he loses his grip. He calls himself a "secret" drinker because he doesn't drink in the company of his business or social friends. But all the world is in on his "secret." Hundreds of men who thought they were "secret" drinkers woke one day to the knowledge that their "secret" was out. They conquered the drink habit in three days at the Neal Institute—quickly, easily, without discomfort. Today many of them are sending their own employes, victims of drink, to the Neal Institute for treatment. We can help you, too. Stop before your "secret" becomes common property. Come in this evening and let's talk it over, or turn to your phone and call Douglas 7556 for full information.

DAVID A. FITCH

D. A. Fitch

DAVID A. FITCH was born June 4, 1882, at Brunswick, Mo. He spent his early childhood on a farm in southern Illinois. He came to Omaha at the age of 14 and attended the public schools. At the age of 18 he was compelled to give up school and go to work. He obtained a position as a conductor with the Omaha & Council Bluffs Street Railway Co., and was one of the charter members of the street car men's union. While working as a conductor he attended the Omaha School of Law, a night school, and was admitted to the bar by the supreme court commission.

After being admitted to the bar, Mr. Fitch was associated with Messrs. T. J. Mahoney and J. A. C. Kennedy for about two years. He then took a position in the county court with Judge Leslie as probate clerk and civil clerk. After holding these positions about two years Mr. Fitch became general adjuster for the Travelers Insurance Co., having offices in Omaha and Des Moines. Four years ago he became associated with the firm of Greene, Breckenridge, Gurley & Woodrough, and is now the junior member of the firm of Gurley & Fitch.

Omaha Has the Finest and Most Sanitary Dental Office in the United States

DR. MILTON MACH

Equipment

Equipment and staff are such as to enable Dr. Mach to care for a dozen persons. Everything moves with machine-like precision, according to schedule, and as efficiently as the noiseless electric machinery of the operating rooms.

Operating Rooms

In the operating rooms everything is arranged for convenience and comfort. Electricity has been trained to wait upon the patient at every stage. The old grinding and vibration have been eliminated through new silent cord motors. There is a supply of lead air for cooling the overheated, feverish tooth, and warm air for the sensitive tooth. Assistants spray sensitive teeth while the dentist works upon them, eliminating as much pain as possible.

DR. JOHN MACH

Dental Science

What modern science, properly applied, will do in the dental profession is strikingly seen in the business of Drs. Mach & Mach, whose offices in the Paxton building, Suite 312, are the finest and busiest in the middle west.

Laboratory

The Mach laboratories are among the best equipped in the country. In this interesting department artificial teeth are made to perfectly match the natural set of which they are to become a part. Porcelain inlays are baked in an electric oven which develops 2,500 degrees of heat. There is a gold inlay machine operated by centrifugal force and used for making the inlays and Richmond crowns. There are vulcanizers for vulcanizing artificial plates of all kinds.

DR. W. A. WILCOX

DR. KENNETH McMARTIN

Modern Dental Parlors In the offices of Drs. Mach & Mach dentistry has been developed to the highest degree, and no more modern or finely appointed dental parlors are to be found anywhere in the west. Cleanliness and sanitation have been the first word with these men in the building up of their profession.
