An advance northeast of the city was checked after the Russians had charged the German lines seven times.

One hangar, two aeroplanes, ten locomotives, 300 railroad cars laden with munitions, more than 200 baggage wagons, seventy transport wagons and one hospital train also have been taken. Rothern thurm pass is filled with vehicles blown to pieces by our fire.

HUGHES ASSAILS WILSON POLICIES

Asserts Administration Has Not Aided in Development of U. S. Business Abroad.

CITES CHINA LOAN AFFAIR

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 1.—Charles E. Hughes, in speeches at Jamestown yesterday assailed the administration for its attitude toward the development of American business abroad. Mr. Hughes cited the failure of American bankers to obtain government support of their plan to participate in the proposed six-power loan to China and the administration's Mexican policy, in support of his attack.

"It is said by the administration that they desire to open the door for American enterprise," Mr. Hughes said. "What is the inducement for our merchants and business men to go to foreign countries and engage in American enterprises if they and their investments are treated as our citizens and their property were permitted to be treated in Mexico?"

Loan Very Important.

Proposed participation by American bankers in the loan to China was characterized by Mr. Hughes as "a matter of great moment to the nation, because it permitted an opportunity not only to aid China but to facilitate our trade."

"We lost an important opportunity for American trade," Mr. Hughes said. "I believe that more recently the administration has seen the error that it committed in this respect, but it has failed to re-establish confidence with regard to its protection of American enterprise."

Mr. Hughes' assertions were interpreted by persons in his audience as being in the nature of a reply to President Wilson's recent declarations at Shadow Lawn and before a grain dealers' convention at Baltimore outlining the administration's views toward the future development of American trade abroad.

Mr. Hughes renewed his attack on the administration for "broken pledges."

Fail to Maintain Rights.

"They told us," he said, "that they were going to maintain the constitutional rights of American citizens throughout the world. That they have failed to do, to our great regret."

"Our opponents have a great deal to say now, as they have said in the past, with regard to the facilities for American enterprise and the principles of American trade. These are matters of the highest importance to all our people and we inquire in order to test the professions and promises that are given with respect to the record made in the past."

"Take, for example, the matter of the six-power loan to China. There was an opportunity obtained by which our bankers could share to the extent of one-sixth in this proposed loan. It was a matter of great moment to the nation because it permitted not only to aid China but to facilitate our trade. It was important to the nation that we should have a fair relation to the advantages of trade with China, in the future."

Has Seen Its Error.

"But when the present administration came into power and these bankers asked whether they would have the co-operation and protection of the administration—they were informed in effect that the administration did not desire to continue."

"I believe that more recently the administration has seen the error that it committed in that respect, but it has failed to re-establish confidence with regard to its protection of American enterprise."

"We hear a good deal with regard to our relations to Latin-America. Those relations are of the utmost importance, they should be based on mutual confidence and everything should be done to bring us into an intimate exchange of benefits. But what was the action of the administration with respect to Latin-America? It withdrew man after man from the nations in Latin-America, who was a trained diplomat, in order to properly place and meet the demands of partisan expediency."

"We cannot afford in the future to have men of second or third or fourth rate take the place of men who are known to have had many years of faithful diplomatic experience and to have acquired experience and training of the greatest value to this country."

No Line Is Drawn.

"There is a very serious side to the Mexican matter. I am looking at it for the moment in connection with those promises relating to the expansion and development of American trade. We have heard criticized those who have taken advantage of opportunities and made investments in Mexico, but I have not discovered that any line was drawn between the innocent in permitting our citizens to be left to the ravages of revolution and perhaps to be destroyed."

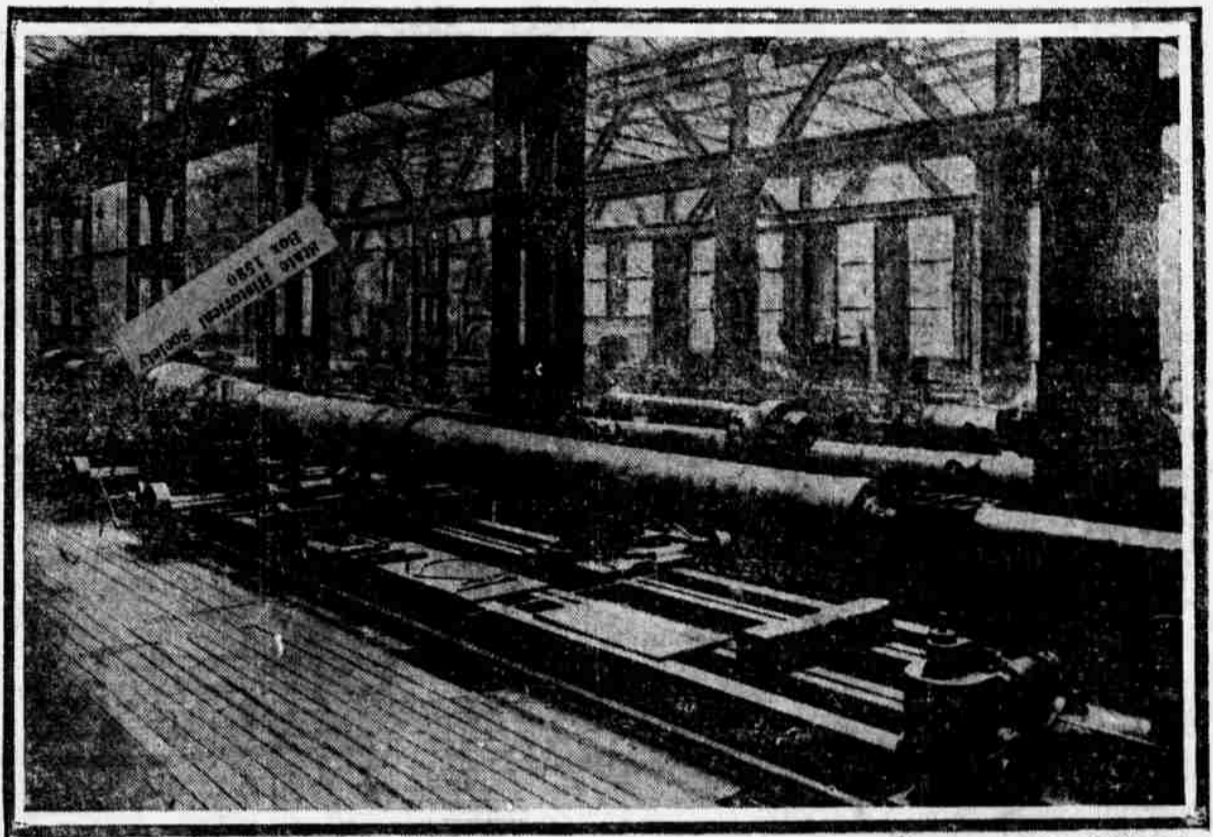

"If any have forfeited their rights under international law let them be singled out and dealt with. But I stand here to assert that American trade will not be maintained according to the ambitions and just aspirations of our people and we shall not stand before the world as we should with international esteem and the confidence of the nation, unless we protect, at all events, American lives, American property and American commerce, throughout the world."

Can Test Promises.

"We have an opportunity to test the promises that are made with respect to the development of American trade and the opportunities of American enterprise by the failures of the policies and the regrettable mistakes that we have observed in connection with the administration."

Mr. Hughes again cited Santo Domingo as a country to which the administration had sent men without experience to replace "experts under republican administration" to administer an American trust.

BIG LINER COMES INTO PORT AFIRE

Blaze in Cargo of Steamer Philadelphia Starts While 800 Miles Out.

PANIC ABOARD IS AVERTED

New York, Oct. 1.—Fire, which broke out in the cargo hold of the American line steamer, Philadelphia, Thursday, while the vessel was 800 miles from this port, still was smoldering when it arrived here today. Few of the 646 passengers were aware of the peril they had been in until after the big liner arrived.

The first intimation of fire was when smoke was seen pouring from a hatch in the steerage dining room aft. The officers, it was said, removed the 343 steerage passengers at once and took precautions to keep the news from spreading. While the blaze was got under control quickly, no time was lost in steaming to port. The Philadelphia left Liverpool Saturday, September 23. Origin of the fire has not been determined. Flooding of the cargo hold checked the flames.

BEACH CONFIDENT OF G. O. P. VICTORY

Nebraska Republican Chairman Says State Vote Is for Hughes.

WEST IS TO BE IN LINE

Lincoln, Oct. 1.—(Special.)—Nebraska will give its eight electoral votes for Hughes I am confident," Chairman Ed Beach of the republican state committee said yesterday after a busy day here Saturday.

Mr. Beach was much pleased with the reports he received of conditions in the state yesterday. The state headquarters was crowded during the entire day with county chairmen anxious to report on affairs in their locality. It afforded Mr. Beach a lot of satisfaction.

"The shoe is on the other foot this time," the state chairman declared. "Instead of a divided republican party, it's the democrats who are scrapping now, and republicans and progressives are centered in the supreme effort to replace an inefficient national administration with Charles E. Hughes."

Good News from West.

To the casual political observer there is some basis for the republican confidence at the state headquarters. From western Nebraska came the report of a very prominent democrat of long standing—who felt that he could not support the wishy-washy foreign policy of Woodrow Wilson in one locality it was said that Wilson would receive only six of seventy-eight votes in the precinct.

John L. Kennedy is running strong in all sections of the state, is the report reaching headquarters. "Kennedy will overturn a normal democratic majority in our county," one county worker reported, "and come out 300 or 400 votes to the good."

"An airship is reported brought down in flames north of London."

KING AK XXII TO ENTER THE ROYAL CITY THIS WEEK

Merry Monarch to Be at the Den Friday Night to Receive His Crown Before His Subjects.

WILSON HERE THURSDAY

President and Wife to View the Historical Parade Thursday Afternoon From Stand.

AND THE HOG SHOW, TOO

Before the present week closes, the face of his majesty, King Ak-Sar-Ben, will be seen on the streets of Omaha. His majesty will be formally crowned before the week is over, and his gracious queen will also receive her crown, seated beside him on her throne.

Also, before the week is closed, President Wilson will be seen in Omaha by hundreds of thousands of eager subjects of King Ak-Sar-Ben and of neighboring realms.

Three spectacular parades, allegorical and highly artistic, will traverse the streets of the chief city of the realm. A grand coronation ball, the crowning and classical event of the season, is to be held, and throughout the entire week the succession of thousands and thousands will pour into the jubilee grounds at Fifteenth street and Capitol avenue, to mix, churn, get acquainted, attend the shows, ride the merry-go-round, crack the whip and otherwise entertain themselves in the hundreds of ways there open to them.

Festive Season Is Here.

For the festive season has arrived. For the twenty-second time this annual festive season of King Ak-Sar-Ben's realm has arrived, and the edict has gone out to all the knights and ladies, charging them that they lay aside serious duties and disport themselves for a week during the days just preceding and just following the crowning of the King.

On the night following the coronation ball, while the decorations in the classical old Den are yet fresh, and the perfume of the night before is yet upon the rich drapings, while the lights are yet hanging in rare and costly clusters, showering their radiance to the remotest recesses of the great hall, a masquerade ball is to be held, open to the public at $1 per person. While the coronation ball is limited strictly to paid members and their ladies, the masquerade ball is open to all the subjects of the realm and to the subjects of neighboring realms.

NATIONAL HOG SHOW WILL OPEN TODAY

Leading Breeders and Cham- pion Swine of Country Here for Big Event.

GREATEST EVER HELD

The first annual National Swine Show, conceded by hog breeders from coast to coast to be the greatest and most comprehensive porcine stock exposition ever held in North America, will open today in the huge horse barns on the South Side.

Far and away above any show assemblage of prize winning hogs in this country, the creation of the National Swine Growers' association bids fair to set new champions established, which will be leaders in a more national scope than ever before.

With breeders flocking into Omaha from every swine raising state in the union, and considerably more than 1,000 pens arranged for the Nebraska metropolis for a week, at least, can boast of being the hog show capital of the world.

Meeting of Champions.

Certainly no hog show ever staged in this country (there have been only two national shows—one at the Chicago world's fair, and the other at the St. Louis exposition), has attracted as many grand champions of their respective states as the Omaha classic.

The most ribbed porkers of practically every breed in every state in the great corn belt are carded to vie with each other here for national honors in Omaha—and breeders may lay to this; any hog in their herds capturing a ribbon at the National Swine Show, is assured of country-wide distinction of a lasting kind.

Ranking as the real and recognized market center of the rich corn belt, this city in staging the first national swine show is but heaping on a few more well earned laurels in the live stock line.

Mr. Bryan Will Not Be Here Thursday

Definite word has been received from W. J. Bryan that he will not be able to be here for the visit of President Wilson to Omaha. The following telegram was received Saturday G. W. Wattles: "I find to my great regret that it will be impossible to come to Omaha on the fifth, owing to engagements in Michigan. Please present my compliments and cordial god wishes to the president." W. J. Bryan.

The centennial celebration committee had invited Mr. Bryan to preside at the Auditorium, Thursday evening, when President Wilson will speak. At the same time it was arranged that an invitation would be extended to Governor Morehead to preside in case it was impossible for Mr. Bryan to come.
