

HAPPENINGS IN THE MAGIC CITY

Additional Chance Will Be Afforded for Registration in Night Schools.

WILL EMPLOY 25 TEACHERS

The first of two additional nights of registration for night school at South High will begin this evening at the high school building at 8 o'clock. Principal Hurwaldt urges that as many as can, be at the office Monday and Tuesday of this week for enrollment. This arrangement will relieve the overcrowding that is due to late registration.

Night school will be popular this year, according to the principal. "With added equipment and a more extensive work of study, we expect to enroll a student body of not less than 400," the new principal said yesterday. "Our domestic science and sewing classes have been filled to capacity, but there are still several places open in the manual training and engineering departments. We expect to have a corps of twenty-five teachers working when the school is under way."

Whether the students of the night school will participate in physical culture as those of the day school, is a matter not decided yet. The facilities are here for the work. Students of the night school will be eligible to participate in school athletics, provided they are within the age limits of the State High School Athletic association.

Investigating Gayden.

"George Gayden, colored, held for investigation." The police blotter gave up this bit of information and Desk Sergeant Mike McCarthy had a story to tell. "Well, sir," said Mike, "this man happened to be walking by the police station with a bundle under his arm. Our vigilant policeman, Knudtson, happened to be standing in front of the station and took a notion to demand what was in the package."

"That am nothin', sir, but an apron, sir," the negro quavered. "Come on; let's see if there is." Knudtson persisted. In the bundle, two chickens with feathers on, but very much dead, were wrapped up in a sweater.

"Ah, ha!" the officer said, "Come here, I want to see you." So Mr. Gayden is being held for investigation. It developed that Gayden is a former member of the volunteer Thirty-second Kansas infantry. He lives at 2222 Seward street.

Robberies Reported.

Three robberies of minor character were reported in police circles. The front screen door at the home of S. Cornman, 5225 South Twenty-fifth Street, was found cut open Saturday-morning and the clothes of the owner rifled of valuables. The thief stole between $5 and $6 from a trousers pocket.

Dan Whitney, 4329 Franklin Street, who has the winter contract for heating the new South Lincoln school at Twenty-fifth and L streets, reported that someone had broken into the basement of the new building and stolen two heavy wrenches and several other tools.

The home of A. Aultman, 5107 South Twenty-sixth street, was entered apparently by unlocking the front door between 7:30 and 9 o'clock September 28, and goods valued at $20 stolen. The missing articles included two revolvers of different caliber, two suits, two hats and three shirts.

Search for Missing Girl.

Fear for the safety of their missing 15-year-old daughter, Ethel Moon, has caused parents of the girl, Mr. and Mrs. V. L. Moon, Thirty-third and U streets, to organize a city-wide search. The girl left her home at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon bound for the postoffice and has not been seen since. The Moon family has lived on the South Side but a few weeks. The description—"slim, medium dark complexion, long, black coat, white shoes." She left home bareheaded.

Prepare Parade Banners.

"Hughes for president" is a popular slogan among young men on the South Side. Tentative plans have been made for the making of a number of huge banners to be carried in the torch-light parade which is being arranged by the campaign committee.

High School Notes.

Interest in the big foot ball game between the local team and Central High Friday afternoon is intense. Tickets have already been distributed.

Miss Chase, head of the history department, has instructed her classes in American history to become acquainted with the various national and state candidates up for election, November.

The Tooter contest is progressing with enthusiasm. The seniors are said to be in the lead and will race strong for the championship. The reward will be a half day off an all-morning mass meeting and a special issue of the Tooter.

O'Connor, Peterson and Holm are three freshmen who are succeeding on the foot ball squad. These three men take up three positions on the line, Peterson at center, O'Connor at tackle and Holm at guard. Jimmie Etter, freshman, is also piloting the team in the place of Nester, this year. Harold Hunter is a fifth recruit who is making good in the backfield.

Grunting Hogs and Squealing Pigs Rule at the National Swine Show

FIRST HOGS TO REACH HOG SHOW—Thos. F. Kent of Walnut, Iowa, and three yearling Chester White sows.

Hogs, hogs and more hogs, seemingly acres of them, and every grunting porker the particular pride of some particular herd in some particular part of the country, munched their corn and feed as usual, snouted about in fresh, clean straw and apparently gave not a swine thought to the fact that they constituted the cynosure of all eyes at the most important porcine stock exposition ever held in this country—the first annual National Swine show.

Although the doors of the show building were thrown open early and large numbers of swine enthusiasts swarmed in and out of the huge horse barns on the South Side all morning long, the five days' exhibition did not formally open until afternoon. The official curtain raising ceremonies were staged at 2 o'clock, when Governor Morehead visited the show and addressed a large crowd in the horse barns. The talk by Nebraska's chief executive formally opening the show was responded to by W. M. McFadden, president of the National Swine Growers' association, the body putting on the initial swine classic of truly national scope in the history of the United States. Guests at Luncheon. At the noon hour the governor, officials of the National Swine show and the members of the state sanitary board were the guests at an informal luncheon at the Exchange building. Brief talks were made by several of the luncheon guests.

The judging will start at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. The hog experts were to have started making their rounds yesterday, but owing to the fact that a few herds from the eastern states did not arrive in time it was decided to postpone the judging for a day.

The unusually large number of entries from every winter-raising state in the union made it necessary for the show officials to construct more than 300 additional pens other than those in the horse barns.

Bring Their Young Along.

Mature hogs are not the only ones occupying the limelight at the National Swine show; twenty of the sows seeking national honors have their young with them. There are from six to eleven pigs in each litter, the ages ranging from one week to five weeks. Meals at all hours, therefore, is the rule in some of the pens.

Three of the breeds represented at the show are view herds; viz, herds for which there are no prizes offered. These three, Yorkshires, Muletoons and Tanworths, are attracting much attention.

The show herds are the Poland-Chinas, Duroc-Jerseys, Berkshires, Chester Whites, Hampshires and Spotted Poland-Chinas.

The premium fund for the five days amounts to $11,000, in addition to which there will be a number of special prizes, cups and trophies. Five breeds will have a cash prize fund of $2,000 each. The cash prize fund for the Spotted Polands is $1,000.

DAYS OF BIG PARADES

Mayor Dahlman became today a most loyal minion of the good King Ak and issued a declaration commanding all loyal Omahans to set aside two days in which to pay fitting homage with festive fun to the ruler of the realm of Quivera. The announcement follows:

Whereas King Ak-Sar-Bon is reigning over Quivera, celebrating his twenty-second conquest of this city; and

Whereas, the reign of King Ak-Sar-Bon is notable for the observance of the fiftieth anniversary of the statehood of Nebraska, and because of the elaborate arrangements for the observance of the semi-centennial of our statehood, including a visit to Nebraska's metropolis by the president of the United States;

Now, therefore, I, James C. Dahlman, mayor of the city of Omaha, by virtue of the authority vested in me, do hereby declare two legal holidays during the reign of King Ak-Sar-Bon. The first of said holidays to occur on the 3rd day of October, on the occasion of the Industrial parade, a parade representative of the marvelous growth of Nebraska and Omaha during these fifty years of statehood, said holiday to begin at noon Tuesday, October 3, and to continue throughout said day. The second of said holidays to occur on Thursday, October 5, the occasion of the grand historical pageant, picturing the various stages of development undergone by Nebraska during the fifty years of statehood, said holiday to include the entire day, October 5.

With profound appreciation of the abundant prosperity of Nebraska, and of our peace with the world, let Omahans close their places of business, refrain from their ordinary pursuits and in the spirit of Ak-Sar-Bon participate in the observance of the fiftieth anniversary of Nebraska's statehood.

First Photograph of Mrs. Le Duc, Shot in Philadelphia Hotel Tragedy

Mrs. Le Duc is the wife of a prominent Chicago business man, and was shot in a room in a Philadelphia hotel by Mrs. Harry Belzer, who shot and killed Joseph Graver and then committed suicide. The tragedy has furnished a mystery which the police of New York and Philadelphia are endeavoring to unravel.

MRS. JOSEPH C. LE DUC

Mrs. Le Duc denies that she went from New York to Philadelphia with Graver, who was a wealthy garage owner of New York, and said she did not know the woman who fired the shots. She asserts that she went into Graver's room to get a handbag she had left there while she went to the theater with him.

Her husband is at her bedside in Philadelphia and vows he believes her story implicitly.

The possibility of a third woman's being involved in the tragedy is intimated. It is said that a girl, described as a "striking blonde," and not Mrs. De Duc, was the one who made the trip from New York to Philadelphia with the slain garage man in his motor car.

If Back Hurts Take Salts to Flush Kidneys

Says Backache is sure sign you have been eating too much meat.

Uric Acid in meat clogs Kidneys and irritates the bladder.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally. Else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean, and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is harmless to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity. It also neutralizes the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is harmless; inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everybody should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean, thus avoiding serious complications.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in overcoming kidney trouble while it is only trouble.—Adv.

Shall We Discard Local Option and Adopt State Prohibition?

Under the existing Local Option Law, it lies within the power of the citizens of any community in Nebraska to adopt local prohibition for their own city, town, or village.

In every community in this state absolute control over this question lies in the hands of the majority of the voters. No interference from the outside is possible; nothing can thwart the wishes of the majority in the city, town or village, with respect to the question of license or no license.

Many communities in this state have availed themselves of the power granted to them under our Local Option Law, and have adopted local prohibition for their own community. Where there is a dominant LOCAL public sentiment in support of that policy, it is possible to make the no-license policy respected and obeyed.

There are, on the other hand, many communities in this state where it is the opinion of the majority of the citizens that the license policy is better adapted to their own community. Where that is the prevailing sentiment, the community is permitted, under our existing Local Option Law, to license the sale of alcoholic beverages—subject of course to the provisions and restrictions of the general state law.

In neither case, is a policy forced on a community from without. The principle of Home Rule prevails.

It is now proposed to substitute for this policy of local self-government, the policy of state-wide prohibition. This prohibition policy is not intended for the relief of communities in which the no-license policy already prevails, but is designed to FORCE such a policy on other communities against their will.

The result, as the experience of other states has abundantly established, would be disastrous in every city and town on which prohibition is forced. It means, where dominant local sentiment is opposed to prohibition, lax enforcement of the law, the dividing of such towns into bitterly hostile factions, the reign of the spy and of the informer, the rapid growth of crime—and in the end it means higher taxes.

Against the substitution of such a system for that under which Nebraska is now operating, everyone having the best interests of the people of this state at heart, should solemnly protest.
