base ball victory, as we understand it, is to accumulate base hits at propitious times and at the same time prevent the opposition from achieving similar success. The Rourkes fell down on both jobs yesterday afternoon and the invading host breezed gaily through nine soft innings and gathered in a victory, 8 to 2.

Thursday the Rourkovinians pum melled Jimmy Moddleton, the hurling class of the American association, all class of the American association, all over the lot. Yesterday a gent by the name of Stroud, who isn't such a much, made monkeys out of our athletes. But such is life.

On the other hand Messrs. Otto Merz and Prince Gaskell had the daylights hammered out of them. According to an inside tip Pete Compton had twenty-five berries on yesterday's fray and he informed his mates that if they didn't make at least a dozen base hits he would cave in their skulls with a base ball bat. The threat worked for the Distillers made seventeen safe swats, which is a pretty good average for one day.

With the games today, all of the foot ball teams of the Missouri Valley conference will open their 1916 season and the chase for the valley season and the chase for the watery title, now held by Nebraska, again will be fully under way. All conference elevens will play today excepting the Kansas Aggies, who met Southwestern at Manhattan yesterday. Nebraska, Missouri and Washington will open their schedules with wames on ern at Manhattan vesterday. Nebraska, Missouri and Washington will open their schedules with games on their home grounds, the Cornhuskers playing Drake in the first game between two conference teams, the Tigers contesting with Central college of Fayette and the St. Louis squad meeting Rose Polytech. Ames will play Highland Park at Ames.

Kansas will go to Urbana to play Illinois in one of the few contests between members of the Big Nine and the Missouri Valley conference. The first time the Jayhawkers and Illin met the Kansans took the long end of the score. But that was twenty-four years ago. Chief interest centers in the Nebraska-Drake game, with new coachs at each school, and Nebraska having lost many of last season's stars. The combat will give foot ball enthusiasts their first opportunity of the season to view Stewart's team. Lincoln reports have been optimistic and Drake, beaten last year 48 to 13, is not overly confident, particularly in view of the slim victory over Pennsylvania college last Saturday.

Missouri expects fittle difficulty in the combat with Central, having a team composed of many veterans and with a heavy line. Few reports have come out from St. Louis regarding Washington, but Edmunds probably will have a team capable of overcoming Rose Poly.
