

Nebraska SAUNDERS COUNTY GETS IN THE GAME

Kennedy's Tour Stirs Much Enthusiasm Among Voters Down There.

SWEDES FIGHT HITCOCK

Wahoo, Neb., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—Reciting the merits of the republican party and its history of achievement, urging the election of Charles E. Hughes, Judge A. L. Sutton, Congressman Charles Sloan and the entire republican state ticket, John L. Kennedy of Omaha, republican candidate for United States senator, accompanied by the Saunders county candidates and a following of voters from all parts of the county, made a campaign across Saunders county and closed with a meeting here last night at the court house, which was attended by the largest and most enthusiastic audience which has turned out to a political meeting here for years. Most of the county candidates were present and appealed to the voters for their support.

Kennedy Meets Old Friends.

County Chairman C. W. Bruce of Malmo presided. He introduced Judge Samuel Lippincott of Memphis, Neb., a pioneer of Saunders county and of Nebraska, who years ago was a justice of the peace in Omaha, before whom Mr. Kennedy tried his second law case in Nebraska some thirty years ago. Judge Lippincott is also a veteran of the civil war. Charles H. Slama, in introducing Mr. Kennedy, said: "He is not a politician, but a man possessing all the stern and unfinching qualities of a statesman; a man that won't truckle and a man that can't be bluff'd."

Mr. Kennedy's speech, which lasted an hour and a half, was vigorous and forceful and his allusions to Charles E. Hughes, Congressman Charles Sloan and Judge A. L. Sutton brought out bursts of applause.

At Brainard an hour was spent by Mr. Kennedy calling on the voters. Brainard is a Bohemian neighborhood. Many of the leading Bohemians assured Mr. Kennedy today that they would vote for him because they said, they admired his attitude on strict neutrality and his unwillingness to make any other appeal than to the patriotism of the American voter. Mr. Kennedy was introduced about town by Dr. J. G. Marron, C. J. Smerah, Theodore Smerah, G. A. Falk and L. E. Sowers, republican candidate for county clerk, and Mr. Smith.

County Candidates Join.

At Valparaiso Mr. Kennedy was met by an automobile party of Saunders county voters and county candidates who accompanied him during the remainder of the day. He spoke to a street audience in the public square and his speech was received with considerable enthusiasm. The many democrats who applauded Mr. Kennedy and who exclaimed "Good, good, that's the stuff." W. W. Wenstrand, candidate for re-election as county attorney; C. A. Cook, candidate for representative; J. M. Lamper, candidate for representative; Malcolm Anderson, candidate for county treasurer, and Henry Pickett, candidate for re-election as clerk of the district court, and F. E. Alder, candidate for county superintendent, spent the day with Mr. Kennedy's party.

At Cresco the campaigners stopped for dinner. Mr. Kennedy was joined here by C. W. Bruce of Malmo, chairman of the Saunders county republican committee, who spent the day with him. The party consisted of numerous automobiles and some forty persons. Mr. Kennedy was introduced to the voters at Cresco by Dr. F. T. Wright and Malcolm Anderson. While in Cresco Mr. Kennedy met several old friends among the ministers of the Swedish Mission church, which was holding its conference there.

Swedes Off Hitcock.

Much indignation is being expressed by the Swedish people because of the attempt of Nelson T. Thorson to deliver the Swedish vote to Senator Hitchcock by the activity of the Omaha Posten. It is the opinion of the Swedish people in this section that no person can deliver the Swedish vote. One prominent citizen of Swedish descent said in Wahoo today: "No leader can deliver the vote of the Swedish people of Nebraska to any candidate, much less to Hitchcock."

At Mead a lively street meeting was held. Mr. Kennedy was introduced by W. W. Wenstrand of Wahoo, republican candidate for re-election as county attorney. Following this a meeting was held on the street at Cedar Bluffs. The party from Cresco to Cedar Bluffs was under the guidance of A. L. Chase of Memphis, republican candidate for sheriff. Henry Gustafson, Nebraska president of the Farmers' union, was visited at his farm today by the various candidates. He predicts a republican victory.

No Division of County This Year

Broken Bow, Neb., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—The county division fight came to an abrupt end this week and the question will not be an issue in this campaign. The hearing before the county board on the petition for the proposed northeast county was concluded and the board found that the petition did not contain the names of a majority of the electors in the proposed new county and, therefore, rejected it.

The divisionists proposed to divide Custer county into three parts.

SHAW'S ARGUMENT IS CONVINCING

Former Iowa Governor Presents Republican Case With Best of Results.

NEED MEN OF EXPERIENCE

(From a Staff Correspondent.) McCook, Neb., Oct. 13.—(Special.)—Closing a four-day speaking tour of Nebraska, in which he made nine addresses, Leslie M. Shaw, former governor of Iowa and secretary of the treasury in the Roosevelt cabinet, spoke to a good-sized audience at the opera house here last night.

Governor Shaw talked for two hours and thirty-five minutes, yet held his audience to the end by his convincing manner of presenting the facts as he saw them, concerning the tariff, the Mexican situation, the Adamson bill and a few other political situations in the same manner which has always left his audiences in the mood to think about what he has said after he had gone.

States the Facts.

"I shall not argue these matters," said he. "I shall simply tell you the facts and let you do your own thinking. If I can get you to thinking about these very important matters for yourselves, I have accomplished the object of my visit to Nebraska."

Mr. Shaw said that no man would hire a lawyer simply because he had been admitted to the bar. He must first be careful study and experience show that he has an aptitude for the law, and then he would be given the job. "The reason why the democratic party always makes a failure of handling the affairs of the government is because they have not had the experience necessary to run the government, for they only get a chance once in twenty years and then only for a short time," said the secretary. "and so it is not to be expected that they could do a successful job."

Experience Needed.

"To do a successful job of running this government, a man must be a statesman; he must have had experience in statecraft, just as the lawyer must have experience in the law, or the doctor in medicine. You would not hire an allopath to do the work neither would a Baptist church put Presbyterians on its governing board. A man must have experience in the business he has charge of."

"There is not a man in Nebraska who would have hired Woodrow Wilson to be at the head of a railroad, a corporation, a store, a bank or a farm, yet we put him at the head of the greatest institution on the face of the globe and expect him to make a success of it."

Statesmanship Wanted.

"We are facing a situation which will need a man of experience, a man who understand law and a man experienced in statecraft. When at the close of the war, the nations of the world are gathered about that great table to solve the great problems of a new international treaty, this country must have a man of experience as its representative. He must be a man, firm in his convictions, strong in his demands and, at the same time, for the respect of the other nations of the earth. Woodrow Wilson has not shown a capacity along these lines. He has done today what he thought was the best thing to be done today without any regard for what he did yesterday or what he might do tomorrow. He has been honest in doing it, believing it the best thing, but it has simply demonstrated his inexperience as a statesman and his lack of those essentials of statesmanship which must characterize the man who must be president of the United States when the war is over."

Makes Good Impression.

"The best political address I ever heard in my life," said A. Galusha, a well known merchant of McCook and former secretary of state.

"I never heard anything like it," remarked A. Barnett, chairman of the republican county committee and presiding officer at the meeting.

"I wish Governor Shaw could be kept in Nebraska the rest of the campaign," remarked Senator Cordell, who served in the state senate two terms. "We would carry the state without the question of a doubt."

This indicates the success which Mr. Shaw's tour has been, the only regrettable feature being the small amount of interest taken in the campaign, democrats as well as republicans being unable to draw the crowds as in former years.

People Lack Interest.

"At this time, when the people have been given greater power in the affairs of government than ever before, they show a lack of interest at a time when our country is facing a crisis, which is simply discouraging," said Governor Shaw during an address at Falls City.

"However, with this discouraging condition," said a newspaper man who accompanied Governor Shaw on his tour of the state, "there is a strong trend from those who have been undecided as to whom they would support, toward Mr. Hughes. This was apparent throughout the entire trip and was the report given by those in close touch with the situation. In many instances former Wilson men have come out for Hughes, especially was this marked after Mr. Shaw had spoken.

Kennedy Is Strong.

John L. Kennedy is strong in all the places visited, while Sutton is close behind him. Reavis is especially strong in the First district, as is also Sloan in the Fourth and Barton in the Fifth. While Barton's opponent has always had a strong following around McCook, republicans say there is little doubt Barton will carry the district.
