Prohibition would deprive the city of Omaha of a yearly revenue of $352,000 derived at present from liquor licenses. All of this large sum goes to the school fund. It is sufficient to build five new, modern, twelve-room school houses every year of the type of the Castellar and Vinton schools. Only by greatly increasing taxes on property can this loss, which prohibition would cause, be made up. Think it over. Douglas County property owners and taxpayers' League, 335 Ros. building, M. J. T. Autos Collide and Young Girl Injured

Automobiles owned by Frank A. Freeman, manager of Haskins Bros. & Co., and Frank B. Johnson, manager of the Omaha Printing company, collided at Twenty-eighth and Harney streets. Betsey Walker, 11-year-old occupant of the Freeman car, suffered slight injury beneath an eye. Both machines were damaged. Mr. Freeman states he was driving on the right side of Harney street, proceeding west and intending to turn south on Twenty-eighth, when his car was struck at a point fifteen feet east of Twenty-eighth. He maintains the Johnson car was being driven on the wrong side of the street when the collision occurred. Mr. Johnson said he had not learned the particulars from his chauffeur, but he was under the impression both drivers were rattled.

Roosevelt is Out Talking Hughes and Fairbanks

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 18.—Theodore Roosevelt came to Kentucky today on the first leg of a campaign for Hughes and Fairbanks, that will take him as far west as Denver and Phoenix, Ariz. Rear platform addresses at fourteen eastern Kentucky towns, with the principal speech this evening at a Louisville park, were on the day's program.

CITY WON'T CAST ONE WILSON VOTE

Large Municipality, Where President Has Lived, Too, Won't Vote for Him.

IS A SAFE ELECTION BET

By A. R. GROH.

There is a city of over 350,000 population in the United States where Wilson won't get a single vote. Rather a startling statement, we must admit, but it is true, nevertheless, and you can bet your money with any presidential betting bug who wants to disagree with you on the proposition.

Hughes won't get any votes there, either. For this city is Washington, D. C., whose citizens are not allowed to vote. (Not such a bad joke, eh?)

The Washingtonians are even worse off in this respect than the Indians, who, while they can't vote, at any rate do not have to pay taxes. The citizens of Washington pay $1.50 per hundred in taxes. The federal government pays half the expense of running the city.

A few facts concerning our national capital are of interest just now because a distinguished New York gentleman who was in our fair city Monday evening expects to make that his home for the next few years.

Target for Wits. It is called "The City of Magnificent Distances," as nearly everybody knows. But nearly nobody knows that this name was applied originally in derision by visitors because the magnificent scale on which it was laid out 126 years ago was in such striking contrast to the actual size of the place and the few, poor buildings.

The wit of these dead-and-gone humorists did not stop with that. They called it "The City of Streets Without Houses," "The Wilderness City" and "The City of Miserable Huts." Major Pierre Charles l'Enfant, a French engineer who had served in the continental army, planned it with the big, broad, enthusiastic vision characteristic of the French. It covers an area of sixty square miles, just about twice the area of Omaha. Which indicates that the nicknames were not bestowed without just cause.

Its population today is 358,679, of which number 99,029 are colored. For several years after the revolution this republic had no permanent capital. Virginia and Maryland both offered to cede a tract to the federal government and George Washington selected the site. An Englishman had settled on the spot in 1663 and called the place Rome, seemingly an omen of the city's future greatness.

Burned by British. The cornerstone of the capitol was laid in 1793 and was finished in 1800. Congress held its first session in the building that year. The capitol was burned by the British in 1814. During the civil war the capitol was repeatedly threatened by the confederates. A system of fortifications was constructed then, which consisted of sixty-eight enclosed forts with 1,120 guns, ninety-three unarmored batteries and twenty miles of infantry trenches. These works have been unoccupied since civil war days with the exception of Fort Meyer on Arlington Heights.

Washington is today the result of the most complete and artistic city system ever carried out. It is picturesquely situated on the lovely Potomac. It has wider streets than any other city in the world, ranging from eighty to 160 feet. (Our Farnam street is sixty feet wide.) It has more than 100,000 trees. Massachusetts avenue has a quadruple row of trees its entire length of four and a half miles. Squares and circles and reservations at the intersections of streets number 302, comprising 407 acres. The capitol building is one-seventh of a mile long and— But we have no space to describe all the wonders of Washington. Get yourself elected senator or congressman or something and then you can live there and see 'em.

Y. M. C. A. Hunters Take the Field

With 1,000 new members by Saturday night as their goal, sixty-five workers of the Omaha Young Men's Christian association yesterday took the field in a competitive membership campaign. In reality, however, the campaign opened last night when the campaigners were guests at a banquet at which they heard several addresses, designed to inspire them with sufficient enthusiasm to carry the contest to a successful conclusion.

Ralph Yoeman, membership secretary of the local "Y," is in charge of the campaign and he offers suitable prizes for the contestants.

Several Fined for Not Minding the Traffic Rules

James Mann, 2402 South Eighteenth street, charged with reckless driving, was sentenced to ten days in jail. Sam Landaman was fined $5 and costs, and Joseph Eastley, $2.50 and costs.

Flush Kidneys With Salts If Back Is Aching

Noted authority says we eat too much meat, which clogs Kidneys.

Take glass of Salts when Kidneys hurt or Bladder bothers you.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally. Says a well-known authority, Meat forms uric acid, which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which every one should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.—Adv.

Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. Trusting this no good. Finally I got hold of something that quickly and completely cured me. Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing hard work as a carpenter. There was no operation, no lost time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you may find a complete cure without operation if you write to me, Eugene M. Pullen, Carpenter, 1947 Marcellus Avenue, St. Louis, Mo. I'll cut out this notice and show it to any who others are ruptured—(or may) save a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.—Advertisement.

Why Suffer From Migraine or Sick Headache? Dr. J. J. Caldwell says that this exceedingly distressing disease does not shorten life, but does not appear to be curable. Sufferers from this affliction are condemned to undergo the periodical attacks every few weeks until they are forty years of age, after which the attacks are less frequent, and finally disappear entirely. Palliative measures during the attack are all that it is possible to suggest, while care in the diet is the best preventive measure. An attack may often be prevented by taking two anti-kamnia tablets when the first symptoms appear, and one anti-kamnia tablet every two hours during the attack shortens it, eases the pain and brings rest and quiet. Anti-kamnia tablets may be obtained at all druggists. Ask for A-K Tablets. They quickly relieve all Pains.
