

MISS ADELE M. DAVIS WEDS R. W. DANIELS

Beautiful Home Wedding Takes Place at Home of the Bride.

DECORATIONS ELABORATE

At a beautiful and quaint home wedding, solemnized at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. William Mumford Davis, last evening at 7:30 o'clock, Miss Adele Marie Davis was united in marriage with Mr. Robert William Daniels, son of Mrs. R. E. Daniels of Council Bluffs.

The rooms were decorated with baskets of pink chrysanthemums and bowls of pink roses. In the big window of the living room a canopy had been erected which extended from floor to ceiling and was banked with smilax, pink roses and asparagus fern.

The wedding music was furnished by two of the bride's sisters, both talented musicians, Miss Georgina Davis, maid of honor, sang "At Dawning," by Cadman, and Mrs. Leo R. Wilson played the Lohengrin wedding march for the entry of the bridal party and the Mendelssohn march for the recessional.

The Rev. Mr. Hornbrook walked first in the bridal procession. He was followed by Mr. Mahns Berry, usher; Miss Pearl Laverty, bridesmaid, and Miss Georgina Davis, maid of honor. Little Fritzie Eleanor Baumeister, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Baumeister of Council Bluffs, who was ring bearer, came next, and little Ruth Williamson, a niece of the bridegroom, as flower girl, preceded the bride, who entered on the arm of her father.

The bridesmaid and maid of honor wore similar gowns of pink organdy in different shades. Miss Georgina Davis wore palest pink, made in a quaint design with full billowy skirt laid in deep tucks edged with fine filee lace.

Miss Fritzie Eleanor Baumeister made a bewitching figure in a white net frock all covered with tiny ruffles embroidered in pink and old little white pantslets. She carried the ring in the center of an old-fashioned bouquet of French flowers.

Ruth Williamson was a winsome little miss in a ruffled frock like that of the ringbearer, sprinkled with tiny pink roses. In a pink tulle garden hat tied with pink streamers she carried the pink and white rose petals which she scattered before the bride.

ters fendered, but its crew of thirteen men were rescued. Grashaw, who had been master of the Colgate for only two weeks, is in a hospital at Conneaut in a critical condition. His wife is at his bedside.

Captain Grashaw could be seen by rescuers prostrate on the raft, his numbed hands wrapped around the rope twisted about his body, lashing in the waves.

Captain Grashaw's story follows: "We were passing Long Point about 6 or 7 o'clock Friday night when trouble began. The boat sprang a leak. I was aft at the time, and im-

RUSH TO REGISTER SHOWS INTEREST IN OMAHA IN ELECTION—This photograph was snapped at the Douglas county courthouse on Saturday night, when business for the day was closed in the office of Election Commissioner Harley G. Moorhead. It shows the crowd of unregistered voters, still waiting to get their names on the voters' list. The congestion is caused by the fact that registration is held at the central office alone and not at the various polling precincts, as was the case before the new law was passed.

Three Men on Trial For Killing Anti-Catholic Lecturer

Galveston, Tex., Oct. 23.—Venturemen and opposing counsel crowded the district court house here today for the opening of the trial of John Copeland of Marshall in connection with the killing of William Black, an anti-Catholic lecturer. George Tier and George Ryan, two other Marshall citizens, were indicted on the same charge as Copeland. Harry Winn and Frank O'Leary, who were among those first held in connection with the killing of Black, but subsequently cleared, will be witnesses for Copeland.

place in Marshall a year ago last February. Black, with Clarence F. Hall and a 17-year-old girl, Sadie Black, whom he had adopted in Pulaski county, Arkansas, went to Marshall to deliver lectures entitled "Romanism, a Menace to Civilization." On the first night Black directed his talk against the confessional. He had advertised further to deliver an address against what he alleged to be an oath of the Knights of Columbus. In the afternoon of the second day, February 3, four men, Copeland, Tier, Ryan and John Rogers, all said to be members of the Knights of Columbus, went to his room to ask him not to speak again. A scuffle ensued, in which Black and Rogers were killed and Copeland badly wounded.

Brotherhood Chiefs Don't Know What Law Means; Say in Dark

whom it does not provide, but also on the part of those to whom it expressly refers. It is apparent from the statement of the circular sent out by Mr. Stone and his colleagues that they are beginning to do some thinking about the Adamson law which Mr. Hughes suggested that they do in his Newark speech. And they are finding that the law is not so clear as it might be. They are beginning to pay one of the penalties for haste.

But there is one man who affects to know just what the Adamson law means, and inasmuch as it was his surrender to the threat of a strike by the brotherhoods that drove the bill through congress, he certainly ought to know all about it and especially what it means. He is President Wilson. Time and again since he signed the bill with four gold pens, and gave one to each brotherhood chief as a sacred souvenir, he has proclaimed in public his satisfaction with this "eight-hour law," as he always describes it, as an accomplishment of service to labor and to humanity.

Since Mr. Stone and his colleagues are in such doubt as to the meaning and application of this law, why don't they apply to Mr. Wilson for real information? Is there anything in their experience with him which has caused them to begin to doubt his omniscience? Perhaps there is.

Other speakers who are contributing to the public discussion of this law are wondering how it is that railroad men such as Lovett of the Union Pacific and Underwood of the Erie are so enthusiastic in their support of President Wilson for re-election.

"Is it because they are so displeased with the Adamson act?" asks Henry J. Allen, the well known Kansan. "Is labor to be the goat? Was this bill a gun loaded by labor or for labor? This wage increase did not come out of Wilson's pocket, or out of the pocket of the administration. No eight-hour day with ten-hour pay for the railway postal clerks or other postal employees. No that raise would show in the Wilson administration's appropriation bill. Labor again the foot ball of politics. How often have its sage counselors warned it away from entangling alliances. One proud boast of labor, that its vote could neither be bought nor delivered. Has it endured until now only to be 'sold' to the party soliciting this vote with a rainbow just before election?"

Doctors of Country Hold Meeting in Philadelphia

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 23.—Members of the Clinical Congress of Surgeons, composed of practitioners from all parts of the country, opened their seventh annual meeting here today. Distinguished visitors conducted clinics in the various hospitals and tonight the retiring president, Dr. Charles Mayo, Minnesota, and Dr. Fred Bates Lund, Boston, the president-elect, will deliver addresses at a meeting at which the latter will be inaugurated. The congress will be in session until Saturday.

ADLER POLITICAL FANATIC OR CRANK

After studying chemistry and working for several years as a chemist, Adler went to Switzerland. He returned to Austria shortly before the war, imbued with extreme Marxian theories, which he advanced in a periodical called Das Volk. This paper ceased publication at the outbreak of the war. Subsequently Dr. Adler founded Der Kampf, in which he treated social problems in an able, scientific manner.

The assassination was political, since Dr. Adler was entirely unknown to the premier. He recently desired the socialists to take certain action against the premier, but his proposal was viewed unfavorably by the party. He then cut loose from the socialists, but continued publication of the Der Kampf and shunned all society. Being wealthy, he was able to follow such a course. The count was little known to the public until he became premier. He was of quiet and retiring disposition. His tenure of office brought him no great chances, though some were expected when he became head of the government.

Thus far it is unknown who will succeed Count Stuerghk, but the impression is that neither the attitude of the government nor the course of the war will be influenced by Dr. Adler's act.

PAYMENT OF THE LOSS

In the death of anyone who earns more than he consumes there is a direct money loss. How shall this loss be met? It may be met in one of two ways: First: By a life insurance company if the deceased has been thoughtful enough to have taken insurance on his life. Second: By his family if there was no insurance. If met by his family, often times it is (1) through a lower standard of living; or (2) through denial of educational advantages to the children; or (3) through increased toil by the widow and daughters; or (4) possibly through charity.

Is it not much better to meet the loss through insurance?
