How Adolph Moonelis Helps Smokers to Save a Million

Adolph Moonelis has jumped into the limelight as the friend of smokers of little cigars. Recently a patent was issued to him which covers a machine and process for rolling tobacco leaves into large thin sheets, the ideal form for cigars and little cigars.

Auto Hits Pedestrian And Driver Does Not Stop

N. T. Edwards, Benson, was knocked to the pavement at Sixteenth and Webster streets by a touring car. The driver failed to stop. He sustained bruises and lacerations, which were dressed by Dr. O. Myers.

Culls From the Wire

Informal discussion of various questions bearing on the future policy of the Methodist Episcopal church marked the opening session at Minneapolis of the board of Baptists, the administrative body of the denomination. Japanese paper manufacturers are able to purchase raw material in Canada and under American manufacturers on the finished products, according to James A. Emery, general counsel of the National Association of Manufacturers, who spoke before the National Machine Tool Builders association's convention at New York.

WORTHY HERITAGE IS LIBERTY'S GUARANTY

John L. Kennedy Gives Patriotic Address at Banquet of Sons of Veterans.

G. A. R. COME AS GUESTS

"What sort of fathers would we have chosen had we been permitted to choose?" This was the question which John L. Kennedy, republican candidate for United States senator, asked the members of Manderson Camp No. 1 of the Sons of Veterans and their friends, who gathered for their annual banquet at the Paxton hotel Wednesday night.

Continuing with his toast, he said: "Not one of us would have chosen a father lacking in courage, for there is no real man without courage. If we could have selected our mothers, we would have chosen courageous mothers, and women of conscience. That man who is the son of a heroic and courageous father and a courageous mother has one of the greatest heritages that can come to any man."

Knew How to Fight.

"Such mothers and such fathers were the parents of the members gathered here tonight. They knew what it meant to cast aside all the ease and pleasure of peace and home and to go and fight that the nation might continue to live. I came to America to get the benefits of these things for which the liberty boys of '76 fought, and which the boys of '61 battled to preserve. The soldiers of the revolutionary war, and of the civil war, and of the war with Spain, fought not for America alone, but for the benefit of the whole world. From these wars, and from the sacrifices of these brave men, benefits will accrue to all humanity throughout all time."

Mercer Views the Record.

The evening was one of patriotic expression throughout, and the stars and stripes, and at each plate fluttered a diminutive American flag. Following the dinner Dave H. Mercer, former congressman from Nebraska, who acted as toastmaster, called attention to the fact that there were gathered there descendants of men who fought with Washington and Jackson, and men who had fought under Lincoln and veterans of the war with Spain. He stated that it was the Spanish-American war that had given America its place among the nations of the world, and that this place meant new duties from which America could not withdraw, for to do so meant to sacrifice that which the boys of '76 and '61 had died to give to America.

Howell for Spanish Vets.

R. B. Howell, whose toast dealt with the Spanish war veterans, told how he offered his services to his country in 1898, and how he was assigned to the United States ship Prairie, which became the flagship of the squadron at Havana. He recalled the spirit of '76 and '61 and 1898 and wondered where that spirit was today. He spoke of the present day as the materialistic, prosperity-loving age.

Boost for Organization.

Deplored the waning of patriotism and the dearth of the spirit which moved the patriots of the past to give their lives for their country, and yet recognizing the importance of an honorable peace, L. W. Hague of Minden, division commander, spoke at some length on the work of establishing camps of the Sons of Veterans in Nebraska.

Asking for the protection of Americans everywhere, and the dignifying of American citizenship, Captain C. E. Adams, veteran of the civil war, and member of the Grand Army of the Republic, told of the sacrifices of '61 to '65, and asked that the sacrifices of that time might not be made in vain.

Jonathan Edwards, who was a veteran of the civil war from the territory of Nebraska, told how from a very small population a large number of men appeared who were willing to give their lives for their country and were not too proud to fight.

G. A. R. Quartet Applauded.

An enthusiastically-applauded feature was the singing by the Grand Army of the Republic quartet, which consists of W. H. Russell, D. M. Haverly, John F. Staley and Emory W. Johnson. Miss Pearl A. Minick was the pianist. The total service of these four old soldiers of the quartet in the civil war was thirteen years. Mr. Russell and Mr. Haverly were prisoners of war in Andersonville and Libby. The committee on arrangements in charge of the banquet and evening's program consisted of L. M. Travis, W. H. Hatteroth and C. E. Richter. Before leaving the banquet room all stood and sang "America," led by the "Boys of '61 Quartet."

Accidentally Shoots Self, Then Takes His Own Life

Ashland, Me., Oct. 26.—The belief that Arthur Raffard, a youthful hunter, deliberately took his own life after he had shot himself accidentally today, was expressed when his body was found. The location of the wounds indicated that the young man received the contents of the gun in the abdomen while trying to remedy some trouble with the weapon. Apparently he then dragged himself about ten rods toward his home, but finding it impossible to reach there, reloaded the gun and shot himself under the left ear.

Lowes Names Conditions On Which He Will Meet Meeker

Rev. Titus Lowe has written to James B. Haynes, secretary of the Prosperity league, accepting the challenge to debate with Congressman Meeker of St. Louis, and naming the date of October 31. Dr. Lowe also specifies that a committee of six, three from each side, be selected to state the question to be debated. Unless the date and the committee are accepted by the Meeker side, Dr. Lowe says he will pay no further attention to the matter.

Death of Americans in Santo Domingo Reveals Wilson Policy

New York, Oct. 26.—(Special Telegram.)—Commenting on the killing of Americans in Santo Domingo, reported in press dispatches from there, George W. Perkins, at republican national headquarters today, said: "The death of American officers in Santo Domingo controverts positively the statement that we are at peace. This peaceful shield behind which Chairman McCormick has been issuing his peaceful statements daily was torn down yesterday in Santo Domingo. "Probably not a fraction of 1 per cent of the population of the United States knows that we are at war with Santo Domingo because of the fact that the whole foreign policy of the Wilson administration has been clothed in the utmost secrecy. None of the military operations in Santo Domingo, Hayti or Nicaragua has been given to the public and the close-

DEMOCRATS TURN AWAY FROM WILSON

Leading Men in Party Are Distressed at His Abandonment of American Rights.

MEXICAN POLICY VITAL

New York, Oct. 26.—(Special Telegram.)—William B. Anderson, one of the most prominent members of the New York bar and a life-long democrat, has enrolled in the National Hughes alliance. In his letter joining the alliance, Mr. Anderson wrote that he had always voted the democratic national ticket except when Bryan ran against McKinley. He voted for Wilson in 1912.

"The conviction has been growing in me very strongly during the last year," he said, "that we can no longer look for distasteful motives in Mr. Wilson's official acts. His vacillating, uncertain, weak Mexican policy, his attitude first against and then for, then against honest preparedness is not indicative of a man of principle acting with a mind singly for his country's good, but rather of a man seeking the easiest way out of difficulties, afraid to decide lest he might offend one body of citizens, or another, a man unable to make strong friends and yet seemingly fearful of making enemies, always self-conscious and viewing all public questions chiefly from the standpoint of their relation to himself; and then at the last coming the crowning positive proof of his weakness and self-interest, his settlement, 'God save the mark!' of the railroad controversy.

Yields Under Threat.

"A man who hands over his own property under a bare threat is bad enough, but one who turns over some million of dollars belonging to other people under like circumstances is not the type that I have learned to admire, nor do I believe that any honest man, even among those benefited by his act, will respect him for it.

Honor Above Politics.

"I have not ceased to be a democrat, but I place national honor above party politics. That is the declaration of James H. Blount of Macon, Ga., in response to an invitation to join the Wilson and Marshall Democratic association of Washington.

Judge Blount is one of the most widely-known democrats in the country. He is the son of "Paramount" Blount, who was in congress for many years and who investigated the insurrection in Hawaii for President Cleveland. Judge Blount was a volunteer officer in the Cuban campaign, Spanish-American war, serving as General Wood's judge advocate general at Santiago. Afterward he served in the Philippines and was commended for bravery in action. Later he was judge of the court of first instance in the Philippines and did much to break up outlawry in the southern provinces. He was the personal envoy of President Wilson in an investigation of the trouble in Hawaii, having practically the same powers as John Lind in Mexico.

"Too Much of 'High Brow'."

"Mr. Wilson's handling of the Mexican situation and its collateral issues, to say nothing of our matters, has convinced me, much against my will, that he ought not to be re-elected president," said Judge Blount. "A man who will stand by an idle spectator, watchfully waiting while his neighbor's house is being burned, the neighbor murdered and the neighbor's wife and daughters outraged by beasts in human form and excuse his non-interference on the technicality that to go to the rescue might involve trespass is too much of a 'high brow' for me.

"The most important issue before the American people in this campaign, in my judgment, is our future policy toward Mexico, intimately related as it is to our future relations with the rest of the countries to the south of us and to the question of how far they may murder our citizens sojourning in their territory."

TO END CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmit (double strength), and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and 4 ounces of granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop sneezing into the throat. Directions to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Any one who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

PLAYS WILSON AND POLICY

Chicago, Oct. 26.—(Special Telegram.)—The Chicago Daily News, independent in politics, one of the largest newspapers in the afternoon field, today declared for Charles E. Hughes for president. The announcement is the more remarkable because the Daily News heretofore has made it a custom never to endorse the candidacy of any one for any office except a day or two before election. The News advocated both the nomination and election of Woodrow Wilson for president four years ago. In explaining its change of position in a leading editorial published today, the Daily News says:

"Certain characteristics of this remarkable chief executive of the nation, characteristics clearly revealed by his official course has led him into actions that appear to the Daily News to be subversive of popular government and even of the foundations of public order and safety. Therefore, it believes that the interests of the republic require the retirement of Mr. Wilson from the presidency at the end of his present term of office."

Takes Up Adamson Law.

"In the opinion of the Daily News the safety of the nation and the integrity of its institutions cannot wisely be entrusted to President Wilson for another term. Relative to his method of dealing with the strike threat of the railroad brotherhoods the editorial says: "President Wilson most clearly disclosed his policy of government. That perilous policy of following the line of least resistance is shown here in its perfection. Here is also shown the destructiveness of the form of statesmanship which deals with a crisis by postponing the day of settlement, and at the same time, by weakening established safeguards, augmenting the elements of danger contained in it. President Wilson chose to assume that the question involved was that of the establishment of the eight-hour day, though the eight-hour day in reality had nothing to do with it.

Stealing Autos Not The Industry it Was One Time in Omaha

Examination of police records during the last week show that in that time, not a single automobile has been stolen in Omaha. Several were "borrowed" for a few hours by joyriders, but recovered the same day. The reason advanced for this is the wholesale recovery of stolen cars last week, and the arrest of nearly twenty persons accused of being implicated in the thefts of cars. For nearly three months, from two to half a dozen complaints were made daily to police headquarters, by victims of auto thieves.

Chicago, Oct. 26.—The increase in thefts of automobiles here from insignificant in 1911 to excess of $1,200,000 thus far in 1916, was shown in a report by the police department today. The thefts since January 1, 1916, were 2,571 cars and the total for the year were 8,023 cars, of which 6,669 were recovered. Insurance companies have paid $500,000 in theft losses this year and the premiums in insurance against automobile theft alone have been more than $5,000,000.

Has Three Spouses Living, Undivorced, She Wants Another

Kitty Lundell, a resident of "Strawberry flats," serving sixty days for disorderly conduct, last night declared that she has three husbands living in Omaha, each of whom she is not divorced. "I never got a divorce from any of 'em," she boasted. "I don't think they ever divorced me, either. I've deserted them all, and when I get out of jail, I'm going to clean the slate and get married again, if I can find the right sort of man." Her confession is being investigated.
