

SDROPPER GETS REFULL OF GOSSIP

Jots umw'n a Few of the Short Sayings Just to Give You a Little Laugh.

SOME TALK AS THEY WALK

By A. R. GROH. Far be it from me to be an eavesdropper. I hope I am too much of a gentleman for that. But—

As one strolls along the streets among the crowds of people fragments of conversation are bound to reach one's ears. You've noticed that. And so, just for fun, I jotted down a few fragments for the very laudable purpose of giving you a few moments of enjoyment.

Fragment No. 1. "Well, we'll go out and see those two little wrens to-night, will we?" This from one of two youths stationed in front of a cigar store. ("Stationed" is right. They're always there.)

Fragment No. 2. "Why didn't you go over while you was up there?" No. 3. "No, suh, she ain't married!" This was uttered by one colored man to another. They were driving along in a one-horse, ramshackle wagon at Fifteenth and Douglas and spoke so loud that all could hear.

Compliments Weather. No. 4. "This is quite like California." A middle-aged woman to her (apparent) husband. A compliment to our weather.

No. 5. "He's a fine fellow; we've had lots of drinks together." The dramatic personae here were two men at Sixteenth and Farnam.

No. 6. "I think we'd better order five apiece." This from two young men, walking rapidly down Farnam street.

No. 7. "The things you've been hearing about me certainly isn't true." Thus spoke a woman to a man as the unintentional eavesdropper passed them at Fourteenth and Farnam.

No. 8. "It isn't what we need, it's what we want that keeps us hustling." A bit of philosophical wisdom from the lips of a business man you would probably know if I mentioned his name. He spoke to some other man as they walked west in front of the Omaha National bank building.

Just Fine. No. 9. "Just fine. How're you?" No. 10. "Don't nag at him for every little thing he does." Two women and a 6-year-old boy walking in front of the Burgess-Nash store. I calculated it was the sister of the boy's mother who did the speaking.

No. 11. "I don't want to go out there an' make a bad impression." Two 16-year-old youths, giggling in front of the Beaton drug store and evidently discussing a first call at a house where lives a dear creature.

No. 12. "Mamma, was I awful sick last night?" Two women, talking.

No. 13. "It don't seem like there's any justice any more." Two men.

No. 14. "I wouldn't stand for it." Two girls.

No. 15. "She's coming three days a week and that's all we can get her." Two women evidently wrestling with the servant problem.

No. 16. "Someone's attention should be called to it." A couple of improvement-clubbers.

That 'is all for today, ladies and gentlemen. Thanking you, one and all, for your kind attention, I bid a kind good-night.

Man and Wife Face White Slave Charge

Charged with conspiracy to violate the Mann white slave law and also with its actual violation, Mr. and Mrs. Milford Baker, who motored here from San Francisco, were the central figures in a hearing yesterday before United States Commissioner Charles F. McLaughlin.

Counsel for the woman and her husband moved a dismissal of the charges, claiming that the government had not established its case beyond a reasonable doubt. After lengthy arguments, the commissioner continued the hearing until Monday to give him time to examine a stenographic report of the evidence.

Witnesses examined were: Kitty Harwood, 1513 Burt street; Charles Walker, proprietor of the Fontenelle garage; Cleo Cecil, 3314 Decatur street; Walter Jardine, one of the proprietors of the Hotel Edward; Malvin H. Hutchinson, a driver in the service of the Schlitz Taxi company; Jefferson R. Cooley, who operates a taxi stand at the Hotel Edward, and Marshall Eberstein of the Department of Justice.

North Side Women Will Build New Club House

Women of the north side have been bitten by those grow-with-growing-Omaha bacilli. They are going to build a $15,000 clubhouse, a project which their men folk started a year ago. It will stand on three lots in Mine Lusa addition at the corner of Redick avenue and Florence boulevard. The site was given by Charles W. Martin. Everett S. Dodds is the architect.

The club will be finished by January 15 if present plans mature. Active members will be those who buy shares in the club. Associate members will have to pay dues. All-year amusement is planned. A large dance hall, bowling alleys, dining room, billiard room and reception room will help to promote sociability.

Mrs. Fred M. Crane is president of the women's committee in charge. Mrs. A. L. Shantz is vice president; Mrs. A. P. Smith, secretary; Mrs. F. N. High, treasurer. Mrs. W. H. Flinn is business manager. The advisory board consists of Mrs. Cuthbert Vincent and these men: Charles W. Martin, Charles Gratton, Edward R. Burke.

Burglars Get Nothing At Big Furniture Plant

Burglars climbed a fire escape of the Beebe & Runyan Furniture company, Ninth and Dodge streets; gained entrance to the place by forcing a window, knocked the combination from a large safe and forced open eighteen office desks. Nothing was discovered missing.

You Will Get Instant Relief. Dr. Bell's Fine-Tar-Honey soothes your cough, allays inflammation, loosens the croup and you breathe much better. 25c. All druggists.—Advertisement.

Omaha Nurse Figures in Second Arrest of Gleason

Charles E. Gleason, a commercial traveler, is again under arrest, charged with having impersonated a government official. He was taken in custody by United States deputy marshals under an indictment returned by the recent grand jury. Federal officials assert that Gleason, who resides in Iowa, represented himself to be a secret service agent to Miss Jessie Sulzer, a nurse of Omaha, and that after he had gained her confidence he induced her to give him a valuable diamond ring.

This is Gleason's second arrest on the same charge. Some time ago he was taken into custody, but was discharged after a hearing before United States Commissioner Charles F. McLaughlin.

MAN CLAIMS WOMAN PROPOSED TO HIM

Jury to Hear Case Wherein Mary Bettner is Suing for a Breach of Promise.

The alleged love affairs of Mary Bettner and George Alpine are to be aired in Judge Wakenley's court as soon as a jury is impaneled. The woman is the plaintiff in a breach of promise suit brought against Alpine, who has a wife in Austria-Hungary. She asks damages to the amount of $2,999, alleging that he proposed to her.

Following the filing of the Bettner woman's petition, Alpine worked into the records of the clerk of the district court with a counter claim, asking $5,000 damages from the plaintiff in the original petition.

His version of the courtship is that she proposed to him. In his counter claim Alpine charges that she came to his house late at night and humiliated him in front of his neighbors.

Omaha Whist Sharps Clash With Bluffs

Whist sharps of Omaha and Council Bluffs will clash this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the headquarters of the Omaha Whist club in the Continental building, Fifteenth and Douglas streets, in an inter-city match. Members of the Omaha Ladies' Prairie Park, Omaha and Council Bluffs Whist clubs will take part. All players intending to take part are urged to be on hand before 2 o'clock.

Thirty Model Autos To Be Exhibited at Closed Car Salon

The first annual Omaha closed car salon, the first event of its kind ever held in the United States, will be held November 1 to 4, inclusive, in the Brandeis stores.

The cars will be displayed along the main aisle on the main floor of the store. This is the aisle which extends from the entrance at Sixteenth and Douglas streets to the Pompano room west of Seventeenth and is said to be the longest mercantile aisle in the country.

The salon will include a complete showing of closed automobiles for winter driving. Over thirty machines will be exhibited by as many dealers. Ordinarily an admission is charged to automobile exhibitions, but the

Archbishop Harty's Sailing Postponed

Archbishop Jeremiah J. Harty, new head of the Omaha diocese, will not be installed Thanksgiving day.

Monignor Colaneri received from the archbishop at Manila, P. I., a telegram reading: "Will arrive Vancouver December 16; defer installation accordingly." It is possible now that his installation will be on Christmas day or New Year's day. It will take place in St. Cecilia's cathedral.

Omaha Automobile Show Association, which is holding the closed car salon, has decided to make an innovation and have the admission absolutely free of cost.

The salon will be held from 8:30 in the morning until 9 o'clock at night each of the four days.

Hughes Will Carry Nebraska Says J. W. Wadsworth

New York, Oct. 27.—United States Senator James W. Wadsworth, jr., of New York has returned from a speaking tour, bringing encouraging reports as to conditions in the middle west. He said:

"A great battle has been waging in Nebraska. In that state as well as in all the great agricultural districts the farmers and business men in the prospect of increased freight rates which are bound to result from the passage of the Adamson law. Men who are thoroughly acquainted with the situation say that Mr. Hughes and Mr. Kennedy, the republican candidate for United States senator, will win Nebraska by from 30,000 to 40,000."
