New York, Oct. 28.—Republican campaign contributions up to October 23, inclusive, totalled $1,667,757.29, according to the national committee's report of receipts and disbursements made public here today by Cornelius N. Bliss, jr., treasurer of the committee. This amount came from 22,226 contributors.

The report which, under the law, must be filed in Washington not later than ten days before election, shows that the disbursements up to the night of October 23 were $1,578,934.38.

Western Farmers Buy Calves to Winter Them

Holdrege, Neb., Oct. 28.—(Special.)—Two hundred and twenty head of calves and yearlings were sold at auction yesterday afternoon at the stock yards in blocks of ten and fifteen to near-by farmers, who expect to rough them through the winter and sell them from grass next summer. Prices averaged about $35.

WORKS WHERE X-RAY FAILS

New Discovery in Medical Photography Will Show Ailments of Living Organs.

The British Medical Journal announces that a remarkable scientific discovery is now on trial at one of the casualty clearing stations in France.

The inventor is James Shearer, a Scotchman, 20 years old, a sergeant in the medical corps and working at the casualty clearing station.

The new discovery, the Journal says, appears to succeed just where X-ray photography fails. It produces pictures of structures hidden far below the surface of the body just at the point where X-ray photography ceases to perform effectively. In other words, the new work attempts a delineation, not of dense structures such as bones, but of living soft organs.

By means of this discovery it is possible in broad daylight to obtain detailed pictures of any organ or body, brain, liver, kidneys and spleen, and to see at a glance by what gross lesions they are affected. Thus it is possible to see blood vessels in the brain, to observe a blood clot on that organ, to detect abscesses in the liver and wounds or cuts in any organ. In one case a concretion in the appendix was seen clearly when the picture was complete.

The actual finished photos are remarkable and show blood vessels in the brain in detail, also wounds, but not the actual brain substance. In other words, differences, such as diseased areas, are shown.

The apparatus works as long as the body is alive, and even until molecular death has occurred. After that it does not work.—Toronto Globe.

Like Our Holog

A neutral diplomat gives an account in the Current Magazine of his conversation with the crown prince of Prussia, apparently during his visit to London. The prince's way of asking for frank, informal answers to his questions was: "None of the big gun, as the Yankees say; give me the straight goods."

Both expressions, as he confessed with a grin, he had picked up from a next little filly from Kentucky. "He had seen at Oxford."

Juvenile Logic. "It was a private entertainment, and a lady had just risen from the piano. "Would you like to be able to sing and play as I do dear?" she queried of a little 5-year-old child.

"No ma'am," was the unexpected reply. "And why not?" asked the lady. "Child," answered the small observer, "I wouldn't like to have people say such horrid things about me."—Indianapolis Star.

BRITAIN INSISTS ON RIGHT OF BLACKLIST

Answer to American Note Stands By Power to Restrict Activity of Its Citizens.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Great Britain's note in reply to American representations against the commercial blacklist was received today at the State department. Arrangements regarding its publication will be made later. It is understood to reiterate the contention for the right to blacklist, but offers methods of relief to Americans in certain circumstances.

The British note is in reply to the American note of July 28, which denounced the blacklist as "an arbitrary interference with neutral trade" and "inconsistent with true justice, sincere amity and international fairness which should characterize the dealings of friendly governments with one another."

Some Names Removed. The names of some American firms already have been taken from the blacklist and the note is understood to afford means of removing others.

The British note is understood to take the line of argument it is unprecedented for a neutral to claim that a belligerent should in effect compel its subjects to trade with the enemy, and that it violates no law for the British government to prevent its subjects from doing so.

While the British government admits the rights of all persons in neutral countries to engage in legitimate commercial transactions, it argues that such a right does not limit the right of other governments to restrict the activities of their own nationals.

Crux of Controversy. The point at issue in the controversy is whether the nationality or domicile of the owner of goods gives character as neutral or belligerent. Previously Great Britain and the United States have agreed that domicile was decisive regardless of nationality. The continental European position has been that nationality was decisive. In the previous negotiations over the blacklist Great Britain took a position between the two theories.

The subject probably will be carried on in further diplomatic correspondence.

MEXICAN CHARGES WILSON WITH LAX BORDER METHODS

exportation of arms and munitions is proved by the fact that during the early days of the Carranza revolt against the usurper Huerta, these laws were enforced with an almost cruel rigidity against Carranza.

That the law governing the conduct of undesirable aliens can be enforced is proved at Ellis Island and throughout the United States every day in the year.

Activity, energy, vigilance and persistence can correct the situation. Indifference, carelessness and heedless liberality can only make a bad case worse.

Smith Takes Wilson To Task for Talks

Victor Wilson, candidate for state railway commission, on the democratic ticket, now has Attorney General P. Smith of Omaha to answer to.

Wilson in his efforts to beat Henry Clarke for re-election has said much about Nebraska freight rates.

"I have heard," said Smith, "that Wilson claims the reason the state commission lost the rate case before the Interstate Commerce commission was because it failed to make a physical valuation of the railroads."

"I want to say that I know something about that case and that the matter of physical valuation never entered into it. The commission merely said 'The rates are discriminatory and you can either raise them in Nebraska or lower those coming into the state from across the river.' As a matter of fact the Nebraska commission used the valuation made by the state board of equalization, which showed clearly that the roads in Nebraska were making over 10 per cent on their investment here, but that valuation never entered into the matter with the Interstate Commerce commission.

"Yes, I'm a democrat, too," continued Smith, "but I don't like to see such misstatement of fact like that."

Sentence of Captain Waring is Commuted

Washington, Oct. 28.—President Wilson has commuted the sentence of dismissal from the army imposed by court-martial in Hawaii upon Captain John B. H. Waring, medical corps, to a loss of twenty-five numbers.

NEW YORK DEMOS CALL UPON WILSON

President in His Address Advocates Reform of Courts and Permanent Peace.

WANTS VOTES FOR WOMEN

Long Branch, N. J., Oct. 28.—Making his motto "Co-operation," President Wilson spoke here today at the principal meeting of a series of gatherings in many states arranged by the democratic national committee in celebration of "Wilson day."

The occasion was also known as "Empire State day" here, because delegations of organization democrats, independents, progressives and women from New York journeyed on special trains to greet the president and assure him of their support.

The president spoke for woman suffrage, declared that "American law has not kept pace with American sentiment" and that "what is legal has begun to play a more important part in our thoughts and determinations than what is human and right," outlined the legislative achievements of his administration and sketched broadly a program for the future, including the making of "courts of justice out of our courts of law," and the establishment of permanent peace.

Mr. Wilson's address was delivered to the largest gathering yet assembled at Shadow Lawn to hear his Saturday campaign speeches.

BRYAN DEMOCRATS FIGHT HITCHCOCK

convention were rebuked by the democrats of the nation. Mr. Bryan was made the hero of the occasion and is today leading the fight that will re-elect Woodrow Wilson president of the United States.

"Democrats are now being urged to support Mr. Hitchcock in order to secure his vote in the senate for administration measures and to elect Mr. Neville to hold the democratic party together. Mr. Hitchcock has not supported President Wilson when the president has needed him during the last three years. He did not carry out the instructions entrusted to him by the president to tell the democratic voters of Nebraska that the president wanted Mr. Bryan elected as a delegate to the St. Louis convention, and we have no assurance that he would carry out the instructions given him by the voters of Nebraska this year to stand by President Wilson if he would be returned to the senate."

"Mr. Neville says frankly that he is opposed to the prohibition amendment and that he intends to vote against its adoption.

Brewers Back Both. The election of Mr. Hitchcock and Mr. Neville, who are being supported by the brewers, distillers and saloon keepers would set up the standard of the brewery as the standard of democracy in Nebraska.

"Mr. Bryan's leadership has been a moral leadership. Are the democrats ready to repudiate Mr. Bryan's leadership along moral lines and accept the leadership of the brewers along immoral lines?"

"We are heartily supporting President Wilson and believe he will carry Nebraska by an overwhelming major-

The Indiana Dental College is one of the best in the United States. It has always been.

Today less than 15 are in the practice of Dentistry (all but 2 are living), and the one great reason is—They failed to select their proper calling. Many men in Dentistry were never meant for this Profession.

There's plenty of room in any city for the Dentist who knows.

Keeping Yourself Well

When Nerves Complain Sleeplessness, depression and tense nerves are symptoms of a disordered stomach nine times out of ten. They mean that food is not disposed of promptly by that organ, and that it remains in the intestine, generating gas and acids, which in turn inflame the linings and cause them to secrete an unhealthy, acid discharge. These fluids find their way to the blood and every nerve tingles.

Restore the digestion, remove the inflammation, clean out the undigested food, and the first step is taken toward steady nerves. Usually nature will do the rest.

Peruna is the ideal tonic for such conditions. Gently laxative, it removes the waste, dispels the inflammation, relieves the digestion and thus balances the nerves to their appointed work. The blood is purified; the nerves are properly fed; courage and calm follow; you sleep well, and you are soon well.

Peruna Tablets often are more convenient than liquid form. Manalin is an ideal laxative. It should always be at hand for the first symptoms of lethargy or liver or bowels. Liquid or dry tablets.
