MEEKER SUGGESTS WAY TO SAVE GIRLS

Anti-Prohibition Speaker Says It Is Not Saloon That Sends All to Ruin.

PLAIN POINTS IN SPEECH

To anyone who can find a reference to prohibition in the Bible, Congressman Jacob E. Meeker of St. Louis will give a ten-dollar bill, so he announced to a large audience at the Boyd theater Friday. He had the Bible right on the stage. He had a typewritten copy of all the references to wines and drink in the Bible, and he also had the ten-dollar bill in his hand. He put the bill and the typewritten references in the Bible and had laid them on the table after he had issued the challenge. "To be sure," he said, "the Bible is against intemperance. It is also against gluttony. If a man dies from drink there is a great hue and cry about it. On the other hand if he digs his grave with his teeth, we say, 'Whereas a wise providence has seen fit to remove from our midst, our beloved brother, etc.' That's the tribute paid to gluttony."

Dry Laws Futile.

Mr. Meeker touched on the impossibility of making Nebraska dry by merely voting for the prohibition amendment. "Why do you want to quit buying it in retail quantities and begin buying it wholesale, if you want to put Nebraska on the water wagon?" he asked. "When you're buying it by the nickel and dime's worth, why begin buying it by $5 worth, if you're headed for the water wagon?"

"Why do you talk about liquor killing people, and then put a clause in your proposed constitutional amendment providing that you can get this liquor for medicine? Do you want to kill all the sick people?"

"You women, look here, why are you making some sixty-two manufacturers of patent medicines millionaires, when their medicine contains from 20 per cent to 60 per cent alcohol? Why are you doing this and complaining when dealers are selling your husband beer with 2 1/2 per cent alcohol? If they took the alcohol out of these bitters and various patent medicines you women are taking, they couldn't force them down your throats with a crowbar."

"When a woman gets sick, did you ever hear of a doctor ordering her to cut out beer because it was making her nervous? I didn't. But you have heard him order her to cut out tea and coffee, because it was making her nervous, and you have heard him prescribe malt."

show that of all classes of women that are brought before the courts in the United States, 76.6 per cent were servant girls.

"I'm not asking you now 'where is your wandering boy tonight?' I'm asking you where is your hired girl this minute? You don't know and you don't care. The school teachers, the department store girls, the stenographers, and all other classes have privileges this girl has not. They can go home from the office, walk into the front door of anyone's home, sit down and play the piano and enjoy a social evening with the family. But the hired girl is met at the front door by the boss of the house, who says, 'You get around to the back door where you belong, and stay in the kitchen; and go up the back stairs. Then she is given the worst room in the house to sleep in."

Hired Girl's Parlor

Where do these girls find their companions? When a man comes to call on one of them, she can entertain him in the kitchen. If he don't like to sit on the wash tub he can sit in the sink. If he don't like either, they can go outside and walk up and down the sidewalk. If they're tired of that, they can go to the dance hall. There are those three places open to them. While the young people have to sit in the kitchen or go out to the dance hall, where's the lady of the house? She's gone to some reform meeting.

"I tell you the treatment you're giving your hired girl is what's driving girls to ruin; and you have been taught to think it was the saloons. Yes, and you women thought you could save them by marching at the head of a prohibition parade."

"Less than 5 per cent of the people of Nebraska have read this initiative amendment, and yet some have gone into hysterics about it. They don't know what it contains. You're asked to vote for a law that would tie the hands of every honest prohibitionist that would ever hope to see the light of day in Nebraska."

Will Not Destroy Trade.

"I'll defy any man to read this amendment, and then say that before his God he believes there'll be one bit less liquor sold in Nebraska under this than at the present time."

"You don't see Frances Willard quoted any more in Woman's Christian Temperance union literature. For many years she was president of the organization. Why don't you see her quoted by them anymore? Because before she died, when she became an old woman, she declared that she had been wrong during the forty years she was preaching prohibition. She stood up in her declining years and declared, 'I have discovered that men are not poor because they drink, but that they drink because they are poor.'"

Case of Kansas.

"Jesus of Nazareth found that moral legalism is a failure. He declared that when he came to earth, and he told the people to get the evil out of their hearts instead of trying to legislate it out of the world. 'And it is so in Kansas. Kansas has had a prohibition law for many years, and it has already passed 1,509 separate laws to enforce prohibition."

The speaker was well received, with much hand clapping, and frequent laughter as he cut through with his keen witticisms, as well as sarcasm. The house was full, and a fringe three-deep stood around the back of the room.

In his introduction, L. F. Crofoot, who introduced the speaker gave some figures of the criminal and insane records from Kansas and Nebraska, seeking to show that Kansas, a prohibition state has more of these than Nebraska, a wet state.

Until two weeks ago Omaha had but one motorcycle club. Now there are two.

As the result of dissatisfaction in the ranks, the original organization, the Omaha Motorcycle club, was disbanded two weeks ago, but since then both factions have formed new organizations.

At a meeting of forty motorcycle enthusiasts at Twenty-seventh and Leavenworth streets a club, a name for which has not been selected, was formed and officers were elected. Morley Young was chosen president; W. S. Hellar, vice president; Carl L. Peterson, secretary; Carl Wandborg, assistant secretary and treasurer; Tom Kelly, sergeant-at-arms, and Victor H. Roos, Art Hughes and Carl Pedersen, members of the house committee.

Wilson's Day

PRESIDENT WILSON began his administration by surrounding himself with incompetents. Men were selected for cabinet positions for political reasons and to pay pre-election bargains; although they were admittedly unfit for the national responsibilities imposed.

American lives and national honor on land and sea have been unprotected.

He has destroyed a world tradition in diplomacy that America means what it says.

He has alienated from America the good will of most of the nations of Europe.

He has dealt insincerely with foreign questions and has failed to settle finally a single one.

He has waged war in Mexico in a manner that has stamped our people as cowards in the minds of the Mexicans. He demanded a salute to our flag and didn't get it; he went after Villa and didn't get him.

He has allowed Mexican bandits to obtain American arms with which they sacked our towns, killed our soldiers and murdered our citizens.

He has not kept us out of war but he has kept us unprepared to keep war out of America.

He promised to reduce the number of federal office holders and has added thirty thousand to their number.

His promise to protect merit in the Civil Service has been broken, and his insincerity in the protection of the merit system is proved.

In time of peace he filled America with bread lines, and demands re-election because in time of war Europe has filled our factories with orders which it will cease to place the moment peace is declared. Destiny not Democracy is alone responsible for present prosperity.

His pledges to reduce the cost of living can be measured today in the light of the highest prices ever known in our history.

He has sown international antagonism which will plague us for generations.

He has fathered a Democratic tariff that threw hundreds of thousands of men out of work in the first months of his administration. The same tariff is still in force and it will have the same disastrous results after the war.

He has failed to keep the faith.
