

Nebraska RECORDS DISPROVE CLAIMS OF WILSON

Democratic Candidate Shown Not to Have Been Author of Guaranty Law.

ALBERT PAID FOR WORK

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

Lincoln, Oct. 29.—(Special.)—The claim of Victor E. Wilson, democratic candidate for state railway commissioner that he was the author of the state guaranty law is being questioned even by the members of his own party and especially by the friends of Judge I. L. Albert of Columbus, who is said to be just a little peeved because Wilson is claiming all the glory for the passage of the law, when the facts, borne out by the records of the 1909 sessions do not disclose that the bill even bore the name of Victor E. Wilson, but on the other hand was introduced by the banking committee, of which Representative Charles Graff was chairman and bears his name, with the information introduced by Charles Graff and point committee on banking.

A further perusal of the House Journal covering banking legislation, discloses that a bank guaranty bill introduced by Mr. Wilson was indefinitely postponed.

It is also well known that the officers of the state treasury were drawn on for the purpose of paying I. L. Albert of Columbus, a democrat, $250 for drawing up the bill and getting it in shape so it would stand alone.

Now Mr. Wilson is claiming, so it is understood, that Mr. Albert took the bill postponed by the house and reported it to the committee as Mr. Wilson had drawn it. If the claims of Mr. Wilson are correct, Mr. Albert was paid $250 for doing nothing and it is this claim of Mr. Wilson which friends of Mr. Albert are objecting to.

In the meantime Mr. Wilson goes ahead making the claim that he was the author of the bill, while the records of the session show that his attempts at authorship of a bank guaranty bill were squelched by the indefinite postponement route and a joint banking committee with the help of Mr. Albert introduced the bill which eventually became a law and is now on the statute books.

Lamb Feeders to Meet at Varsity Farm Tuesday

Lincoln, Oct. 29.—(Special.)—Some 150 sheep feeders and growers are expected to attend the annual "Lamb Feeders' Day" to be held here under the auspices of the animal husbandry department of the University of Nebraska at the university farm on October 31.

The program starts shortly after noon with an inspection of show steers to be exhibited by the university at the International Live Stock show at Chicago. Talks will be given by professors and by prominent feeders. Results obtained in feeding experiments this year will be discussed, and lambs used in this feeding work will be on exhibition.

The program includes Theodore Johnson of Burnham, manager of the Burnham stock yards; James Haug, Shelton, president of the Nebraska Sheep Feeders' association, and W. A. McCullough, Central City, one of the biggest sheep feeders in the state. Visitors will also get a chance to inspect the experimental lots of sheep which will be fed this winter by the experiment station.

County Institute Dates for November

Lincoln, Oct. 29.—(Special.)—About 175 separate farmers' institutes are included in the work undertaken by the University of Nebraska agricultural extension service this year. These will be held in small towns, on country farms or in country churches. Instruction is given by one man and one woman from the extension service and the program lasts one day. A series of these institutes are scheduled for November, as follows:

In counties where there are county Colfax County—Schuyler, November 2, 3, 4; Dunning, November 4; Raymond, November 1, 2, 3; Red Cloud, November 14, 15, 16, 17; Bartlett, November 14; Erlson, November 12; Davis Creek church (North Loup), November 17.

Mrs. Walmer Heads District Women's Clubs

Missouri Valley, Ia., Oct. 29.—(Special.)—A two days' session of the Federated Clubs of the Ninth district closed here Saturday with an attendance of 300. The next meeting will be held at Greenfield in 1917. Mrs. Charles G. Walmer of Atlantic was selected as district chairman for the ensuing year. Addresses, reports on what different clubs in the district are doing, the music by the Treble Clef and the musicians from a distance were features of the meeting, likewise the address of Prof. K. G. Smith of Ames on "Vocational Education." This address was interesting, instructive and highly appreciated.

Soldiers' Home Notes

Grand Island, Neb., Oct. 28.—(Special.)—Mrs. Ellen Gleason left Burkett yesterday morning for Omaha, where she expects to visit for ten days.

Dr. J. Roush took his departure for a few days' visit at Wayne, Neb.

Those returning from furiously are Mrs. Sarah Fowler, Mrs. Frank Welner and Mrs. Weibly Rhoads.

Mrs. Pardo's daughter, a resident of Omaha, is visiting with her in the West hospital this week.

Mrs. John Ott yesterday received a message telling of the death of her nephew in New Mexico. The body will be shipped to Blue City, Ia., for interment.

Joseph B. Witter, late of Company K, Forty-seventh Illinois Infantry, passed away the forepart of the week, and his body was laid to rest on Wednesday in the cemetery at Juanita, Neb. He was a native of Ohio, and was admitted to the home from Adams county.

Wesley T. Wilcox Pays Fine Tribute To John L. Kennedy

North Platte, Neb., Oct. 28.—(Special.)—A tribute to John L. Kennedy of Omaha, republican candidate for United States senator, is paid by W. T. Wilcox, a prominent attorney of this city, in a letter appearing in Friday's issue of The North Platte Telegraph. Mr. Wilcox's letter follows:

"North Platte, Neb., Oct. 27.—Mr. Editor: I want to say a word for John L. Kennedy, who without much doubt will be the next senator from Nebraska. Few people in this state have known Mr. Kennedy longer than I. I have known him rather intimately since the fall of 1881. At that time he was a young man attending law school; like most of the members of the class he was without any of this world's goods, but he was endowed with ability, honesty and industry. He was popular with all the boys, and the acknowledged leader of the class. Mr. Kennedy was not born with a silver spoon in his mouth. He was not then and he is not now an aristocrat. What he has obtained is by reason of those qualities which he knew he possessed thirty-five years ago.

"His success should be an inspiration to every young man who has to make his own way in the world. He is an ideal candidate for the office of United States senator."

"W. T. WILCOX."

News Notes of Peru.

Rev. Charles A. Carman, pastor of the Baptist church, has tendered his resignation in order to accept a call to Shenandoah, Ia. His congregation reluctantly accepted his resignation, to take effect November 15.

L. I. Todd, who has been employed in the office of the "Peru Interests," seems to have mysteriously disappeared. He accompanied his wife as far as Lincoln on her way to Theford to attend her father's funeral. At Lincoln he visited with relatives, leaving there a week ago last Thursday for Peru. Mrs. Todd returned to Peru Thursday, but nothing has been seen or heard of her husband.

Hon. T. W. Blackburn of Omaha has been chosen toastmaster for the Peru banquet during the Teachers' association week. Speakers at the banquet will be persons who attended the normal in the sixties and seventies. Hon. D. C. Cole, an early settler here, will tell the story of the visit to Peru of John Brown in the days of the "underground railroad."

Tuesday is "political day" in Peru. William Jennings Bryan speaks in the forenoon and Congressman C. F. Reavis in the evening. Arrangements have been made by the "drys" for an old-fashioned political rally, with fireworks and torchlight parade on the Saturday evening preceding election.

The recent freeze destroyed about ten carloads of apples, which had not been picked, in several orchards of this vicinity.

North Platt Sunset Social.

North Platte, Neb., Oct. 29.—(Special.)—Fifty-five grey-haired pioneers of Lincoln county sat down to table at the Presbyterian church here where the second annual sunset social, given by the women of the town, took place. None of the guests were under 70 years of age, with the exception of Mrs. E. R. Plummer, who originated the sunset social here and who was the guest of honor. W. H. Blalock, 87 years old, was the oldest person at the banquet. Charles McDonald of the McDonald State bank, Lincoln county's oldest resident, who celebrated his ninetieth birthday Wednesday, being in Omaha at the time of the banquet.

Funeral of Fred Echtenkamp.

Arlington, Neb., Oct. 29.—(Special.)—The funeral services of Mr. Fred Echtenkamp, prominent business man of this city, who died here Thursday morning from typhoid pneumonia, was held this afternoon at the St. Paul Lutheran church here. Mr. Echtenkamp was a prominent and influential citizen of Arlington. In a business way he made Arlington famous as a market for good seed corn. He is universally known in the community for his good deeds and many acts of kindness.

OMAHA BREAKING OWN GRAIN RECORD

Nine Months' Record This Year Eclipses Twelve Months of Last Year.

PREDICT 75,000,000 BU.

Omaha received more bushels of grain in the first nine months of this year than it received in all the twelve months of 1915.

At the close of September the receipts in bushels were 56,526,140, while the entire year of 1915 brought in but 53,555,800.

Judging from the volume of grain raised in Nebraska this year, it is probable that the grain receipts for Omaha will approximate 75,000,000 bushels this year.

The receipts in the month of September alone ran practically 50 per cent ahead of the receipts of the previous September. There were 4,540,200 bushels in September, 1915, and 6,758,200 bushels in September, 1916.

The first nine months of the present year brought in 47,143 carloads of grain, as against 27,520 the first nine months of the previous year.

Wheat's Big Grain.

The biggest gains in receipts were made in wheat. In the period of the first nine months of 1915, 7,436,400 were received, and in the parallel period this year, 27,630,840 bushels were received.

The receipts in oats in the past September were alone 100 per cent greater than the receipts of September a year ago.

Oats, too, runs far ahead in receipts for the corresponding nine months' period. The figures are:

First nine months of 1915..... 6,820,989
First nine months for 1916..... 13,992,399

The receipts in corn this year have thus far not gone as high as for the same period last year, but with the large crop of corn now being gathered in the state, and the high price being offered, it is expected that the receipts will come up rapidly as soon as the weather gets cold enough to make corn shell good.

Rates Retard Growth.

Thus Omaha is constantly leaping forward as a great primary grain market, in spite of the disadvantage of railroad rates. Omaha has thus become a great grain market in spite of the rates, not on account of the Kansas City and Minneapolis still have all the better of Omaha in the grain rate discriminations. This is true to such an extent that very large quantities of the grain grown in the southern part of this state, which should normally belong to this market, goes regularly to Kansas City, while much of the grain raised in northern Nebraska goes through to Chicago and Minneapolis when it logically belongs in Omaha.

In shipping out grain through Kansas City to the south, it costs Omaha dealers 5 cents more than Kansas City dealers to compete for the southern business. In shipping grain north to Minneapolis, it only costs Kansas City 1 cent more than Omaha.

One Big Felter.

Thus, according to the logic of railway rates, it is worth 5 cents to ship grain to Kansas City, but only worth 1 cent to ship from a Kansas City to Omaha.

A day of reckoning is at hand, however, for the grain men here are starting a case against the roads. In November a special examiner will be here from the Interstate Commerce commission to take evidence on the big case that is coming up. Many grain men will tell what they know about the ridiculousness of grain rates in this section, and when the Interstate Commerce commission gets those transcripts it will have something of interest to ponder over.

Ed. P. Smith is preparing the case for the grain men.

or color, will be protected. Everyone knows Hughes cannot be intimidated or bluffed."

Right of Expatriation.

Victor Rosewater, editor of The Bee, introduced as a Jew of national reputation, read the republican platform pledge to secure the right of expatriation, which has met with the full approval of Mr. Hughes.

"We reiterate the unqualified approval of the action taken in December, 1911, by the president and congress to secure with Russia, as with other countries, a treaty that will recognize the absolute right of expatriation and prevent all discrimination of whatever kind between American citizens, whether native born or alien, and regardless of race, religion or previous political allegiance. We renew the pledge to observe this principle and to maintain the right of asylum, which is neither to be surrendered nor restricted, and we unite in the cherished hope that the war which is now desolating the world may speedily end, with a complete and lasting restoration of brotherhood among the nations of the earth and the assurance of full equal rights, civil and religious, to all men in every land."

Mr. Rosewater declared the Jews in this country ask no special privileges, but insist that no rights belonging to them as citizens be denied them. "All they want," he said, "is an equal chance and they want to help their colleagues in the old countries to the same equality."

Assails Democrats.

Chairman Frank S. Howell of the Douglas county committee, addressing the meeting, said: "The democratic campaign of today is being conducted in a manner true to its past career. It would seem its chief preparation is to take stock of all classes, sects and nationalities which may be influenced by unworthy appeals to prejudice.

"Jews are being asked to vote for Wilson because he appointed Louis Brandeis to the exalted position of justice of the supreme court. If the president made the appointment solely because he was a Jew, then it was an infamous appointment. It is to be presumed no president would jeopardize the usefulness of the supreme court by filling the bench with no higher motive than taking care of deserving democrats. If the appointment was made because Mr. Brandeis was a Jew or for political effect, every Jew in the land would condemn it."

The president's attitude of indifference in the Leo Frank case as contrasted with the Hughes opinion favoring a fair trial came in for rebuke: "When the country was ablaze and every state in the union was jealous of the reputation of every sister state; when the press at large was printing pages and volumes in behalf of a Jewish citizen convicted by mob intimidation in the state of Georgia; when every power could be brought to bear by humanitarians regardless of birth or nationality, to save a man from an ignominious death at the end of a more ignoble trial, the administration at Washington was deaf, dumb and paralyzed."

Talks in which the Jewish voters for their own welfare and patriotism were urged to vote the republican ticket were made by Henry Monsky, Martin Sugarman and others.

AMERICAN REPLY NOT DETERMINED

Officials Will Examine Blacklist Note Before Deciding to Answer.

CONTENTION IS REFUSED

Washington, Oct. 28.—The next move of the United States in the controversy over the blacklist of American firms will not be determined until officials have had ample time to examine Great Britain's reply to the American note of July 28, protesting against it. The reply reached the State department today from the London embassy. Secretary Lansing tonight said he had not decided when it would be made public.

The note refuses the American contention, which termed the blacklist "an arbitrary interference with neutral trade," but is understood to offer methods of relief which may be available in some instances to lessen the rigors of interference.

An American reply is almost certain to be made, based on the contention that the blacklist violates the commercial treaty of 1815; that in singling out certain American firms undue discrimination is shown and that an illegal action is taken, designed to prevent trade with Germany, an end which should be accomplished through blockade and contraband restrictions. It may be argued that the blacklist is designed to cripple firms trading with Germany in order to destroy German trade more than for the immediate purpose of war.

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Common Garden Sage and Sulphur makes streaked, faded or gray hair dark and youthful at once.

"Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur compound is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.

Hughes Nearly Run Down By Own Train

Ogdensburg, Oct. 29.—Charles E. Hughes was nearly run down by his own special train at Oswego. A nervous chauffeur drove the automobile containing the nominee past the landing at the railroad station directly across the tracks in front of the slowly approaching train. When the engine came into view it was less than thirty feet from the nominee's automobile. The chauffeur backed into the car behind and the engineer jammed on the emergency brakes. The combination prevented an accident. There was a scramble for safety by the crowd which was massed about the car and no one was injured.

Henry Ford to Give $100,000 to Demos

New York, Oct. 28.—Henry Ford plans to spend approximately $100,000 for advertising throughout the country in the interest of President Wilson's campaign for reelection, it was announced here tonight by Henry Morgenthau, chairman of the finance committee of the democratic national committee.

About $500,000 more, according to Mr. Morgenthau's statement, is needed "to make certain of President Wilson's re-election." A summons to New York state democrats to subscribe the larger part of this amount, has been issued, he asserted.
