Prohibition vs. High License W. J. Connell, who came to Omaha with the birth of Nebraska as a state and has witnessed the growth and development of Omaha from a town of less than 15,000 people to a magnificent city of over 160,000 inhabitants, upon being interviewed as to his views of prohibition, responded that he had come to feel a good deal like the old Quaker who said to his better half, "Wife, I do believe everybody has gone crazy except me and thee! and at times I have my doubts if we are not a little bit off in the upper story." Notwithstanding these doubts, Mr. Connell's views are as follows: "I favor the present high license system over proposed absolute prohibition for the following reasons: "First—Our present high license law is in effect a local option law. "Second—Under the present high license system, where public sentiment will sustain prohibition, you can have prohibition. This is true of every county in Nebraska, under existing law. Where the sentiment of the people in any city or county does not sustain prohibition, this attempt to enforce it will be a dismal failure. "Third—It is better to have regulation of the liquor traffic than bootlegging, which is certain to follow attempted prohibition. "Fourth—Certain evils have existed from time immemorial, and will continue to exist in some form for all time to come. They can be regulated, but not wiped out by law or constitutional amendments. "Fifth—There is less danger from an open fire that can be seen and kept within proper control than from a concealed or smothered fire. "Sixth—What a person wants, they will have. "Seventh—To be denied anything only creates the desire and increases the determination to have it anyhow. "Eighth—You can't legislate goodness into anybody. "Ninth—It is education, not legislation, that makes people better. The teaching of the ill-effects of alcohol on the human system, as now taught in our public schools, is doing more for the cause of temperance than all the prohibition agitators in America. "Tenth—It is excess in the use of anything, not the thing itself, that cause injury. "Eleventh—More people are injured and greater harm is done the human race by over-eating than by over-drinking. Is the next move to be a regulation of our diet by law? Where are the personal rights of the individual to commence and where will the fanatical movements now under way and in prospect end? "Twelfth—Revenue from the authorized regulation of the liquor traffic is far better than the burden of taxation under a non-enforceable prohibitory amendment. "Thirteenth—We should first get out from under the harrow of existing debt and taxation before making this jump to prohibition. "Fourteenth—We should not vote unnecessary and crushing burdens on ourselves, where no compensating benefits will result. "Fifteenth—Omaha has prospered under the present high-license system, and Nebraska under existing conditions has grown to a magnificent State. Why sand-bag both City and State?"
