

GERMAN DENIES FIRING ON BOATS

Subsea Captain that Sank the Rowanmore Says Crew Owes Escape to His Forbearance.

SHIP TRIED TO GET AWAY

Berlin, Nov. 15.—(By Wireless to the Associated Press, Via Sayville, Nov. 16.)—Assertions that the German submarine which sank the British ship Rowanmore, on which there were several Americans, fired upon life boats containing members of the crew are dismissed as utterly false in the report of the commander of the submarine, further details of which became known today. In fact it is said the men on the Rowanmore owe their lives to the precautions taken by the Germans and the skill with which their operations were carried out. During the 20-minute pursuit of the steamship the submarine's shots were aimed accurately astern to eliminate the danger to the crew, which was congregated at the bow. The Rowanmore was hit ten times, the last shell disabling the propeller. The submarine ceased firing, the report continues, immediately it was observed the Rowanmore had decreased its speed and abandoned the effort to escape. No shots were fired at the men in the boats. Just before it stopped the Rowanmore hoisted a signal, but it was impossible to read it from the submarine at that time about 2,000 yards away. Later it was shown that the signal was "I surrender."

The master of the Rowanmore attempted to justify his attempt to escape, the submarine commander reports, by the assertion that he desired to gain time to launch boats, but this pretext was not accepted. Later the Rowanmore's captain was made a prisoner of war for attempting to escape and for summing up assistance by wireless, which speedily brought up a British destroyer. Thereupon the Rowanmore was sunk by a torpedo.

Jerry Howard, One Dollar for Chariot Hire, Is Election Item

Candidates in the recent election, both successful and unsuccessful, continue to file their expense accounts with Harley G. Moorhead, election commissioner. Another batch of statements filed within the last week cost forty hours showing how much it cost the respective candidates to feel the station of victory or the sting of defeat give Michael Endres, county treasurer-elect, credit for having spent $507.

Felix J. McShane, whom Douglas county voters retired to the automobile business by a decisive majority, spent $338.

Jerry Howard, the vote-getting Celt who once again will make the laws at Lincoln, invented just one "hook" in his campaign. That one dollar was expended "for chariot hire" according to the statement filed. Chariot probably meaning some ancient form of conveyance, likely horse-drawn hack.

Some of the other recently filed accounts are as follows: Thomas J. Keenan, successful candidate for county superintendent of schools, $54; W. G. Shriver, unsuccessful candidate for county assessor, $226.23; H. Glenn Moran, justice of the peace-elect, $19.50; Judge Day, re-elected, $147.80; Frank Burgess, defeated for the state legislature, $40.75; Judge Redick, re-elected, $336.59; C. A. Britt, unsuccessful candidate for judge of the municipal court, $178.23; Judge Wakeley, re-elected, $177.20; P. C. Healey, successful candidate for director of the metropolitan water board, $12.50.

Uncle Sam Holding School in Omaha for Grain Inspectors

Inspectors of the Omaha Grain exchange are going to school, or to be more explicit, the school has come to them, and they are being taught how to grade corn in accordance with the rules laid down by Uncle Sam.

Representing the Department of Agriculture, O. Langdon, a specialist, has gathered about him a class of twenty-five to thirty men, inspectors of the exchange, grain buyers out in the country and others who are interested in the grain trade, especially the corn.

December 1, the Department of Agriculture will put into effect the new grading system, as applied to corn. Later on it is expected to include wheat and the other cereals. The advantage of the government having charge of the grading is this: After December 1, for instance, corn that grades No. 2 in Omaha will carry the same grade in any market in the United States, and also in most of the markets of Europe. Heretofore, corn that carried a certain grade in Omaha, might have a higher or lower grade in Chicago, St. Louis, or any of the other markets. In the future the system of grading being identical, the grade will follow the corn, regardless of where it goes.

To grade the corn according to the government rule, weight, color, the plumpness of the kernel and numerous other tests, are applied. There are numerous weights and measures used in the process.

First Strike of Oil in The New Glenrock Fields

Word reaches the Burlington headquarters that drillers of a well in the new Glenrock fields, a short distance from Douglas, Wyo., struck a flow of oil at a depth of 3,100 feet. This is the first well to be sunk in this field.

It is asserted that the striking of oil at Glenrock makes it appear almost certain that this locality is within the bounds of an immense oil producing area, extending from above the Montana line, southeast into Texas, thence through the western portion of Nebraska.

Gave Blood to Save Sister's Life

MISS VIDA MILHOLLAND.

Los Angeles, Nov. 16.—Mrs. Inez Milholland Boissevain, the suffrage leader and Hughes speaker, is critically ill here in the Good Samaritan hospital, despite the fact that five operations for the transfusion of blood have been made. Mrs. Boissevain collapsed while in the midst of a speech advocating the election of Mr. Hughes. The first operation took blood from Miss Vida Milholland, Mrs. Boissevain's sister.

Timorous Tinner Fails to Convince Jury that His Anguish is Worth Coin

Jacob Fried Not Able to Out into the Bank Roll of His Father-in-Law of Genoa.

LEGAL TALENT SOARS HIGH

Fond hopes of one Jacob Fried, Omaha's tyro as a timorous, tinning Romeo, who sought to add several thousand dollars to his exchequer at the expense of his father-in-law and mother-in-law, claiming that they had alienated his spouse's affections and separated him from his "chee-ild," fell with the proverbial and trite "dull, sickening thud" when a jury in Judge Estelle's court, after deliberating a short time, returned a verdict for the defendants.

The jury's decision marked the winding up of a legal jousting match that kept Judge Estelle's court room crowded for several days with throngs of the curious seeking to get an insight as to the perils of the tinner's profession in its relation to the matrimonial game. When the foreman of the jury imparted to the judge the news that there was "nothing doing" in the way of recompense for Jake's unsuccessful venture into the realms of the benedict, the tinner never batted an eye. Indeed, his vision for a moment seemed to be in line with a tin roof on a building looming up through the court house windows a couple of blocks away.

Jake sued Mr. and Mrs. Max Venger, residents of Genoa, Neb., for $10,000, alleging alienation of his wife's (Elizabeth) affections. The Omaha tinner testified that it was the elder Venger, a prosperous Genoa merchant, who first suggested the marriage, contending that he (Jake) was well satisfied to remain single until someone else started the marrying bug buzzing in his bonnet. He further alleged that after he and his wife had started safely down the river of happiness Ma and Pa Venger were the ones who steered the craft into troublesome coves.

Judge Holds Railroad Not Liable for Husband's Death

Judge Sears directed a verdict for the defendants in the case of Nellie A. Smith, administratrix of the estate of her husband, Frank A. Smith, against the Missouri Pacific railroad. Mrs. Smith was suing the railroad for $50,000, damages for her husband's death. Smith, a locomotive engineer, was shot and killed by Ezra A. Koonitz, another engineer, in the railroad yards on January 27, 1912. The slayer was adjudged insane. The plaintiff in the damage suit contended that her husband's death was brought about by the negligence of the Missouri Pacific in having an insane man in its employ.

Disappears Enroute from The Sandpits to Omaha

Oscar Johnson, 1618 Clark street, left Meadows, Neb., Tuesday, bound for Omaha, and, according to friends in this city, has not arrived yet. He was in possession of considerable money when he left.

Rubbernecks Stretch to See Man Painting a Pole

Three hundred feet above the sidewalk at Sixteenth and Farnam streets a man hung to a slender rope yesterday while thousands of people craned their necks looking up at him. He was putting a coat of black paint on the flag pole of the new First National bank building.

KING TURK DROPS FOUR CENTS IN WEEK

And Manager of Shop Says They Will Be as Cheap as Last Turkey Day.

BUT OYSTERS ARE WAY UP

"Turkeys will not be any dearer this Thanksgiving than they were last."

These are the amazing, astounding, astonishing words of Jack Welsh, manager of Hayden's meat department. In these days of mounting prices when everything from shoes to collars and from sugar to cauliflower is rising almost every day, the word that the king of birds is standing out for the common people and refusing to join the higher cost of living is refreshing, indeed.

Turkeys now are selling at 28 cents a pound. A week ago they were 32 cents. They have come down 4 cents. And Brother Welsh solemnly avers and firmly believes that they will come down to 25 cents before Thanksgiving. "That'll be the same price as they sold for last Thanksgiving," he says.

Hats Off to Turk.

Hats off, folks to the turkey, the real friend of the common people. Chickens, ducks and geese are only a trifle higher than they were a year ago, selling at present for 22, 22 and 20 cents, respectively. A year ago chickens and geese were 18 cents and ducks 20 cents.

While saluting the people's friend, the turkey, let us drink a toast also to the festive cranberry. It, too, has held out against the trusts and in favor of the public. It has arrived here in many barrels from its native hogs and announces itself firmly adhering to a platform of "10 cents a quart, same as last year." Celery also holds firm at 10 cents a stalk.

It is grievous to turn from these shining examples to oysters, which a year ago were 28 cents a quart, and this year are holding themselves at 40 cents.

The cheese family has also failed to keep its pledges and is rising higher almost daily. Common cream cheese, which was sold a year ago at 18 and ported Swiss, which sold at 35 cents a year ago, is now 60 cents and going up. Of course, the war's some excuse for Swiss from Switzerland rising.

However, with the royal bird and cranberries on the people's side this year, we heed have little fear for the Thanksgiving feast.

WOMAN GIVEN TWO DAYS

To Make Up Her Mind for Surgical Operation. She Refused; Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"One year ago I was very sick and I suffered with pains in my side and back until I nearly went crazy. I went to different doctors and they all said I had female trouble and would not get any relief until I would be operated on. I had suffered for four years before this time, but I kept getting worse the more medicine I took. Every month since I was a young girl I had suffered with cramps in my sides at periods and was never regular. I saw your advertisement in the newspaper and the picture of a woman who had been saved from an operation and this picture was impressed on my mind. The doctor had given me only two more days to make up my mind so I sent my husband to the drug store at once for a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and believe me, I only took four doses before I felt a change and when I had finished the third bottle I was cured and never felt better. I grant you the privilege to publish my letter and am only too glad to let other women know of my cure."—Mrs. T. W. McCONNELL, 3428 Hartville Street, Phila., Pa.

For Emergencies When you have a bilious attack, or when you feel illness coming on—promptly move the bowels, start the liver working and put your entire digestive system in good shape with a dose or two of the time-tested BEECHAM'S PILLS.

You will welcome the quick relief and often ward off a severe illness. Beecham's Pills are carefully compounded from vegetable products—mild, harmless, and not habit-forming. Buy a box now. You don't know when you may need Beecham's Pills. A reliable family remedy that always should be at hand.

ASTHMA SUFFERER Write today, I will tell you, free of charge, of a simple home treatment for asthma which cured me after physicians and change of climate failed. I am so grateful for my present good health, after years of suffering, that I want everyone to know of this wonderful treatment. Mrs. Nellie Evans, E-5, Des Moines, Iowa.—Adv.
