DEFEAT MAY MAKE NEBRASKA ELEVEN

Walloping Administered by Kansas May Prove Tonic for Cornhuskers.

WHO GETS CHAMPIONSHIP?

By FRED S. HUNTER.

There is a lurking suspicion that the defeat of the Cornhuskers at the hand of the hated Jayhawk at Lincoln Saturday, may have been a good thing.

Defeat has been the making of many a foot ball team, perhaps it will prove the tonic that the 1916 Nebraska eleven has been needing all year.

Not since the fall of 1912 had Nebraska tasted defeat. That year Minnesota licked Stiehm's men. In 1913, 1914 and 1915 the Cornhuskers bowled over such worthy opponents as Minnesota, Michigan Aggies, Notre Dame, Iowa and all the Missouri Valley schools. Not since 1909 had Nebraska lost a Missouri Valley championship and not since 1909 had Kansas so much as scored a touchdown against the Cornhuskers, let alone a victory.

Nebraska went into the game Saturday with a brilliant record behind it. Kansas followers were predicting a victory for their hopefuls, but they weren't risking any even money, they were demanding heavy, very heavy odds and not betting much at that. To Nebraska supporters a hostile victory seemed remote. It probably occurred to the team itself the same way. And it is at times like these that defeat is a good thing.

Punch Is Lacking.

Nebraska had been playing all fall a brand of foot ball that failed to bring results. The Cornhuskers won over the Kansas Aggies, 14 to 0. They won over Ames, by the narrow margin of 3 to 0. In both games they gained a great many more yards than their opponents. They did that against Kansas, too. But it was when the ball was in the middle of the field, many yards away from the goal line, that Nebraska earned its yards. It played a great game then. But whenever the pigskin was in striking distance of the enemy's goal, the punch immediately disappeared.

The showed there was too much confidence on the part of the players, not that quiet confidence in the ability of the team to win, which is always a valuable asset, but an individual confidence, which means the men weren't playing together. Each man was playing for himself and such playing seldom wins foot ball games.

Show Real Fight.

Four times Saturday the Cornhuskers fought like wildcats. Those four times Kansas had the ball within ten yards of the Cornhusker goal. Those four times the Huskers realized how desperate the situation was and they pulled themselves together and played real foot ball. The Huskers have the foot ball in them, but they haven't been playing it.

Iowa Becomes Favorite.

As a result of the defeat at the hands of Kansas, Nebraska will go to Iowa City to battle the Hawkeyes Saturday with the odds on the Jones' crew. Iowa has a fair scoring machine this year, it proved that by running up nineteen points on Ames and scoring on Northwestern. Nebraska couldn't score on Ames, it didn't even come close. So the dope reads that Iowa will score on Nebraska, while Nebraska won't be able to score on Iowa, unless it should be by one of Captain Tim Corey's place kicks.

But that Kansas defeat, we reiterate, may be the making of the Huskers and they may upset the dope by exhibiting a powerful scoring machine at Iowa City. Stewart may be able to teach his proteges to show the same fight when they approach the enemy's goal line that they show when the enemy approaches their goal line. The defeat may make it possible for him to drill that fight into them and if it does, as it has with many other teams, Nebraska should win from Iowa and give Notre Dame a stiff tussle. But if the defeat has the other effect, a tendency to discourage, good night.

The result Saturday makes the Missouri Valley championship a beautiful affair.

Nebraska was defeated by Kansas. Ames was defeated by Nebraska. Missouri was defeated by the Kansas Aggies and the Kansas Aggies were defeated by Nebraska. If the Missouri Valley must award a championship this year, we'll give it to Drake, it lost every game.

Notre Dame to Be Easy for Huskers; The Dope as She Is Doped Proves It

Hoosiers Will Go Into Game 97 to 1 Favorites, So Nebraska Will Clean Up Hands Down.

IOWA MUST WIN, THOUGH

Nebraska will wallop the spots off Notre Dame—it's a cinch. It will be easy pickings for the Cornhuskers, the dope as applied by the reverse English process so popular this fall will prove it. Lend an ear and we'll slip you the inside info that can't go wrong.

The University of Minnesota started the 1916 season like a tornado and went through South Dakota and Iowa like the Germans through Belgium. Minnesota was about a 5 to 1 favorite over Illinois. So Illinois copped the combat hands down.

Illinois then went up against Chicago, which hadn't beaten anybody except Indiana, and ranked about 1000. Illinois should have handled Chicago like a mountain lion would handle a canary bird. So Chicago proceeded to wipe up the entire state of Illinois with the Illini eleven.

Wisconsin, it will be remembered, spanked the proteges of A. Stagg, 30 to 7, and didn't strain any tendons doing it. So Minnesota ate up Wisconsin, 54 to 0. Figure it out for yourself.

Princeton played Harvard to a standstill and the Crimson was lucky to win, 3 to 0. So when Yale wandered to Princeton the odds were heavy on Princeton. The Tigers looked like the best team and the experts agreed the animal would ruin the bull dog. So Yale promptly took Princeton to a cleaning.

Brown had never defeated Harvard in the history of the two schools. Harvard had a great team and was expected to make mince meat for the Thanksgiving dinner, out of Pollard, the big dingie half back, and the rest of the Brownians. So Brown only beat Harvard, 21 to 0, and was kind and generous to keep the score that low.

Tufts started out the season by slipping Harvard a dose of defeat. Then the schoolmasters barely beat Indiana, 12 to 10, and got walloped by the Springfield Y. M. C. A., 13 to 0.

Nebraska defeated Ames, and Ames defeated Kansas. So Kansas defeated Nebraska.

Nebraska has been a favorite over Iowa all year. That is the only weak spot in the dope. Nebraska must get licked by Iowa. If Nebraska gets trimmed by the Hawkeyes, it's a cinch. Notre Dame will come to Lincoln a 97 to 1 favorite. It will be even money that Harper's men will win by a score of two or two touchdowns. It will be even money the only way for the Cornhuskers to score would be to have the entire Notre Dame team drop dead. And that, according to the way the dope has been running these beautiful fall months, will make it a cinch for the Cornhuskers to trim up the Catholics on Thanksgiving day.

MAY HEAD NATIONAL BASE BALL COMMISSION

WILLIAM C. TEMPLE.

William Chase Temple, millionaire base ball fan, and known as the "Father of the World's Series," is considered a very probable successor to Garry Herrmann as chairman of the National commission, according to reports current in base ball circles. Mr. Temple, who at present is at his winter estate, Winter Park, Florida, has been a base ball enthusiast since 1876. He was the donor of the famous "Temple Cup" for the base ball championship in 1894, 1895 and 1896. He formerly owned the Pittsburgh Pirates, but got out of active participation in base ball affairs in 1894. It is said that a majority of the base ball magnates favor Temple. Another point in his favor is the fact that he does not believe the chairmanship of the National commission should carry a salary with it.

Auburn Out of the Southern Race as It Loses to Vanderbilt

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 19.—Auburn was eliminated from the race for the foot ball championship of the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association yesterday, when it lost to Vanderbilt, 20 to 9. Two undefeated elevens remain in the running—Tennessee and Georgia Tech. Those two teams do not meet.

Tennessee defeated Swannee today, 17 to 3, and Georgia Tech beat Georgia, 21 to 0. Tennessee has one more hard game—that with Auburn on November 30. Tennessee has passed the trying part of its schedule and should have easy sailing for the remainder of the season.

The Vanderbilt-Auburn game, the big game of the south, was won by excellent use of the forward pass. The Auburn team outstruck its opponents during the greater part of the contest and had a 9 to 7 lead when the third period began. Then two perfectly executed throws resulted in two Vanderbilt touchdowns within a few minutes.

Morrill and Scottsbluff High Elevens Battle

Morrill, Neb., Nov. 19.—(Special Telegram.)—Morrill and Scottsbluff High schools battled out the high school championship of the valley here today on a gridiron covered with six inches of snow. Scottsbluff won a hard and bitterly fought battle by a score of 6 to 0. Morrill High played the visitors off their feet during the first two quarters, carrying the ball once to Scottsbluff's three-yard line and thrice to their ten-yard line, but lacked the necessary punch to score. In the third quarter Scottsbluff braced wonderfully and carried the ball through the left side and around the left end of its opponents for a touchdown, the only score of the game. Immediately following the game William Walsh was selected captain to lead Morrill's 1917 squad.

Iowa Becomes Favorite.

As a result of the defeat at the hands of Kansas, Nebraska will go to Iowa City to battle the Hawkeyes Saturday with the odds on the Jones' crew. Iowa has a fair scoring machine this year, it proved that by running up nineteen points on Ames and scoring on Northwestern. Nebraska couldn't score on Ames, it didn't even come close. So the dope reads that Iowa will score on Nebraska, while Nebraska won't be able to score on Iowa, unless it should be by one of Captain Tim Corey's place kicks.

St. Viator has developed the most wonderful scoring machine ever seen among the Illinois state colleges. The team has a clean slate of six games won and in these contests has scored 367 points to their opponents' 13. It also holds the world's record for points scored in one game of 205 to Lane college of Chicago's 0.

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 19.—The shipmen won from the Villa Nova college today, 57 to 7. The sailors scored forty-one of their total points during the first half.

St. Louis, Nov. 19.—Mrs. Schuyler Britton, who yesterday filed suit for divorce, today was elected president of the St. Louis National league base ball club, to succeed her husband. CHICAGO SPRINGS SURPRISE IN BIG 9

Defeat of Illinois and Victory of Minnesota Are Two Upsets.

PURPLE ELEVEN POWERFUL

Chicago, Nov. 19.—Foot ball elevens of the "Big Nine" came through Saturday's games with only one upset—the defeat of Illinois at the hands of Chicago.

Northwestern disposed of Purdue and kept its slate clean for the championship game with the undefeated Ohio State eleven at Columbus next Saturday. Ohio State had already finished its conference schedule, with the exception of the clash with Northwestern, and had little trouble overwhelming Case.

Chicago Springs Surprise.

Chicago, twice beaten in the conference race, sprung one of the biggest surprises of a surprising season by upsetting Illinois. The Maroons romped away with a 20 to 7 victory, leaving Illinois, a two to one favorite, completely stunned. The down-state eleven, which two weeks ago caused a surprising upset by trouncing the powerful Minnesota eleven, had been regarded by critics as a certain winner.

The come-back of Minnesota was one of the surprises of Saturday's schedule. The Gophers gave Wisconsin the worst drubbing in twenty years.

Northwestern revealed the full strength of its reserve power in its game with Purdue. Beaten 6 to 3 at the start of the second half, Northwestern opened up an amazing display of forward passes and sweeping end runs and scored four touchdowns in the third period within twelve minutes.

Indiana Star Out of Game.

Indiana kept its star out of the game with Florida so as to send its full strength into the annual game with Purdue next Saturday. The eleven from Dixie did not prove formidable to Indiana.

Outside the conference, Michigan met Pennsylvania and got its second defeat of the year. Howard Berry, the powerful fullback of the easterners, was responsible for the downfall of the Wolverines.

Notre Dame faced a stubborn foe in the Michigan Aggies, who held the Indiana team to a 14 to 0 count.

Illinois Loses Game To Chicago Eleven, Twenty to Seven

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 19.—Western foot ball prophecy was again upset Saturday when the University of Chicago defeated the University of Illinois, 20 to 7 here. The first touchdown was scored within a few minutes of play. Agar punted to Sternaman, who fumbled. Jackson caught the ball and sprinted forty yards for a touchdown. A Chicago pass was intercepted by Anderson of Illinois behind the goal line. The ball was brought out of the two-yard line and Hanisch smashed through it.

Chicago completed its scoring in the last quarter, when Graham picked up Macomber's puny and planted it behind the goal. In the last quarter, Illinois got the ball on the fifteen-yard line on a fumble and a pass averted a shutout for them.

Army Beats Springfield In Last of Home Games

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 19.—The Army beat the Springfield Young Men's Christian Association training school yesterday in the last home game of the season, 17 to 2. The cadets have gone through the season without a single defeat. The visitors' attack lacked drive and power, and their line yielded at critical times. The West Point men also were ragged in their work. Oliphant made some sensational dashes, culminating in his touchdown and goal. Vidal's long runs and his pretty field goal from the thirty-yard line also were features. Cole was thrown behind his line for a safety in the last period.

Party-Line Subscribers Are Urged to Hold the Telephone Only 5 Minutes

FIVE MINUTES is usually sufficient to complete an ordinary business or social transaction by telephone.

The telephone company saves work when party lines are "tied up" for long periods while people are talking; but such a policy is unfair to our other patrons.

It is not a kind act to compel your neighbor to wait more than FIVE MINUTES while you hold the line unless your conversation is very important. A call for a doctor or an important business transaction may be delayed.
