NEW YORK STOCKS

Technical Conditions Again Govern Trading in Actual Market.

EXTENDED BULL ACCOUNT

New York, Nov. 22.—Trading in today's actual market was governed to an unusual extent by technical conditions. There were further indications of an extended bull account, especially in metals and specialties of recent prominence and strength.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Cash Wheat Market is Steady in Face of Only Moderate Demand.

HEAVY RECEIPTS OF CORN

Omaha, Nov. 22, 1916. The cash wheat situation was fairly active today, and although the demand was only moderate, the market held up pretty steady and most of the sales were made at unchanged prices.

Another unusual feature in the market was the fact that the early market was a big one, higher than yesterday, trading in the lead towards the close.

At any rate, it was a good, active market for desirable hogs of all weights, and it was the opinion of many active traders that an average price was somewhere near $10.00 higher.

Quotations on sheep and lambs—Lamb, good to choice, $11.00@11.50; fair to good, $10.50@11.00.
