Woman With Two Robbers Says Her Home Is in Omaha

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 24.—(Special Telegram.)—Mrs. Annie Doyle Davis, 24 years old, who said she came to St. Louis with John Alfred Lewis, the bandit who was shot by a drug clerk here Wednesday night, was arrested here today.

She denied that she was related to J. J. Davis, the bandit who was killed when Lewis was shot, but said she had been living with Lewis, whom she knew as Charles English, and that another woman had been living with Davis. Davis, she said, had been introduced to her as a Mr. Murphy.

Mrs. Davis said she was the daughter of Edward Doyle, 2719 Douglas street, Omaha, Neb., and had been separated from her husband two years. She said she met Lewis in a chop suey restaurant in Omaha three months ago and had seen him frequently since that time. She, Lewis and the other couple came to St. Louis from Omaha via Kansas City in the auto, which the two men left in front of the drug store they attempted to rob. She said they arrived Sunday morning.

Lewis is in the city hospital suffering from the gunshot wounds.

No such number as described is found in Omaha, and no such persons live near. J. J. Davis is the son of Mrs. Hannah Davis, 1512 North Twenty-eighth street, Omaha.

Reign of Francis Joseph "Period of Blessing"—Kaiser

London, Nov. 24.—The German emperor has sent a message of sympathy to Emperor Charles of Austria on the death of Emperor Francis Joseph, whose government, says Emperor William, "will live in the history of the monarchy as a period of blessing."

The message is further quoted in a Reuter dispatch from Berlin, by way of Amsterdam, as follows:

"We of younger generation were accustomed to see in his venerable figure examples of the finest virtues of rulers and truly kingly devotion to duty. The German empire loses in him a loyal ally. I personally lose a paternal and highly honored friend. God's inscrutable will has called him away in the middle of the greatest world war and has not permitted him to see the result of the struggle and the return of peace. May God give him eternal rest and to you strength to bear the burden which falls upon you at this grave time."

Wilson's Message One of the Briefest

Washington, Nov. 24.—President Wilson's annual message to congress, now in the hands of the printer, contains about 2,000 words and is among the shortest documents of the kind on record. It points out that the reports of the several government departments will be made before congress separately and that, therefore, their details are not discussed.

The president emphasizes the uncompleted legislation on railroads suggested by him at the last session to meet the threatened railroad strike as the most pressing problem facing congress. He then goes on to a general discussion of other domestic problems.

LINCOLN STEFFENS ON SOAP-BOX HOPES

Madero's Start Was on Gutter Stand, Author Tells Commercial Club.

AGAIN CENSURES YANKEES

"Why do the people listen to the soap-box orator? Why are they so eager to hear? It is because they hear a message of hope, and there are so many people who have nothing else in this world, they must have hope or they perish." This was the comment of Lincoln Steffens, journalist and lecturer, in his talk on Mexico before the Commercial club at noon.

He was discussing Madero and his soap-box oratory when that young man was working up the Mexican revolution.

"And so the people will listen to the man who talks from the soap-box," the speaker continued. "They will follow him. They will follow the anarchist or anyone who speaks of hope to them, until you, their real leaders, can be persuaded to listen to their wants and take hold and lead them true."

"Beautiful Fool." The speaker reviewed the life of Madero, who, as a young man studied abroad, and came home with new ideas. "Madero got a soap-box," said Mr. Steffens, "and began to gather crowds about him and tell them of a hope of better conditions. He told them they could elect a president of their own; he knew people could do that, because he had seen it done in the United States and in France. The people said he was crazy. They said he was a beautiful fool. He told them they could get a constitution back. They told him he was crazy. He was thrown in jail, but always he got out and he did not break out."

"Angels? No, Brutes." "Already there are traditions down there that angels let him out. But we have muckrakers and reporters now-a-days, and so I ran some of these things down. I can assure you they were not angels who let him out. They were cruel, Spanish jailers, who one would think could not be moved by anything. I asked one of them why he let Madero out, and he said because he was so beautiful. He did not mean beautiful to look at. He meant his ideas were beautiful."

The speaker blamed Americans for much of the trouble in Mexico, repeating what he said in his lecture last night, that Americans incited and financed the first revolution there and every counter revolution since that time.

This Simple Laxative A Household Necessity

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin Should Have a Place in Every Home.

Constipation or inaction of the bowels, a condition that nearly every one experiences with more or less frequency, is the direct cause of much disease. When the bowels become clogged with refuse from the stomach, foul gases and poisons are generated, and unless the congestion is quickly relieved the system becomes weakened and most susceptible to attack.

Various remedies to relieve constipation are prescribed, but many of these contain cathartic or purgative agents that are harsh and violent in their action and shock the system. The most effective remedy is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that is sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

The Hon. John D. Keister of Brandywine, W. Va., who has represented his district in the State Legislature for six years, writes that he uses Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and finds it a splendid laxative, easy to take and mild, yet positive in its action, and that it should be in every household for use when needed.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold by druggists in all parts of the United States and costs only fifty cents a bottle. It contains no opiate or narcotic drug, does not gripe, and is recommended as a family laxative.

is mild enough for the tiniest babe, yet sufficiently powerful to act easily on the strongest constitution.

To avoid imitations and ineffective substitutes be sure to get Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. See that a facsimile of Dr. Caldwell's signature and his portrait appear on the yellow carton in which the bottle is packed. A trial bottle, free of charge, can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 455 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.
