

DRINK HOT WATER IF YOU DESIRE A ROSY COMPLEXION

Says we can't help but look better and feel better after an inside bath.

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not eliminated, form toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Men and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphate hot water drinking and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.—Advertisement.

TODAY'S AID TO BEAUTY

An especially fine shampoo for this weather, one that dissolves and entirely removes all dandruff, excess oil and dirt, can easily be made at trifling expense by simply dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox in a cup of hot water. Pour slowly on scalp and massage briskly. This creates a soothing, cooling lather. Rinsing leaves the scalp spotlessly clean, soft and pliant, while the hair takes on the glossy richness of natural color, also a fluffiness which makes it seem much heavier than it is. After a canthrox shampoo arranging the hair is a pleasure.—Advertisement.

OMAHA SUPPORTS ITS INSTITUTIONS

Citizenship Responds Freely to Calls for Those Deserving of Public Help.

WISE MAN CHEERFUL GIVER

By A. R. GROH.

Is it not a splendid sight, fellow citizens, to see the people of Omaha giving so liberally of their abundance at the call of worthy objects?

The Young Woman's Christian association is raising $20,000, the House of Hope $50,000, the Boy Scouts, $15,000. Soon Brownell Hall will ask for $250,000, and there are other campaigns coming.

What does Mr. Omaha do—and Mrs. Omaha, too—when the canvassers call with subscription blanks? Do they assume a sour, tight-waddish expression? Do they complain about hard times and slow collections and the many demands for their money?

They do not. They generally assume a smiling and cheerful and glad expression. They say, "Why, yes, sure, I'd be glad to help. It's a good cause." And they open their check books, take their pens in hand, write certain figures and sign their names. No surgical operation is required to separate them from their cash for a good cause.

From an Eye Witness.

This is not merely a fanciful picture. I have it directly from those who are doing the collecting.

"There's Mr. Blank," said one. "I went in and asked him for $25. He insisted on giving me $40."

Sometimes people who haven't been called upon "get nervous" and call up the money-raising headquarters to find out why they have been slighted. Giving to worthy objects is an opportunity, not merely a duty. It pays the biggest dividends, dividends in satisfaction, in pride, in that comfortable feeling of being a power toward good in the community.

He who gives to a worthy object makes the only investment in the world that cannot be lost. Said the old philosopher:

"What I kept, I lost;
What I spent, I had;
What I gave, I have."

Store Up for the Future.

Think that over. What a man keeps he may lose in a bad investment. What he spends he no longer has. But what he gives he always has in the satisfaction of having added to the world's store of good and happiness. Moth and rust cannot corrupt that; nor can thieves break through and steal it.

"He that soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly; and he that soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully," said Paul. And "He hath dispersed abroad; he hath given to the poor; his righteousness remaineth forever."

The literature of the world is full of proverbs and maxims, showing that the man who gives liberally is always the wise man. He gains not only the approval of himself and his fellowmen, but he actually gains in material wealth while the selfish and miserly reap only contempt.

It is also a "good sight for sore eyes" to see the hundreds of busy men and women in Omaha who are giving their valuable time to raising money for these worthy objects. They are busy people and are neglecting their own businesses for the sake of working in charity and philanthropy, getting nothing in return except the consciousness of good deeds done. Which, after all, is the best kind of pay.

Several Paintings And Bronzes from Exhibit May Stay

Several more purchases of paintings and bronzes now being shown at the Fontenelle by the Fine Arts society will probably be made before the exhibit closes Tuesday evening. A Dougherty painting and a Frieske "On the River" are being considered by an Omaha art lover and the Gutzon Borglum seated figure of Lincoln, admired by all who have seen it, will perhaps remain in Omaha. The prospective purchasers will make their decisions known today. C. N. Dietz bought two Solon Borglum bronzes last week.

Miss Gertrude Young gave a studio talk at 3:30 o'clock today.

Hundreds thronged the art gallery Sunday.

Man Who Steals a Clock Has Pocket Full of Hard Cash

Joe Uhl, alias John Meira, of St. Joseph, maneuvered about the Burgess-Nash store for more than an hour Saturday in an attempt to get away with some merchandise. He was under the watchful eye of Special Officer Tagal, however, and when he stuck an alarm clock under his coat Officer Tagal snared him. When searched at headquarters he had $200 on his person. Judge Foster fined him $25 and costs.

Wyoming Division of the Union Pacific Reorganized

President Calvin of the Union Pacific is back from a western trip that had to do with the reorganization of the official and working force of the Wyoming division of the railroad system. He is not commenting on what was done or what is to happen in the future.

It is reported that the Wyoming division having been reorganized, attention will next be turned to the Nebraska and Kansas divisions of the road. What changes, if any, will be made on these divisions is not announced.

On the Wyoming division Bell of the Ogden Railway Terminals company was appointed superintendent at Cheyenne, vice Sam Toucey, transferred to other duties.

GRAINS TAKE BIG SLUMP IN PRICES

Cash Wheat Declines Seven Cents, While Options Drop
Further Down.

OTHER GRAINS FOLLOW

The high cost of living got bumped good and plenty Monday when cash wheat on the Omaha market sold off 4 to 7 cents; corn, 3, and oats 1 1/4 to 1 1/2 cents per bushel.

While the cash market was hit hard, the blow aimed at it did not land as hard as the one received by the options. The December option on wheat went off 5 May, 1/4, and July 10 1/4 cents per bushel from the high price of last Saturday, when July sold at $1.59 1/4, with May, $1.80, and December, $1.75.

The Omaha market was in line with that of Chicago, where the declines were correspondingly great. The sensational drop was attributed to three reasons: Falling off in the export demand, the investigations that are being conducted in numerous cities to ascertain the cause for the high cost of food products, and the continued talk of an embargo on grain going to Europe.

Omaha Dealers Not Hurt.

It is asserted that Omaha grain dealers were not hurt and by the decline that started in at the opening of the market and continued well on to the close, when a little reaction occurred. Generally, during the last week or ten days, anticipating a break in prices, they had hedged by selling against most of their purchases, thus enabling them as a rule to break even, or thereabouts.

Wheat receipts were heavy, there being 224 carloads on the market. Everybody was afraid to buy and no one was anxious to sell, so most of the stuff was carried over. Where sales were made, the price ranged from $1.66 to $1.71 per bushel, the price depending largely upon the grade.

While corn slumped in sympathy with wheat the decline was not so great. However, there was not much business done in corn. The receipts were 145 carloads and the prices ruled at 87 1/2 to 87 3/4 cents per bushel.

Oats were a little more steady and were more sought than the other grains. The receipts were fifty-five carloads, selling at 52 1/4 to 53 1/2 cents per bushel.

Partial Rallies Follow Big Drop.

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Wheat prices came down today with a crash, breaking in some cases as much as 9 1/4 cents a bushel. Big sales by some of the leading houses started a general movement to unload holdings and gave an opening for aggressive selling by bears.

Talk of the likelihood of an armistice in Europe had considerable to do with weakening the market and so also had warnings of the presence of a fighting submarine in the Atlantic. Continued reference to a possible embargo by the United States was likewise a factor.

July wheat, in which the greatest decline took place, fell to $1.45, as compared with $1.54 1/4 to $1.54 3/4 at the finish on Saturday.

In later dealings, the market scored rallies. The greatest recovery was in the last hour and was due to an unexpected falling off shown in the United States visible supply. Prices, however, closed weak at net losses of 3 1/4 cents to 4 1/2 cents a bushel, with December at $1.73 1/2 to $1.73 3/4, May $1.80 to $1.80 1/4 and July, $1.49 1/4 to $1.50.

Woman Sues Saloon Men for Selling Liquor to Husband

One hundred and fifty thousand dollars is the amount Mrs. Cora Kinsley is asking of the Massachusetts Bonding and Insurance company and the Illinois Surety company, bondsmen for P. J. Martin, Ralph R. Carley, William Stokes, I. S. Jones, Theodore L. Keil, James W. Lowry and P. Boyce, South Side saloonmen. She claims that the above-mentioned men sold her husband intoxicating liquors and as a result he has become a habitual drunkard, causing him to lose his property, health and capacity to earn money and also depriving her and her two children of her husband's support. In her petition she claims that her husband, Frank Kinsley, earned $250 per week before becoming a liquor addict.

The case is before Judge Woodrough in the United States district court.

Farmers Use Parcel Post to Help Feed The City Dwellers

A number of Omahans are trying to beat the high cost of living by ordering food commodities direct from the farmer by means of the parcel post system. Since the great increase in the cost of living the parcel post has been nearly congested with eggs, butter and dressed poultry. The parcel post shipments of poultry in the city are very heavy, according to Postmaster C. E. Fanning, due to the approach of Thanksgiving.

Stylish Crooks Steal Provisions

Comfortably seated in a stylish touring car, thieves drove up Monday morning at 5 o'clock to H. Wohler's grocery store, 5144 North Sixteenth street, smashed their way through the door, and loaded into the car three cases of eggs, six sacks of sugar, fourteen sacks of flour, thirty pounds of butter, five hams, twelve sides of bacon, fifteen pounds of coffee, thirty pounds of cheese, thirty dozen of men's socks and four boxes of cigars. Having accomplished their morning's work the robbers sat back in the powerful machine and ordered the driver to "let 'er go." The auto gathered speed just as R. H. O'Donnell, 5306 North Sixteenth street, caught a glimpse of its happy occupants.
