HUSKER SUCCESS HINGES ON TODAY

Season Will Be Successful One if Stewart's Men Can Triumph Over Notre Dame

VISITORS ARE FAVORITES

By F. S. HUNTER. Upon the result of the clash on Nebraska field in Lincoln today depends the success of the 1916 Nebraska football season.

If the clan of the Cornhuskers delects Notre Dame this afternoon, Nebraska supporters will be able to forgive and forget the defeat at the hands of the Jayhawkers. But if the Hoosiers triumph over Stewart's men, 1916 will not be an unsuccessful season. It will not be a disastrous season, for the Cornhuskers have won three of their big games, those with the Oregon Aggies, Ames and Iowa, but because the foot ball enthusiasts of this state have seen three Huskers eleven sweep through three seasons unmarked by defeat, it is only natural the loss of two games would make them regard the year as an unsuccessful one.

Notre Dame will go into the game this afternoon a favorite. But the Hoosiers will be rather scant favorites, not the top-heavy favorites they were two weeks ago. For they won't play the same team that represented Nebraska two weeks ago. There's a new life, a new spirit, a new courage in the Cornhusker eleven. It was manufactured a week ago when Dick Rutherford, Vic Halligan and Owen Frank, star of a former day, donned the mole skin and gave the new Cornhuskers a touch of that fight that the old Cornhuskers always had, and it was first exhibited before the public eye on Iowa field last Saturday when the Hawkeyes, a more powerful eleven than any Nebraska had encountered before, became an apparently impotent and weakling organization with which the rejuvenated warriors of the scarlet and cream toyed at will.

That Little "If." The Cornhuskers have the same fight this afternoon and play the same kind on ball they did against Iowa and get an even break in the luck, they will win. If they have the same lack of fight and play the same indifferent ball they did against Kansas, they'll be flattened out like a ten-ton roller would flatten out a shredded wheat biscuit.

There isn't any reason, so far as we can see, why Nebraska shouldn't win this afternoon. It is, of course, possible that Notre Dame, completely outclassed Nebraska, and there are those gridiron fans who hold to this belief. But we fail to see where the Notre Dame record is as formidable as some make out.

The Hoosiers lost to the Army, they lost by twenty points and they were forward-passed to death by Oliphant and Vidal, two men against whom they had played before, and Omaha never had a particularly high regard for Vidal. Creighton stopped him very effectively last year. Harper's men only beat the Michigan Aggies, who'll weak this year, 14 to 0, and they didn't do so much against South Dakota, a team Creighton has a good chance to lick. And Corral, the star of the team, is said to be still hindered by injuries received two weeks ago.

Both Will Fight

It is true, of course, that Notre Dame probably will fight harder to beat Nebraska than against any other team, for the Indians want revenge for last year's defeat at the hands of the mighty Chamberlain. But Nebraska is going to fight harder, too. The Cornhuskers know what they are up against. They haven't any Chamberlain to save their skins this year as they did last. They haven't any Chamberlain to reel off long gains. They haven't any Chamberlain to stop every hostile rush on the left side of the line. But they've got eleven strong and sturdy youths who are going to try to do those things and that all we can ask.

Notre Dame may win this afternoon. Nebraska may win, the game may be a tie, but no matter what the result, it's going to be a grand foot ball game, a game full of the excitement and thrills that make foot ball one of the greatest of American sports, and the score is going to be close. The teams will lineup as follows:

NEBRASKA. NOTRE DAME.

Curry, L. E. E. ... Whipple; Kneib, L. T. T. ... Goughan; Moore, C. C. C. ... Bachman; ...

Stewart Sends Huskers Through One More Scrimmage for Hoosiers

Lincoln, Nov. 29.—(Special.)—Twenty-two husky Notre Dame gridiron warriors, accompanied by Coach Jess Harper and Assistant Coach Jess Rockne, blew into Lincoln at 8:40 this morning and put up at the Lincoln hotel, where the players spent the entire morning in loafing.

Harper immediately proceeded to manufacture several choice gloom stories that three of his most valuable men were out of condition for a hard battle, such as the Cornhuskers might be expected to give. He admitted that the rest of his squad was in fair shape. Notwithstanding injuries, Harper will start his regulars, according to the lineup he announced, and it was apparent at a glance that the visitors were in prime shape for a hard game.

Nebraska polished off the plays to be used Thursday at a morning practice and the Huskers ran through formations smoothly, although the week's practice has not been reassuring. The Huskers are apparently in the same rut that has marred the work all season and the play last night lacked the fire and spirit necessary to win against a first class eleven. The practice was better than any held before the Kansas game but it did not compare with the splendid showing made just prior to the Iowa battle. Some of the Huskers are still lagging bruises and it has slowed down the backfield.

Dr. Stewart, strongly against his own wishes, decided at the last minute he would risk one more scrimmage because the varsity was badly in need of it. He risked and lost, for two of his regulars were sent to the hospital. The team physician, Dr. Everett, said today it was possible they might be in shape for the game and then again they might not.

Owen Frank and Dick Rutherford again showed the varsity up by using Notre Dame formations and they smashed their way through for several touchdowns. Lincoln will entertain her biggest foot ball crowd, it became evident today, with the incoming trains bringing hundreds of former Husker students to the city. Hotels and rooming houses will be rushed to handle the crowds. Athletic Manager Reed said that the remaining tickets were being snapped up and he expected every inch of space to be taken. Reed announced that the game would start promptly at 2:30.

Coach Jess Harper ventured just one prediction and that was it would be a hard battle. Harper admitted four of the Notre Dame linemen weighed over 200 apiece and that McInerney, the heaviest man on the squad, tipped the scales at 227 pounds. The Notre Dame squad had the use of Nebraska field the entire afternoon behind closed gates.

Dr. Stewart was equally reticent. "We know what we have to go up against," he said. "Notre Dame has one of the best, best-trained elevens in the west. We will fight hard."

Bellevue Warriors Off for Last Game of Season at Tarkio

The Bellevue college foot ball squad left for Tarkio, Mo., yesterday afternoon to play the last game of the season. The team spent last night at Coon, Ia., and will journey to Tarkio this morning. The game will be played after dinner. With the conclusion of the game the season will be over and all training rules will be relaxed.

All of the members of the squad are in fairly good condition, with the exception of Williams, who is still in bed. The Omaha lad has been suffering from a twisted leg.

Fourteen men besides the coach made the trip. They will lineup as follows: Erwin, Ic.; Gustafson, It.; Johns, Ig.; Kinnier, c.; Allen, rg.; Daugherty, rt.; Stewart, re.; Mincer or Evans, q.; Picotte, lb.; Captain Rately, rb.; Shainholtz, fb.; Dunlap, a halfback and Ebersole, a linesman, also made the trip. This is the same lineup which started against Doane. Not much is known of Tarkio this season as most of the games, the Missourians have played have been with colleges not in Nebraska.

TWO GRID GAMES IN OMAHA TODAY

Creighton Battles South Dakota, While Central High is Tackling St. Joe Warriors.

TEAMS EVENLY MATCHED

The foot ball season comes to a close in Omaha today with two big games to provide local gridiron followers with their farewell treat. Creighton clashes with South Dakota at Creighton field and Central high meets St. Joseph high at Rourke park.

Both games promise to be interesting. Creighton is possessed of a good eleven this year and South Dakota, excepting the conflict with Minnesota, acquitted itself very creditably in all its games this fall.

Blue and white followers foresee a victory for their warriors, but the Coyotes have just as many supporters who own other ideas on the subject. The two teams will enter the fray pretty evenly matched and neither squad a favorite.

Tommy Mills has been working diligently with his charges for the last ten days and those who have followed the practice over the locals will go into the game prepared to put up the best fight of the season. And that means they will put up some fight, for the Creightonites have been playing good foot ball all fall.

Depend on Pass. It is probable Creighton will depend largely upon the forward pass for its attack. Mills' men are unusually proficient at the aerial game, with Dutch Platz hurling the oval, and Long, Flanagan, Lutes, Hill and Mulholland on the receiving end, and South Dakota will have to have a mighty strong defense to break the passes up.

The Coyotes are coming to Omaha determined to wipe the Creightonites off the face of the map. Last year Creighton battled South Dakota to a 6 to 6 tie and very effectively stopped Mr. Vidal who, South Dakota thought, would run wild against the locals. Mr. Vidal has been running wild as a member of the Army team this year, but he didn't do anything much against Creighton last Thanksgiving. So the Coyotes have visions of avenging that tie by walloping Omaha's prides this afternoon.

Both teams will present their full strength, neither eleven being handicapped by injuries. The lineup is as follows: CREIGHTON. SOUTH DAKOTA. Mulholland, T. L. T. ... Franklinfield; McCarthy, L. E. E. ... Bealey; Payne, L. G. G. ... Allman; Green, R. C. C. ... Marney; Stapleton, R. G. G. ... Marsh; Tabin, H. E. E. ... Bill; Hunsicker, R. E. E. ... Dumas; Long, Q. B. B. ... Coffey; Phillips, L. B. B. ... Rhelgel; Smith, R. E. E. ... McInerney; Lutes, F. B. F. ... McKinnon.

Omaha is Favorite.

If Central High wins over St. Joseph this afternoon it will wind up a season unmarked by defeat. Mulligan's lads will go into the game favorites over the Missourians, but the boys from down the river are expected to show stubborn opposition and make a fight of it at least. St. Joseph will outweigh Omaha a bit and they have a fast backfield, including one man who is said to be fleet on foot as the mercury-hoofed Mercury. The lineup of the teams.

OMAHA. ST. JOSEPH.

Bemis Park Reserves Win From Burgess-Nash

The Bemis Park Reserves proved too fast for the Burgess-Nash reserves in a gridiron combat staged yesterday afternoon and the former romped home with a victory, 6 to 0. Jack Pollard was the star of the Bemis Parkers while Tommy Wilson proved the stellar light among the Burgess-Nash troupe.

JAYHAWK BATTLES TIGER OF MIZZOU

Kansas Intends to Claim Valley Title if Victorious Over Missouri Eleven.

H. KENDALL CHALLENGES

Foot ball reigns supreme in the southwest, filling the college towns with thousands of alumni returned for the "really big games" of the year between rivals whose annual meetings have featured Thanksgiving days for decades.

In the Missouri valley the meeting of Kansas and Missouri held first place in interest because of the fact that Kansas stakes its claim to a conference championship on the outcome of the battle with the Tigers. Equally important from the sporting point of view, however, was the clash of Nebraska and Notre Dame at Lincoln, in which the Indians will try to retrieve the one-point defeat suffered last year at the hands of the Cornhuskers.

Far south western gridiron fans expect real foot ball in the game between the University of Texas and Texas A. and M. at Austin, which many say will decide the state championship. Caution has been the dominating characteristic of reports from Lawrence and Columbia regarding the game between Kansas and Missouri. Starting out as one of the weaker machines of the year, Kansas has developed a fighting spirit and crafty defensive which culminated two weeks ago in the greatest foot ball upset the valley has known in years, the defeat of Nebraska by the Jayhawkers.

Whatever the outcome the Missouri valley championship probably will remain a matter of argument, since no one team has a clear record, since no Notre Dame's record this year has not been the triumph of 1915, but neither has Nebraska shown the scoring power of last year. Nebraska generally is favored to win tomorrow.

Other Big Games.

Other contests of interest to be played tomorrow will be Creighton against University of South Dakota at Omaha; Haskell against Highland Park at Des Moines; Henry Kendall against Missouri School of Mines at Tulsa; Kansas Aggies against Washburn at Manhattan; Rice Institute against University of Arizona at Houston; St. Louis against Washington university at St. Louis; University of Arkansas against Mississippi Aggies at Memphis; University of Oklahoma against Oklahoma Aggies at Oklahoma City; William Jewell against Missouri Wesleyan at Cameron; Baylor university against Texas Christian university at Fort Worth.

The challenge of Henry Kendall college, of Tulsa to Notre Dame for a post-season game at Tulsa Saturday has aroused hope that the Oklahoma champions will have the chance to meet one of the important teams of the middle west. So far Kendall has not been defeated and has scored 450 points in nine games.

Head of Bryan Man Drops in the Basket

(From a Staff Correspondent.) Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 29.—(Special.)—The appointment of T. C. Lawler of Hastings as deputy revenue collector for the Fifth district instead of the reappointment of Cecil Matthews to the position has caused considerable comment in Lincoln and again brings up the question whether the Bryan crowd is to feel the sting of Hitchcock's displeasure.

Mr. Matthews has made no secret of his opposition to Senator Hitchcock and his fealty to Mr. Bryan. After he was appointed deputy collector, Mr. Matthews sold his paper, the Riverton Review, to his brother, Loren Matthews, but the latter continued the thrills at Senator Hitchcock and it is this "disloyalty" on the part of the editorial little brother which is doubtless the cause of the fall of the political axe upon the neck of the office-holding big brother.

Rumor has it that Chief Collector George L. Loomis had been told that unless he let Matthews go, his own appointment might not be confirmed. It is also hinted this morning that a concerted effort will be made to weed out all disloyal democrats.

Spalding Plays Indians.

Spalding, Neb., Nov. 29.—(Special Telegram.)—The Grand Island college team will play their Turkey day game against the local college eleven. Spalding will have its full strength out for the visitors. Coach Barry has made a slight change in his lineup, sending the shift little Sullivan from half to quarter to replace Tager and filling up the gap by placing Grimm, a guard, at half.
