

INVESTMENT PAYS OUT DAILY RETURNS

Opportunity Given the Omaha Public to Make Profitable Investment at Home.

AND IT GIVES SATISFACTION

By A. R. GROH.
Here is another opportunity for you to make a profitable investment in an Omaha enterprise. It is an investment that pays big dividends and an investment that you cannot lose. It is as safe as government bonds.
About $13,250 of the $20,000 offered for subscription has already been taken up by shrewd investors. So, don't delay too long.
The attractive investment which I have recommended is the budget of the Young Women's Christian association. The sum of $20,000 is now being raised for it. The "Y. W." of course, is very largely self-supporting. But its activities are so wide and its charges are so small that a few thousands must be raised each year to make both ends meet.

Dollar a Year.
You can readily see why there is need to solicit some funds when you remember that a membership in the "Y. W." costs only $1 a year. It is made so low in order that no girl or woman will be kept out because of a prohibitive fee. This $1 entitles the member to all privileges, such as admission to entertainments, discount in cafe and cafeteria, use of library, entrance to all educational classes on payment of small fee, use of bathing pool for small fee, registration in employment and boarding house directory, membership in clubs, admission to summer home in the country at low rates, use of the reception, rest, reading and writing rooms of the building.

The public baths are open to non-members at 15 cents. Members are charged only 10 cents for fifteen admissions for the small sum of $1.

Runs Summer Home.

The association's employment and boarding house directory gets positions for young women and refers them to respectable boarding houses. The association keeps a secretary at the Union station all the time to help girls who come to the city. All summer the association's summer home at Bennington is open, where members can have an inexpensive outing.

The educational department has a staff of eleven teachers, all experts. Here, too, the fees are much below cost. For example, an English grammar course for foreign girls is given at 50 cents for fifteen lessons. The beginning and advanced English courses for foreign girls are given with no fee at all. In French and German a course of fifteen lessons is given at $3. A home nursing course of fifteen lessons costs but $3.

Domestic science, domestic art, millinery, physical education classes are all taught by experts at very small cost to members.

Various clubs are conducted. There are six "campfire" groups of high school girls. The Central Friendship club, the Clover club, several grade school clubs, Business Women's club, clubs for the girls in some of the stores and factories—all these are manifestations of the far-reaching work of the association which surely have a wonderful power for good among the girls and young women of the city.

Mrs. J. P. Lord is chairman of the campaign for $20,000. Mrs. Palmer Findley, Mrs. W. A. Willard, Mrs. W. E. Rhoades and Miss Grace Oddie are captains of teams.
It is an absolutely safe investment, as stated before, and the dividends in satisfaction and good feeling are received by investors, not just yearly or quarterly, but daily.

Omaha Man to Head the Kansas Division of U. P.

J. P. Carey is appointed superintendent of the Union Pacific, with headquarters at Kansas City, succeeding R. L. Davis, resigned. Mr. Carey for several years was assistant superintendent of the Nebraska division, with headquarters here. Some months ago he was transferred to the St. Joe & Grand Island road as superintendent, in which position he was serving at the time of being transferred back to the Union Pacific, in charge of the Kansas division.
Carey is an Omaha boy, born and reared here, and, though but about 35 years of age, he has been with the Union Pacific practically all his life.

Omaha Boy Director of Cudahy Packing Company

Another Omaha boy has come to the fore in the business world. Harry F. Wilkins, who is one of two new directors named to serve on the directorate of the Cudahy Packing company, is an old resident of this city. He has been with the Cudahy concern since before he donned long trousers and has held many responsible positions, including Chicago manager and their superintendent of the branch houses.

Mr. Wilkins and wife are in Omaha for the Thanksgiving holidays. They are visiting Mrs. Wilkins' mother, Mrs. Frank Colpetzer.

Oakland Livery Barn Is Destroyed by Fire

Oakland, Neb., Dec. 1.—(Special.)—The Oakland livery barn burned to the ground last night. It was an old building and there was no chance to save any horses, buggies or harness. The building was owned by Herman Tonjes of Scribner and was insured for $1,200. Pete McLain, the liveryman, lost all his equipment, and Clarence Carlson, a farmer, lost a valuable driving team, and John Mum, another farmer, a horse and buggy.

OMAHA BOYS MAKE NEW DEATH ENGINE

John Brotherton and William Campen, College Students, Invent a Shell Hurler.

RUNS ON STEAM POWER

Two Omaha boys, John Brotherton and William Campen, have invented a machine for projecting shells by means of steam instead of powder. The boys began to work on the device when taking physics at the Omaha Central High school in 1914. Since that time Brotherton has been working on the machine at the University of Chicago, while Campen worked at the University of Omaha. Brotherton came home for Thanksgiving and the young inventors compared notes, finding that both reached the same conclusion in different laboratories.

This machine utilizes the steam in a steam turbine and thus develops a great amount of centrifugal force. The shell to be projected would be rotated by means of the turbine. When the desired speed is developed the shell is automatically released and made to pass through a special groove which will transform the centrifugal energy into forward energy.

Experiment in Cellar.

The machine has been made in miniature and is operated in Campen's cellar, the Omaha laboratory of the students. The device will throw the shells a distance of from two to three miles, when made in its normal size. The boys realize that it could not be used for long distance cannonading, but they are confident that for short range work it would be less expensive to operate. They point out that if salt-peter should run out that the machine could be used in its place. The initial power need not be steam. It could be electricity or gas.

The name of the machine is "The Brotherton-Campen Turbine Gun." The boys have taken the necessary steps to patent the device. They have written to the United States government asking it to investigate their invention and to see if it could be used successfully.

Van Engle Sues Railway Company For Fifty Thousand

Fifty thousand dollars is the sum asked from the Omaha & Council Bluffs Street Railway company by August Van Engle in a suit for damages filed Friday. The complainant alleges that a street car hit the horse and wagon he was driving September 26, 1916, at Thirty-eighth and Cumming streets. As a result of the accident Van Engle says he has suffered "permanent injuries."

Thieves Thursday Were Hungry Lot

Thieves continued their raids on Thanksgiving day.
E. P. O'Donald, 5306 North Sixteenth, reported the loss of six chickens, but two turkeys at this place were not molested.
J. B. Downing, 2010 Spring street, lost eight chickens.
Fire cases of whisky were stolen from the saloon of Lewis Antonio, 1113 South Sixth street.
Mrs. J. Madden, 1923 Leavenworth street, reported the loss of a complete new outfit of Thanksgiving garments, which were taken from her lodgings. She spent $75 for the new togs.

Omaha is Building Bigger Houses Now

Omaha is building fewer but bigger and better houses, according to figures for the month of November, 1916, compared with the corresponding month of the last year, according to the records of the city building department.
The November record of the current year shows that ninety permits were issued to erect buildings whose total value is $726,105. In November last year 153 permits were issued for building whose value was $656,075.
In all of 1915 there were 2,241 permits issued and in the eleven months of the present year the number totals 1,365. But the value of this year's buildings are $6,304,428, while all of last year's structures totaled in value only $4,741,475.

Uni of Omaha Professor Finds Cheap Extractor

Prof. Leland Lewis, head of the chemistry department of the University of Omaha, has been working on a fat extractor for some time and last Wednesday announced to his classes in food chemistry that the device was in working order. It is simple and inexpensive. Those in use now cost anywhere from $5 to $10, while the new one costs about 40 cents. The principle is the same, that of using ether, and the results are very accurate. A number of the apparatus may be seen working in the university's chemistry laboratory.

Eluded Police for Six Months, but is Caught
