

PERMANENT HOME FOR OLD BROWNELL

That is Object of Campaign to Raise Funds by Popular Subscription.

CLOCK WILL TELL STORY

By A. R. GROH. Twenty-five thousand dollars a day. That is what Omaha expects, or at least is expected, to give during the next ten days for Brownell Hall.

The plans are all made, the teams all organized, and Wednesday at the Hotel Fontenelle was the opening dinner, when all the workers on the seventeen teams gathered for final instructions.

Now it is ready for a permanent home "for all time." C. C. and J. E. George presented the school with a beautiful site in "Fairacre."

The tract slopes gently toward the south. On the higher part of the ground will be erected a splendid building, or maybe several buildings.

Brownell Hall was established in 1863 by Bishop Joseph C. Tabot, and its first home was in the abandoned Saratoga Springs hotel, which stood three miles north of Omaha.

It weathered many gales of discouragement and poverty in the early years. There were Indians and grasshoppers and droughts.

The character of its alumnae is one of its strongest recommendations, for "by their fruits ye shall know them."

So, get your check book ready and see that ink and pen are at hand, for you probably have the honor of being on that list of 7,000.

McGrew Says Western Railroads Are the Best

C. F. McGrew returned Friday from several weeks spent in New York and vicinity and says that the most noticeable thing in traveling is the superior equipment of railroad trains west of Chicago compared with those in the east.

MAYOR ENJOINED FROM JOY RIDING

Judge Leslie Holds Dahلمان May Not Use City Auto for Pleasure Jaunts

COMMISSIONERS REBUKED

James D. Murphy, a boilermaker, who "on behalf of himself and other taxpayers," brought suit in district court against the mayor of Omaha, the city commissioners and the city comptroller, seeking to enjoin the municipal chief executive from using his automobile, purchased for him by the city, for anything save strictly official business, won a victory.

Judge Leslie issued a temporary order enjoining Mayor Dahلمان from taking any further pleasure jaunts in his city-owned machine and rebuked the city fathers for the alleged appropriation of funds for the upkeep and maintenance of cars for the private use of officials or employees.

"Certain it is," declared Judge Leslie, "that no official or employee of the city has a right to appropriate the city's automobiles to his own private use habitually, and the commissioners in appropriating funds for the upkeep and maintenance of cars for private use are misappropriating public funds and may, in my judgment, be held liable therefor on their bonds."

Mayor Has No Fight. The judge ruled that the mayor has no more right to use the city's automobiles for the private use of himself or members of his household than an other resident of the city has to use it for private purposes.

"It is just as much a wrong," he continued, "for a city official or employee to go to the city's supply tank and take gasoline therefrom for one of the city's automobiles when it is being made private use of as it would be for any private citizen to appropriate the city's gasoline for his private car."

"I am inclined to the opinion that the city commissioners may provide automobiles for the use of certain departments of the city government, but there is grave doubt in my mind as to the authority of the commissioners to provide certain appointive officials with automobiles or other conveyances."

Mayor Jim Says He Can Still Ride On A Horse or Bicycle

"Well, I can ride a horse if I can't ride an automobile," remarked Mayor Dahلمان when advised of the action of the district court in connection with an action brought by a South Sider to restrain the mayor and city commissioners from certain uses of city automobiles.

The mayor says he rode a horse before automobiles were invented and he is good for a few more years a-top of a likely critter of the equine family.

"Or," added the mayor, "I might ride a motorcycle or a bicycle. I could afford to buy either."

As to the serious phase of the situation, the mayor does not care to offer any comment until he has read the written decision and consulted with the city legal department.
