To Change Release Rule.

A great part of today's session of the league was taken up in discussing a proposition made today by Secretary Baker of the Philadelphia club to amend the constitution so that no player should be released after August 1 each year unless all the clubs in the league were asked for waivers.

By unanimous vote the league will take adequate care of John B. Day, former owner and one of the founders of the New York club, during the remainder of his life.

George Stallings, manager of the Boston Nationals for the last four years, tonight was regarded here as the leading candidate for the vacant position of manager of the Chicago Nationals.

While the chancellor took the position that the American baker has always made much greater profits than the European baker, he said it did not appear now that the baker is greatly profiting under the present conditions.

The chancellor declared himself in favor of a definite and standard size of the loaf, even if the price had to rise, for he believed it best to have the public understand how much it was getting for its money all the time.

LONG PROFITS IN BREAKFAST FOODS

Chancellor Avery, Before Farmers' Congress, Takes Whirl at the H. C. L.

STORY OF LOAF OF BREAD

"In certain breakfast foods we get 28 cents' worth of wheat for 25 cents when it is done up in a neat sanitary package and delivered to the door by the grocer's automobile delivery."

"When a woman buys wet hominy delivered at her door she pays for 5 cents worth of corn when she buys 30 cents worth of hominy."

The foregoing were some of the statements made by Chancellor Samuel Avery of the University of Nebraska in his talk Wednesday at the Hotel Castle to the Nebraska Farmers' congress.

Being a chemist then, he took one of the ablest and most careful students in the department of chemistry at the university and set this student the task of determining the amount of grain actually contained in certain well known breakfast foods, with the result given above.

"Now," said the chancellor, "while I do not advocate that we make our own breakfast foods by pounding up grain in primitive methods, I give these facts merely to show that in a pinch, under siege conditions, we could save a great part of the expense of our food."

"I have been able to straddle a horse ever since I was knee high to a grasshopper, but I was never able to straddle one of the wild ones."

"I was offered as high as $25 a head to gather the horses, but I turned it down."

"Why, the only way to catch them was to use strategy—sneak up behind them with a swift pony and lasso them."

TRAPPER COULDN'T SNARE WILD HORSES

Edmund Priest, Arizona Hunter, Tries His Hand at Capturing Nags.

BUT THEY GOT AWAY

How 150 wild horses of the United States Live Stock company increased to 1,100 in a little more than a month was the testimony presented by government attorneys before the "wild horse" jury yesterday afternoon.

John Sinclair, cattlemen of Flagstaff, Ariz., testified that he sold half of his 300 wild range horses to the United States Live Stock company in 1910 for $1,000.

"Why didn't you?" he was asked. "Because I didn't have them."

The fact that the bill of sale covered but 150 animals made little difference to J. S. Smith, president of the United States Live Stock company, the evidence showed.

Ben Fidler, real estate dealer of Sioux City, Ia., is just out approximately $14,000 of real estate. He was to get a large number of horses, but he never got anything, according to his testimony.

M. E. Silvius, Sioux Falls, S. D., manager of the Silvius Investment company, had equally bad luck. His losses, he said, were about $10,000 in real estate.

Sheriff Grabs Herd. He went to Coconino county, Arizona in quest of the horses promised him, he said, but he had bad luck.

After days of toil he related that he gathered twenty-nine horses, and as he rode proudly into Flagstaff with the bunch, the sheriff came out and replevined the lot.

"I wired the United States Live Stock company about the matter and they wired back that they wanted fair play for everyone and that they would insist upon it."

Finally, after a great deal of litigation I succeeded in getting five horses, all that I have to show for my property and work."

Although there never were more than 3,500 wild range horses on the Coconino reserve, testimony brought out by government attorneys in the "wild horse" case showed that the United States Live Stock company and individual members of that organization had made out bills of sale covering approximately 10,855 head.

Although this was the actual number recorded by Dan J. Cronin, recorder of Coconino county, Arizona, he testified that many more horses must have been sold which were not on his records.

He testified that the United States Live Stock company never owned over 300 horses on the range.

The United States Live Stock company owned anywhere near the number of horses it claimed, it never paid its proportion of taxes, was the testimony of S. Acker, county treasurer and tax collector. Taxes were assessed against the company but they were never paid, he said.

J. F. Doyle, assessor, corroborated the testimony of the Coconino county treasurer.

New Yorker Libeled In Novel is Given a $35,000 Judgment

New York, Dec. 14.—A verdict of $35,000 was given by a jury here today in favor of Police Magistrate Joseph E. Corrigan, in his suit against the Bobbs-Merrill company of Indianapolis, Ind., publishers of George Bronson Howard's novel, "God's Man," in which he alleged he was libeled.

Corrigan charged that one of the chief characters in the novel was intended to represent him and that it contained matter defamatory to him.

"I went to Arizona after some horses my brother had traded for, but soon gave it up," he said.

"It was hard enough to locate them with field glasses, let alone capture them."

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Buy Christmas Gifts

Washington, Dec. 14.—The president and Mrs. Wilson went Christmas shopping together today for the first time. Leaving the White House unexpectedly, they walked in front of the grounds and stood for a time looking at the presidential flag flying from a flag pole erected on the White House yesterday.

Smith had testified that in place of dynamite he had placed stove wood in the bombs and that he carried the dynamite and fuse away with him under his coat.
