The Yankee slugger chased in sixteen more runs than did Tris Speaker, the league's leading slugger, and thirty-two more than Ty Cobb, who was Speaker's only real rival for the batting honors.

DAUGHERTY THE BIG NOISE

Bellevue college freshmen signaled their entrance into the interclass tournament yesterday evening by defeating the sophomores in a fast game by the score of 25 to 18. Close guarding on the part of Erwin and Gustafson for the sophomores and poor shooting kept the sophomores in the lead for most of the first period until Captain Williams of the freshmen shifted Daugherty from forward to center and worked to forward himself. This left Daugherty freer and he responded by shooting three baskets in rapid succession and the period ended with the teams tied, 11 all. Daugherty made eight baskets in all and did most of the scoring for the freshmen the second half. He made sixteen points in all, two less than enough to tie the sophs. Erwin and Johns were almost the whole team for the sophomores. Lineup: FRESHMEN: SOPHOMORES: Daugherty, R. P. R. P., Rule, Williams, L. P. F., Johnson, Shainholtz, C. C. G., Gustafson, Dunlap, L. G. H. G., Erwin. Substitutes: Freshmen, Redfern for Dunlap. Sophs, Goals from field: Daugherty (8), Williams (2), Shainholtz, Redfern, Johns (3), Erwin (2), Rule, Johnson, Goals from foul: Williams, Rule, Johnson, Referee: Stewart, Timers: Cutler and Benjamin, Score: Chandler. The juniors ran away with the preps in the first game of the evening, 55 to 14. Allen of the juniors made twelve goals from the field, Evans made nine and the other juniors made two each. Zurcher scored three field goals and six free throws. He made all but two points for his team. As the annual foot ball banquet is scheduled for tonight and the annual German club Christmas celebration will take place Thursday evening, and as most of the students will leave for home Friday afternoon, the remainder of the interclass tournament will be played off after the holidays.

(Continued From Page One.) all of us, that is to make an extortionate profit because he has the power to do so. "I say that one reason why we have not gotten ahead faster with the marketing is because we have not educated the business public to the fact that it is equally as important to us as it is to the producer himself." Buying Power Goes to Waste. Fred L. Palmer, Limon, Colo., spoke of the necessity of national control of Equity-Union centralized exchanges, and the economic advantages of such control. President C. O. Drayton said: "Mr. Palmer is right. We're letting a lot of our buying power go to waste. If we have fifty exchanges we should unite our buying power. If we had 500 exchanges in the United States and they had the buying power united, it would be worth $500 to me alone next spring on the machinery I will have to buy. We want 500 exchanges and those united, and we're going to get them." Director Edwin W. Reed, Haigler, Neb., spoke on "Equity-Union Co-Operative Meat Packing Plants." He said this is entirely practicable and added that he would be in favor of levying on every member of the Equity-Union to help along this fight against the present meat packing companies. Thousands of Members. There are at the present time for the opening. There are at present 18,000 members of the organization in the nation according to the statement of Secretary George Denny of Greenville, Ill. Of this number 5,674 joined during 1916, which fact is cited by the delegates and the secretary to prove that the movement is popular and is growing. Eighty new local organizations were formed during the year. President C. O. Drayton of Greenville, Ill., in his opening address predicted equity-union packing houses flour mills, coal and lumber mills, in a few years, for he declared that the success of the equity-union creameries throughout the country would demonstrate the practicability of such movements. He cited particularly the conspicuous success of these creameries at Orleans, Neb., Aberdeen, S. D., and Limon, Colo. Co-Operation is Keynote. "The great question of distribution

Bopp's Answer Is a Sensational Charge

San Francisco, Dec. 20.—Detectives, not dynamiters, to uncover construction of submarines in the United States for the entente allies and shipment of Japanese from California for war duty, were hired by the German consulate here, according to Theodore Roche, in his opening statement for the defense of Franz Bopp and associates on trial for alleged dynamiting conspiracies. Roche said he was prepared to prove the Union Iron works of San Francisco built submarines here during 1915 for the entente allies and shipped the parts to Canada for assembly. He asserted British ships transported Japanese from San Francisco to Japanese war ships in the Pacific. Objections by the defense to the continuance of the trial on the ground that the government had not made out a prima facie case were denied by the court. In outlining his defense Roche said C. C. Crowley, Louis J. Smith, J. H. Van Knobbergen and Mrs. Margaret Cornell, alleged consulate spies, were supposed to keep tab on entente munitions shipments. It is on Smith's story of attempted dynamiting that the government relies mainly.

of the necessities of life," he continued, "direct from producer to the consumers, can be worked out successfully by equity-union co-operation, because equity-union co-operation will knock out all capitalism and profit-taking between the producer and consumer. All co-operation which is worked by a few is for the few and against the many. We must organize and educate the many to be equity-union co-operators. This is the great work of the Farmers' Equity union." In the absence of Mayor Dahlman, who was to have welcomed the delegates, E. V. Parrish, manager of the bureau of publicity, welcomed the delegates. The response was made by C. Vincent, delegate from Omaha.

WILSON URGES NATIONS AT WAR DISCUSS PEACE

(Continued From Page One.) fering it until these overtures had been answered but for the fact that it also concerns the question of peace and may best be considered in connection with other proposals which have the same end in view. The president can only beg that his suggestion be considered entirely on its own merits and as if it had been made in other circumstances." Then all the notes proceed identically, as follows: "The president suggests that an early occasion be sought to call out from all the nations now at war such an avowal of their respective views as to the terms upon which the war might be concluded and the arrangements which would be deemed satisfactory as a guaranty against its renewal or the kindling of any similar conflict in the future as would make it possible frankly to compare them. Indifferent to Means. "He is indifferent as to the means taken to accomplish. He would be happy himself to be of service or even to take the initiative in its accomplishment in any way that might prove acceptable, but he has no desire to determine the method or the instrumentality. One way will be as acceptable to him as another if only the great object he has in mind be attained." He takes the liberty of calling attention to the fact that the objects which the statements of the belligerents on both sides have in mind in this war are virtually the same as stated in general terms to their own people and to the world. Each side desires to make the rights and privileges of weak people and small states as secure against aggression or denial in the future as the rights and privileges of great and powerful states now at war. "Each wishes itself to be made secure in the future, along with all other nations and peoples, against the recurrence of wars like this and against aggression of selfish interest of any kind. Each would be jealous of the formation of any moral rival leagues to preserve an uncertain balance of power amidst multiplying suspicions; but each is ready to consider the formation of a league of nations to insure peace and justice throughout the world. Before that final step can be taken, however, each deems it necessary first to settle the issues of the present war upon terms which will certainly safeguard the independence, the territorial integrity and the political and commercial freedom of the nations involved. United States Vitaly Interested. "In the measures to be taken to secure the future peace of the world the people and government of the United States are as vitally and directly interested as the governments now at war. Their interest, moreover, in the means to be adopted to relieve the smaller and weaker people of the world of the peril of wrong and violence is as quick and ardent as that of any other people or government. They stand ready, and even eager, to cooperate in the accomplishment of these ends when the war is over, with every influence and resource at their command. "But the war must first be concluded. The terms upon which it is to be concluded they are not at lib-
