BRITISH WARSHIP CORNWALLIS SUNK

Battleship Sent to Bottom of Mediterranean Tuesday by Enemy Submarine.

THIRTEEN MEN MISSING

London, Jan. 11.—The sinking of the British warship Cornwallis by a submarine in the Mediterranean on Tuesday was announced today by the admiralty. The sea plane carrier Ben-My-Chree also has been sunk. Thirteen men from the Cornwallis are missing and are believed to have been killed by the explosion.

The official announcement says: "His majesty's ship Cornwallis, Captain A. P. Davidson, D. S. O., was sunk by an enemy submarine on the ninth in the Mediterranean. The captain and all the officers are saved but there are thirteen men missing and it is feared they were killed by the explosion."

"His majesty's sea plane carrier Ben-My-Chree, Commander O. R. Sanson, D. S. O., was sunk by gun fire in Mastelozzo harbor, Asia Minor, today. The only casualties were one officer and four men."

The warship referred to apparently is the British battleship Cornwallis of 14,000 tons. The last previous reports showed it was in service in the Mediterranean.

There is also a Cornwallis in the Z class, consisting of warships retired from active service, but the fact that it was sunk in the Mediterranean indicates that it is the battleship which has been lost.

The battleship Cornwallis was laid down in 1901. It was 405 feet long and was armed with four twelve-inch, twelve six-inch and twelve three-inch guns, six three-pounders and four torpedo tubes. Its normal complement was 750 men.

The Ben-My-Chree was a converted merchantman of 651 tons gross.

Prize Cockbirds And Oldest Hen at Kearney's Big Show

That he has four cockbirds which are so large and tame that he can drive them about, is the feature which J. C. Baughman, successful business man and poultry raiser of Topeka, Kan., says he has to bring to the Nebraska State Poultry association show in Kearney, which starts next Monday. One of these famous birds is the grand champion cock of the World's fair and is a mammoth Buff-Cochin which tips the beams at fourteen and three-quarter pounds. The others of the quartet are three of his sons, and none weighs less than thirteen pounds. The "boys" are each 2 years old.

But this is not the only queer sight which those who attend the show will see. A little Hamburg hen, which was hatched in April, 1900, and boasts of raising sixteen families, is to be there. It is owned by Mrs. H. H. McClure of Kearney and is the oldest hen living. The Kearney show bids fair to be the biggest and best in years. A bushel of mail awaits Secretary Smith, who will arrive today and establish his headquarters at the Commercial club rooms. There will be breeders and birds from all over the country.
