John McCormack Sings His Songs

So People Can Understand Them

"The way to sing to English speaking people is in the language they understand," writes Lynn Wilson, one of the best known newspaper men in the state of Connecticut, in a recent editorial tribute to John McCormack, the celebrated tenor, who will be heard at the Auditorium Tuesday evening, January 23, as the fourth number of the Retailer's Course.

Most of the great singers have chosen to sing most of their songs in foreign tongues, and the audience has expressed an enthusiasm that was far from feeling, while scanty attendance has indicated the real lack of popular interest. How different it is with John McCormack, the first really great singer who has deigned to sing in the English tongue. There are no cold audiences when McCormack appears. There are no empty houses when his voice is heard. His audiences are not composed of a few exclusive persons devoted to an art that is not and never can be national. There come into the McCormack audiences all the really cultured men and women of the community, who listen spellbound while a great artist sings great songs which they can understand.

Art is but a means of delineating and imitating truth. It is a means of conveying high thoughts from one mind to another. To convey such thought it is necessary that a medium of conveyance shall exist. So it that great literature in the French tongue will not be great literature to him who does not understand French. Nor can great songs be sung to those who understand only the English language, so that they will understand, save in English.

John McCormack is entitled to this fair meed of praise. He has done for song in America what Dante did for literature in Italy and what Spenser did for literature in England. That this should be so is the more to his credit, for his training was purely classical, and he was submitted to that rigorous culture which has made every great singer in America, before his time so far as the art of song was concerned, a foreigner. McCormack's Italian is perfect in pronunciation, and before an audience of cultured Italians he would be as much an artist as he is before an audience of Americans, singing in the tongue which Americans understand.

Tickets for reserved seats will be placed on sale Monday morning, January 15, at the box office of the Auditorium.

day afternoon. Those present were: Mesdames—Kate Shanahan, Kate O'Brien, Corina Callin, Mary Sheller, Anna Royer, Mary Anderson, Stella H. Wilson, Elizabeth Gentleman, Kate Kelly, Annie Wranck, Kate Grimes, Panny Gallagher, Josephine Wittig, Lily Williams, Katherine Drummy, Laura Miller, Bryda Boyle, Anna Elliott, Agnes Lacy, Nina Morrell, Catherine Beveridge, Marcelle Roberts, Mary Kinell, Agnes Whalen, Mamie Peterson, Annie Kelly, Mary Sutton, Bridget Donnelly, Agnes Alford, Miss Mary O'Brien.

Knights and Ladies of Security.

Omaha council No. 2295 will have an open meeting Monday evening at Swedish auditorium, at 1609 Chicago street, for the members and their friends. Visiting members are cordially invited.

Masquerade Ball.

Mondamin Lodge No. 111, Fraternal Aid Union, will give a prize mask ball Tuesday evening in the Lyric building.

Rosengren Tells

Of Cold Effect On

Storage Battery

Elmer Rosengren of the Nebraska Storage Battery company asserts that in cold weather the capacity of a storage battery is naturally less than in warm weather, but it is still more than enough to do its work, provided the car is driven enough to permit the generator to replace the current used.

In winter the motorist should keep in frequent touch with the battery service station. Stations such as the Willard Storage Battery company maintain all over the country are glad to test any battery and give the owner advice to keep it in good condition. As has already been pointed out, it is imperative that the battery be tested frequently to see that it is kept in a fully charged condition, and there is no better way of seeing that this is done regularly than by running the machine into the service station regularly and letting the expert in charge do it.

"The generator, of course, should return to the battery as much power as is taken out of it. The car manufacturer, though, cannot foresee the exact conditions under which the automobile is to be run. He builds to an average. If extraordinary service is demanded of the battery, the car owner should have some adjustment made to the generator, or should be prepared to have it charged at a service station, and the only way to tell if this charging is necessary is to have a hydrometer syringe wherewith to test the battery."

Florida

The charm of this delightful state during the period when the entire North may be in the throes of snow, blizzards and zero weather are all that are characteristic of a semi-tropical climate. Warm sunshine, bright, clear skies and bracing ocean breezes combine with the best of hotels and other living accommodations to make it, along with New Orleans, at once pre-eminent among places to visit during the winter.

What Is

Behind Tire Quality?

"Sheffield" on steel—"Sterling" on silver—"Goodyear" on rubber—hall-marks of quality every one.

Value as definite and unchangeable as the coin you spend.

Service as certain as sunrise.

Character of this sort in a product is no accident. It finds its source in conscious purpose, its expression in conspicuous ability.

The quality of Goodyear Tires, the value they represent, the service you can depend on them to give, hark back directly to these two essentials—to Goodyear purpose, and to Goodyear ability.

Quality—value—service—aren't these the sum of your desire in a motor car tire?

You will find them, in profitable and satisfying measure, in every Goodyear Tire.

Whether you measure tire virtue in miles, months, or money.

Whether you buy Goodyear Fabric Tires, or Goodyear Cords.

Each represents the highest accomplishment in its class. Each leads in its field.

The difference in price is due entirely to a difference in building cost. The Cords cost more to build, and they wear longer.

In either case, the money you spend buys 100 per cent value.

Every Goodyear product is built and marketed on that basis.

You yourself, by the amount you spend, determine the amount you shall receive.

"Goodyear" on rubber—our pride, your protection.

Goodyear Tires, Heavy Tourist Tubes and "Tire Saver" Accessories are easy to get from Goodyear Service Station Dealers everywhere.
