"Globe Trotters" Bring Joy to Old Friends at the Gayety. Those of us who live on laughs will find at least a banquet at the Gayety theater, where Jim Cooper's "Globe Trotters" hold the boards for the week. The first-night audience last evening seemed to enjoy the whole show.

Frank Hunter is the chief mirth-maker. As an actor and later as a negro detective, he drives the yawns away and replaces them with broad grins, if not hearty laughter. He does everything but sing and he does not even attempt that. Ed Swartz ought to sing more than the one song which earns him so much approval. His character acting is good and pairs well with the clever personifications by George Hickman.

Iring O'Hay is one of the best "straight men" seen at the Gayety this season. His monologue in the second part merited the prolonged plaudits it got. On the other hand, Julia Clifford is really young, pretty and vivacious, can sing and act and beautifully fills some scant uniforms. Elsie Lavedeau, another woman not without physical charms, is a worthy helpmate of Miss Clifford. Then there's Virginia Ware, who sings and dances well. The Isabella sisters also are not to be forgotten when passing the praise around. These two girls play the violin and mandolin.

Commander of Guard of Jeff Davis Dead in Nebraska. B. M. Derstine, a Nebraska Kansas Army man, will be buried today from his home at Stella, Neb., where he expired suddenly on Wednesday. His funeral has been delayed awaiting the arrival of a son from Oregon.

Mr. Derstine had an interesting war record, having enlisted in the Seventh Ohio cavalry and served two years and ten months. He was made first duty sergeant and promoted to second lieutenant in command of Company A, Seventh Ohio volunteer cavalry, serving in the army of the Ohio and Wilson's cavalry corps, and was one of the officers in command of the guard which conducted Jefferson Davis from Atlanta to Augusta, Ga. Mr. Derstine was born in Kentucky in 1837, but his early life was spent in Ohio. He was nearly 80 years old at the time of his death. Mr. Derstine was a member of the McKinley Post, Grand Army of the Republic, and took an active part in old soldiers' affairs. For nearly thirty years he had been a resident of Stella. His son, Charles, served in the Spanish war.

He is survived by his wife, his son, Charles, who now lives at Bend, Ore., and "One Touch of Nature Makes the Whole World Kin."

It's a commendable trait that when something has been of benefit to us, we want to share it with others who stand in need of the same help. It's the touch of Nature that makes the whole world kin—the wanting to be helpful to our fellow men. That is why people who have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy write letters to the manufacturers about it, and ask to have them published so that others will know what to do under the same circumstances. Behind every one of these letters is the warm hearted wish of the writer to be of use to some one else.

HAPPENINGS IN THE MAGIC CITY

Huwaldt Says Registration at High School Will Reach Five Hundred.

VISITS EACH OF SCHOOLS

At least 500 students will enroll at the South High school for the mid-year term, according to Principal Edward Huwaldt. The last week has been spent registering undergraduates who are now attending the school.

Two years ago the attendance at the local school was less than 350. Principal Huwaldt undertook the strenuous task of speaking daily at each grade school building in the city, centering his efforts largely on the graduating classes of the three north side schools, the Castelar, Edward Rosewater and Vinton street schools, that were only recently requested by the Board of Education to attend school on the South Side. At each school he spoke in all rooms alike, from the kindergarten to the eighth grade.

The opening basket ball game of the season found many students of the Vinton street school in attendance. Free admission tickets had been granted by the principal. The effect was that more than three-fourths of the classes that graduate from these formerly north side schools have enthusiastically consented to come to the high school here.

Overcome with Gas. Henry Lee, gas fitter, in the employ of the Omaha Gas company, was overcome while at work Friday morning. In company with Yarger, a fellow workman, he went to 4411 South Twenty-sixth street, to repair a leaky pipe. Yarger waited outside while Lee went within. As he stepped into the open air again, after completing the repairs, he was overcome.

Face Lacerated in Fight. With lacerated face James Whitten, 5064 South Thirty-ninth avenue, appeared at the police station last evening to complain against O. Powers, Twenty-eighth and Q streets, John Wiley, 2202 North Twenty-first street, and H. M. Huston, 2922 Davenport street. In a fight over some meat that had been purchased by Whitten, Powers attacked him.

Two men, Elmer Sumler, 2616 Y street, and John Harden, 5509 Q street, were brought to the station, but later released. They had participated in the fight in defense of Whitten. Powers was charged with mayhem.

Big Week at Yards. "A big week all around" is the way stockmen characterized the last record-breaking six days at the stock yards. A lack of cars is said to have hindered in marking up even larger records than were actually made. The hog receipts established the first record. The official total was 113,019 head, a gain of more than 6,000 over the previous record week. All records for up to six days were broken except that of a single day's run, Tuesday, which was the biggest day this week, falling about 200 short of the high figure chalked up February 13, 1912. Cattle receipts were 34,379 head, well above normal for this time of year, and the sheep run of 77,587 head was one of the largest ever received in January.

Trace Bogus Check. A bogus check for $450 is said to have been passed at a local bank one day last week. The receipted slip of paper was tracked to the rooms of five Austrians at 2906 R street by Detectives Fleming and Sullivan. The five were arrested and are being held for investigation.

It is claimed by the officers that these men were in an organized conspiracy to swindle local banks of large sums of money through bogus checks. Another bank had been "touched" with a check for $500 on Friday, but payment was refused by the cashier.

Ice Cutting Monday. Ice cutting at Seymour lake by men in the employ of the Cudahy packing plant will start the second time of the season Monday morning. The ice is reported to be about ten inches thick. Two hundred men will start the work.

Negro Steals Coal. Walter Graves, negro, Twentieth and U streets, was arrested at Twenty-seventh and N streets Saturday night by Special Officer Markberry of the Missouri Pacific railroad. He was discovered roaming about the railroad yards with a sack of coal on his back. The coal was confiscated by the railway agent.
