WOMEN WANT ONLY AN EQUAL CHANCE. Miss Agnes Burns Would Destroy Political Oligarchy and Set Up Real Democracy.

NEEDS OF WORKING GIRLS. To make real the so-called equal opportunities for women in industry is one reason working women crave the ballot, according to Miss Agnes Burns of Chicago, organizer for the National Woman's Trades Union league, who addressed the political and social science department of the Omaha Woman's club Monday.

"Women want the ballot not only for the equality it will give them in society as it now is, but in order to change society, to make it a democracy as it was intended—not to permit a few to govern and control everything."

"Of course, our success depends on women's comprehension of the meaning of citizenship and her attitude towards life, but even if she blundered as badly as man has, she would still be entitled to the vote."

"Working women seek the ballot for specific things as well—the eight-hour day, the minimum wage and fire and health protection, which are only to be secured by those who have voting power. The legislation is secured easily enough, but the enforcement of enacted laws is the big thing to work for."

Last night Miss Burns told the needs of the ballot for the woman in the working man's home. She also told of the coal miners' struggle to organize. Miss Burns' father helped organize the United Mine Workers of America, said to be the largest union in the world.

A luncheon will be given at the Commercial club today for Miss Burns.

Dr. M. O. Ricketts, Well Known Mason, Is Called by Death. Mathew O. Ricketts, aged 60 years, colored physician and surgeon and a resident of Omaha almost forty years, died Monday morning in St. Joseph hospital in St. Joseph, Miss. He had been ailing for six months with intestinal trouble. His brother Oscar of 1119 North Nineteenth street, this city, was at the bedside when the end came.

Dr. Ricketts' life story is the record of a self-made man. Although at first hampered by lack of financial means, nevertheless he won public and professional recognition by his perseverance and ability. He came to Omaha when 19 years from Louisville, Ky., his native city. He graduated from the Omaha Medical college and later built up a wide practice. In 1895 he was elected to the state legislature and served Douglas county for four years.

Dr. Ricketts was a member of Excelsior lodge No. 40 of this city. He was a past grand master of the Missouri lodge and will be buried under its auspices Wednesday afternoon. Interment will be in St. Joseph, Mo.

Police Close Unique Case of Stolen Goods. Of $1,200 worth of goods stolen from the M. E. Smith company by H. Anderson, colored, employed as a porter there, $1,125 worth of articles have been paid for by persons who took advantage of the janitor's bedrock prices for "swell scenery," according to Steve Maloney, chief of detectives, who handled the case.

In addition to this, thirty-six persons, after they had paid for the goods, appeared in police court and pleaded guilty to having purchased stolen property. Not one of them attempted to prove their innocence and all received thirty-day suspended sentences. The chief of sleuths says the case was one of the most unique he ever worked on.

Detectives Grab Two Men For Highway Robbery. Two alleged bandits, believed to have been responsible for many recent holdups in Omaha, have been placed under arrest by Detectives Pznanowski and Barta and are held at the city jail for investigation. They gave the names of Fred Davis and Arthur Smith and live at 1609 California street.

Davis, the elder of the two, carried a pair of knuckles. The pair answered the description of two men who have staged several holdups on West Farnam street.

Old Union Pacific Bridge Is Now Being Dismantled. The Union Pacific is rapidly dismantling the old bridge over the Missouri river here, the work so far having to do with taking down the overhead steel. As fast as it is taken down it is piled up on the floor of the old structure and later loaded onto flat cars and hauled away to the yards, to be stored until sent out onto the Short Line, there to be put into new bridges.

SMART ALECK DOES NOT KNOW SO MUCH

Woman at Whom He Laughed Has Endured Hardships to Make Bravest Stop.

CONQUERED DRY YEARS. By A. R. GROH. "Look at that rube woman—don't even know how to go in through a revolving door," I heard a young smart Aleck giggle as he observed a small, elderly woman stopping, puzzled, at the door of an office building.

Smart Aleck Simplebrain knows how to enter through a revolving door. But the catalog of the other useful knowledge that he possesses wouldn't require much space.

I happen to know something about the little woman he laughed at. She has been a widow for thirty years. In 1880 she and her husband came to Nebraska and bought 160 acres of land, three miles from a certain town on the Union Pacific railroad. Five years later the husband died of typhoid fever, leaving her with five children, aged from six months to seven years.

There was a heavy debt on the farm and the husband had had no insurance. The easy thing to do would have been to give up and go back to her relatives in eastern Pennsylvania.

Saves Her Pennies. But she didn't take the easy way. She trusted in Him who cares for the fatherless and the widow. She secured a hired man to do the heaviest farm work. She herself toiled every waking moment in the house, in the garden, in the fields. She saved every possible penny.

Sickness came. Serious contagious disease attacked the little brood. She nursed them through.

At times it seemed there wasn't a ray of hope for the brave, struggling woman. Notes fell due and foreclosure stared her in the face. She worked and raked and scraped, and managed to pay the interest.

Then came the awful dry years of 1894 and 1895. It seemed that fate had struck blows which could not be endured. But this widow did endure them and she rose from them. Through those awful years of poverty, while her children were still small, with debts piled up about her and threatening the farm, she struggled on with the unflinching faith and perseverance that is characteristic of some women.

Bountiful Years Follow. Those dry years proved to be the climax of misfortune, the "darkest" just before the dawn. A year or two later the eldest daughter got a position, teaching country school. The two boys were old enough to do a good deal of the farm work. Bountiful crops followed the dry years. She began to pay the principal of the mortgage. Before many years it was wiped out and they had even bought more land.

Today they own 320 acres of the finest land in Nebraska, well improved and free from debt. Two of the daughters are married. The eldest lives at home with her mother. One of the sons is married and lives across the road. He has a big automobile.

This is the woman, Smart A. Simplebrain, in whom you have found so much amusement because she didn't know how to enter through a revolving door.

Yes, I knew you would want to apologize as soon as you had stopped to think. You were a bit thoughtless, that's all.

Burglars Profit By Sunday Work in Shop and Saloon. Burglars who backed a wagon up to the rear door of the Mid-West Iron works, Thirteenth and Izard streets, Sunday night, made away with machinery and tools valued at $500. Among the things stolen was a new typewriter and many drills. The robbers gained entrance after they had jimmied the lock on the rear door.

Burglars forced a transom in the rear of John Klauk's saloon at 207 South Thirteenth street and stole twenty-five quarts of 100-horse power whisky and $9 in cash.

JOBLESS MEN AND WOMEN SEEK WORK

Co-Operative Free Employment Bureau Will Help to Solve Big Problem.

MANY FILE APPLICATIONS. Though it had been open for only a few hours, the Co-operative Free Employment bureau, maintained by the federal government, the state and the county, was running full blast in its permanent quarters in the court house at noon. Applicants were waiting to inquire about prospective positions and jobs (there is a difference between the government employment experts) and several telephone calls were received from employers who have places open.

In addition to being backed by the federal government, the state and the county, the bureau is all that the present implies—free. There is absolutely no charge for either the person seeking work or the employer who had a job open. It is by no means a charitable venture, but aims to help people to help themselves.

All Kinds of Work. All kinds of work are handled—common labor, skilled labor and the vocational. The room in which the bureau is located was donated by the county board. It has an exceptionally large space, being formerly utilized as a public library branch. The telephone number is Douglas 8496. The quarters are near the Harney street entrance.

M. A. Coykendall, a federal immigration inspector, is in charge of the government interests at the present time. He will be succeeded by another man from Washington, D. C., at a later date. The other bureau worker in the men's department is E. G. Jones, representing the City Welfare board.

In the women's department Mrs. Zaida Diamond represents the welfare board and Miss Kathleen O'Brien the federal government. These two say there is a great demand now for house maids. "We will attempt to solve the servant girl problem," declared the woman sent here by the federal government.

Those interested in the free employment bureau believe that in time the state will join in the movement. There are no state funds available for the work at the present time.
