Behman Show Full

A rollicking frolic of Yun, a bean-tiful bevy of musical maidens and a series of snappy specialties compose the peppery program of the burlesque show, which galloped across the Gayety boards last night. It was Behman's show that came to town with a bang. The lines of the play-let are clean, the comedy is fine, the girls are good to gaze upon, the cos-tumes and scenery are elaborate. It is a typical Jack Singer offering. Wilbur Dobbs and John Cain di-ought to dance. Blanche Newcombe is mistress of the knack of making a hit with specialty songs and "Martelle"—well, "she" scores a decisive triumph until the audience finds out that "she" is "he" and then, the conquest is even more complete.

quest is even more complete. "Martelle" has a Julian Eltinge rethe dancing of Miss Pynes and Mr. McCarthy.

The chorus girls are not only young and sprighly, but they are good looking and can sing. There are a few of the chorus men, who could be eliminated without offending the theater-going public, but the show, as a whole, is well worth the money.

Corn and Oats Move Quite Briskly.

Omaha, January 20, 1917 The corn and oats markets were fal active today, but the wheat situation variation alow on account of the decline quoted from Ic to 3c lower.

The local demand for cash wheat, however, would probably have easily taken care of the offerings had it not been for the fact that the sellers were inclined to hold over and take their chances on Monday's market. No. 2 hard wheat brought the top of the market, the bulk of the sales being made around $1.51,01.50 hg, the earlier sales being made at $1.52, No. 4 hard wheat sold rather slow at $1.52,1.50 hg, the earlier sales being made at $1.52, No. 4 hard wheat sold rather slow at $1.52,1.51 hg. 1.51 hg 152, hg 154, hg 154 hg 154, had the No. 2 durant wheat sold rather slow at $1.52,1.51 hg. 1.51 hg 154, hg 154, had the No. 2 durant what selling as high as uponed from to 14k lower, not in spins of the decline the cash trade was pretty active and the sellers let up pretty freely, the commercial grades of white bringing $44,6794 kg and the yellow selling $4 under the white and the mixed about $4 under the white and the willow selling $4 under the white and the willow and the mixed about $4 under the No. 3.

There was a pretty active trade in rps at a 25 decline, and harley was extremely quiet with the market quoted nominally unchanged.

Comains Futures Market.

The future wheat situation was very quiet today and there were no export sales of wheat or corn reported up to the close of the market, and the foreign demand was very slow. Selling by shorts was induced by the press cables of the submarine situation and the reports of the German raider sativities in the south Atlantic.

There was not much trading in the local pit and much of the business was confined to the professionals, who were covering over the holidays.

The wheat market closed around he lower on the May and Tally. Corn closed he lower on May and ic on July, while oats ruled he lower on May and unchanged on July.

There was no quotable slump in sheep at any time. One day the tone was easier and amail reductions wave noted on a few bunches, but even then the weakness was not general. On the other hand, there were a couple of days when values moved up, and closing figures were 150 to possibly as much as 25c higher than a weak ago. Friday was high day, two records being broken, when cewes brought $10,00 and yearlings reached $12.35. Good ewes are seiling upward from $8.25, and cuils downward from $8.25, and cuils downward from $8.25, and cuils downward from $8.00 A good kind of wethers are seiling upward from $10.00, a $10.00 top being quotable.

The first haif of the week there were quite a few feeders here, but the outlet was very broad, and up to Wednesday lambs had advanced haif a dollar or more. Thursday and Friday nothin, of consequence was offered, but there were plenty of buyers, and strong prices were quotable. Most of the feeding lambs here this week sold at $1.2009/12.50, and an extreme top of $12.55 was paid. The fact is that most of the lambs going back to the country now are in the shearing class; that is, something haif-fat and with a pretty good fleece. Hardly any feeding ewes were here, but such feeding stock as is coming is finding a ready outlet.

Quotations on sheep and lambs: Lambs, good to choice, $12.76 pt.1.50; lambs, feeding stock as is coming is finding a ready outlet.

"Martelle" has a Julian Eltinge repertoire of songs and dialogue. Nature has favored him with a physique sufficiently graceful to properly fill a pair of tights and even the mold of his upper body has feminine lines. His voice, too, is quite womanly and there is a coquettish art in his singing of "mushy" songs.

"Bud" Snyder has a bicycle specialty which deserved the generous applause it got. He jolts a "bike" sideways up a flight of stairs and fron. the top, flings himself to a spring board. This is only one of many difficult feats he performs on a wheel. And he has two silent partners, whose comedy is unique and pleasing. Another specialty which scores a hit is the dancing of Miss Pynes and Mr. McCarthy. punishment if the plans of local police do not go astray.
