WELL, just look here, I've a big surprise for you that you'll certainly be glad to know about. These lovely blouses at A. T. Benson's new Specialty Shop, 1112 Parnum—some priced as high as $10.00 will be offered for only $2.95 this week. Dainty Georgettes in pink, flesh, white, green, yellow, navy and brown and the chic two-tone effects. Really, positively beautiful. Also beautiful crepe de chine and the smart new plaid taffetas. You'll want more than one of these blouses, for they are wonderful for the price.

I've been telling all my friends who have daughters that are not quite grown up about a cunning blouse called the Junior waist. These little waists are of white voile and dimity, daintily tucked, with collar, sleeveband and cuffs in color. Cut—just the thing for girls you ever saw.

Mrs. NAPIER, just returned from New York, had some interesting shoe styles in the east. He showed me an importation in an 11-inch silver-gray laced kid boot, which was a good looking. It had a high Louis XV heel and well sole—the material cannot be duplicated today at any price. $14.00 is the price of this extremely clever boot.

As the Spring season advances, pumps will be worn extensively, as they can be purchased for about half the price of the boot.

RELIEVED? I should say so! These nervous, lumpy muscles and that tired, aching feeling with which the Grippe leaves you will quickly disappear today at the Ritz-Restaurant Sanatorium, Harold Ridge.

Two-tone shoes will be good this season.

It's gratifying to shop at Ludden Stephens, 1501 Parnum, for everything is of the best quality. Besides a wonderful line of new wear, hosiery, etc., for men, he has distinctive hosiery and silk pajamas for women, too.

LUXURIOUS! Yes, delightfully so, are the Davenport with cane panel, sofa—great overstuffed Davenports with loose cushion seats shown on the first floor of Orchard & Wilhelm's. I sank down on one, and oh, joy! how comfortable! I just wanted to stay. They're upholstered with rich fabrics and have a blue hatched pattern which will give consistency and character to your room. During January the price is $18 to $19.95 per cent under the regular price.

I saw some little flower pots, blue, white and white with blue, blue, white and white with blue, blue, white and white with blue.

YOU should stop in Thompson-Belden's and see the new Spring line that they have. It's a blue hatched pattern which will give consistency and character to your room. During January the price is $18 to $19.95 per cent under the regular price.

Creations are still as good as last season. Latest to this is a new, it is a very dark blue—quite new. The collar, cuffs, and small buttons, many of which adorned the jacket, were of cretonne.

MISS If you could see the new navy blue serge dress which I saw the other day at Thompson-Belden's, you would have gone into the same store as I did. I'm sure. There are poplins and Panamas, too, made in the new street lines, some with white or Russian velvet collars, some embroidered or touched up with belts of bright Bulgarian trimmings. One I noted was combined with Georgette, in which metallic thread had been beautifully worked in an intricate pattern. Just the most appropriate dress for this season of the year. They're priced from $15.00 to $55.00.

A hint of Persia is shown in one of the novel Spring chapeaux made of honey-colored horse-hair braid ornamented with a huge felt parrot fastened together with fancy stitches. I am sure Omar Khayyam would have enjoyed this along with his "book of verses underneath the bough"—particularly if "those" had happened to be a pretty brunette.

THE CUP that cheers! Surely a cup of daintily brewed tea, flavored with a bit of gossip, is one of the pleasantest things in the feminine world. And there are such unique boxes of tea for your afternoon tea table. Rose or Violet Brew in exquisite boxes, 40c. or, with sugar crystals added, 85c. Chinese tea in cunning caddies, 45c. or in packages, only 10c. Also tea-flowers for flavor. At the Allen Shop, 207 South 18th.

Delicious home-made orange marmalade for your tea table. Just like the English use. I know the clever, little lady who makes it.

There are baskets of fruit for a centerpiece for your dining room table. Just like the English use. I know the clever, little lady who makes it.

Why not have one of these graceful basket-vases just returned to hold your corsage when you return from the party or opera? The exquisite charm of that lovely blossom will not be lost if carefully placed in one of these replacements. I saw one in a florist's shop last week.

OVER a year ago Orchard & Wilhelm placed an order for blue and white Japanese china for open stock—charmingly clean, fresh and dainty. The exquisite charm of that lovely blossom will not be lost if carefully placed in one of these replacements. I saw one in a florist's shop last week.

Pillows and candle shades for side brackets and lamp shades are very important high lights in rooms I saw this.

FOR expert embroidery, pleating, braiding, hemstitching or piecing, no shop is equipped to do better work than the Ideal Pleating Company in the Douglas Block. You may feel sure the work will be turned out very promptly from this shop. Try them.

Waists are so handsomely embroidered this season.

THE NEAT little housewife will be glad to hear that The Lingerie Shop, 809 Bee Bldg., makes to order for $1.50 fifty gingham petticoats, and pray don't forget Miss Cole's clever Bonaparte aprons for $1 and up.

Irish crochet as trimming for lingerie is again enjoying popularity.

If I were a school girl again, I'd be at A. T. Benson's Specialty Shop, 1112 Parnum, the first thing Monday morning to purchase one of those dandy "Hush Evans" middie in navy-blue serge or flannel, which are being specially priced at $2.45—formerly $3.50—to attract new customers.

They are made in the regulation style with shield in front and white braid on collar and cuffs, so serviceable—the girls just love 'em!

I've been told that the hostesses in the east are displaying light-colored shoes with cloth tops to match on account of the High Cost of Leather.

HAVE you visited the Comfort Shop in the Rose Bldg.? It is just what it's name implies—comfort to those poor, tired feet—make you feel like a new person to be "on your feet" again. Try it yourself, you'll be surprised at the comfort it brings you.

What could be more lovely to wear than a gold poplin suit with large shawl collar trimmed with tulle and lined with royal purple? A stunning favorite for the hostess. The waiting time at the back of the coat.

HAD YOU about it? That dull corner of your home needs just a little bunch of daisies, statly American Beauties, or whatever your favorite flower might be, to make it attractive—not the kind requiring water and care—but the flower that appears life-like and continues to be lovely. There is an infinite variety of these artificial flowers at Hopp's Shop—a dollar's worth, would enrich the duller corner. There are vases and bowls, too, to put the flowers in.

Chinese gods and goddesses—carved from stone—Gods of Happiness and Wealth and a whole host of other grotesque little figures are interesting ornaments for a library or den.

LOOKING for something brand new in shirts? Lamond's, Rose Bldg., have such extremely smart shirts in hangars. Bros. de Landres and Rajahs for $16.50 up. Stylish plaid velours at $12.50 up. Ribbed effects in stripes of Mailleuse silk, which express the true spirit of sport.

"Allice cloth" is one of the new materials for smart tailor-made suits.

MRS. LUTTIG of the Drahos-Lutting shop leaves for New York this week to seek the very latest styles for her patroness.

The Orient is contributing all manner of additions in the way of trimmings for Spring hats. In the millinery section of one of our best stores, a fuzzy, fuzzy, fuzzy hat, trimmed with Chinese money and Chinese tassels. A young girl was trying it on and a very good mood, becoming and attractive, headpiece.

PROPER correcting posture good health. Be fitted to a "Obdurate" by Ida Stockwell, Room 7, Halcyon Block. She understands scientific correcting.

I have mentioned pillows in this column before, I believe, but it is a subject on which I am constantly making discoveries. The wonderful tailored-looking pillows that I come across do not look at all like home-made ones—great handsome affairs that have the style and finish of hand-tailored suits and hats and bench-made pants—are made to order for various rooms in which they are used.

HEADS MEMBERSHIP COMMITTEE OF O. W. C.

Mrs. Edwin S. Jewell

Shakespeare lodges of the Order of St. George will give a dance and carnival Wednesday evening in the Lyric building. The women in charge of the affair are Mrs. Rose Morris, Mrs. Jessie Isitt, Mrs. E. A. Hoyle, Mrs. E. A. Nelson and Mrs. Gertrude Morris. A gypsy fortune tellers' camp will be part of the entertainment.

A quiet, unobtrusive campaign for membership is being conducted by the Omaha Woman's club.

Fifteen members have each asked four women to assist her in extending invitations to join the club to women who in their judgment will make valuable members of the organization.

At last week's meeting club members were stimulated to hear read eight names of women proposed by Mrs. R. S. Smith. Considering that proposal for membership in the Woman's club is no idle thing, it means payment for one year in advance. Mrs. Smith's work is particularly commendable.

After being proposed for membership, a candidate's name is passed on by a committee headed by Mrs. Edwin S. Jewell, who is serving in place of Mrs. E. B. Towle. The women of the membership committee are Mesdames John Douglas, Jean Johnston, James Liddell, E. E. Sterrick, R. C. Jordan, C. H. Townsend, J. D. Hiss, Mary E. Horton, Della R. Roush, George A. Wilson, J. W. Bedford, C. B. Coon and A. R. McFarland.

The S. O. M. club will meet at the home of Mrs. T. A. Guthridge on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30.

Miss Edna Durand was re-elected president of the Wyche Story Tellers' league at last week's business meeting. Miss Agnes M. McElroy was re-elected secretary-treasurer, as was the organizing board, Misses Mary Krebs, Eliza Gibbs and Marie Berry.

The Parliamentary Law department of the Omaha Woman's club will hold a final rehearsal for its open day program Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the club rooms.

Colonel T. W. McCullough's paper on "American Pageantry," given for the literature department of the Omaha Woman's club Wednesday, met with such favor with department members that the lecture is to be sent to the state reciprocity bureau of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs for use by clubs all over the state.

Miss Adah Pettengill was elected president of the Philatelic Union of Omaha at a meeting held Friday night at the Young Women's Christian association. Miss Netha McKenna is the vice president; Miss Jean Maters, recording secretary; Miss Mary Alice Sidwell, corresponding treasurer, and Miss Helen Morris, treasurer.

The choral society of the Young Women's Hebrew association, led by Miss Jessie Kruger, will meet Wednesday and Saturday evenings at the club rooms; the expression class Thursday at 7 o'clock at Mrs. E. S. Kittleson's studio.

The Past Matrons and Past Patrons club of Vesta chapter No. 6, Order of the Eastern Star, held its first meeting of the year Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Gregg. The newly elected officers of the club are Mrs. Clara Springmeyer,

HER SHOULDER MUSCLES HINDERED, so she had to give over piano playing, but Miss Frances Nash helped her by suggesting a simple exercise, and now she is back at her studies on the noble instrument.

Miss Helen Pearce is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Pearce, whose promising musical career has been slightly overshadowed by a muscular trouble of the right arm which almost made it impossible to continue her piano instruction. The arm is mending, however, though slowly. Miss Frances Nash, Omaha's talented young pianist proved a good fairy to Miss Pearce in her distress. Miss Nash had been threatened by a similar muscular trouble while studying in Berlin but was able to overcome it by certain careful muscular exercises done each day. When she heard of Miss Pearce's affliction, she immediately volunteered to give her the same course of treatment she had herself received with very good results. Not to be daunted by her inability to keep up her piano work, Miss Pearce has taken to the ukelele, which does not tax her strength and has mastered the instrument to a fine degree. Her ambition is to go on to New York to complete her musical education as soon as she is able.

The Business Women's council will meet at the court house Tuesday from 11 until 2 o'clock. Rev. G. A. Hulbert of the St. Mary's Avenue Congregational church will speak and the women of the Jennings Methodist church will serve the luncheon.

Fifty applications for membership were received by the Scottish Rite Woman's club at the reception held Friday. Over 270 women attended.

Tuesday at 4 o'clock, at the Blackstone, Miss Kate A. McHugh will read Echegaray's "Folly or Saintliness," before the Drama league; February 7, Maeterlinck's "Pelléas and Melisande"; February 14, Granville Barker's "Madras House"; February 28, Hauptmann's "Lonely Lives"; March 7, Tolstoy's "The Light that Sheds in Darkness."

Granville Barker lectures before the Drama league and the Fine Arts society at the Fontenelle, 4 o'clock February 10. His subject will be "Ideas in the Theater."

The last meeting of the Drama league will be a lecture by Miss Mc-

OMAHA SEES MUCH BUILDING AHEAD

New Industries Galore Are Announced for the Present Year.

TO UTILIZE BUTTERMILK

Announcement of building activities to take place soon made a good showing during the week just past. Some of this is in the shape of definite propositions, some is still contingent upon this or that, but all is in prospect and the total for one week keeps Omaha's record going with all the spirit the metropolis has shown during the last two years.

A new creamery and a buttermilk meal factory are definitely announced by Kirschbraun & Sons. While Kirschbraun & Sons have operated a creamery in Omaha for some time, the Collis company, which is to establish a buttermilk meal factory in connection with the Kirschbraun Creamery, will be a new industry in Omaha, it will mean the coming in of outside capital to work up and coin into money one of the by-products of the creamery business.

Iceless Containers.

Equally definite seems to be the announcement that the O'Brien-Hicks Iceless Container company is to establish a plant in Omaha for the manufacture of iceless containers, which can be used to ship ice cream and other frozen articles by parcels post. D. J. O'Brien has been in the city at various times during the last few months, an announced definitely that Omaha has been chosen as the location for one of the several plants the company intends to build.

A more or less definite plan is under way for the construction of a big warehouse to be built around Eleventh and Twelfth and Davenport streets, by Carl Swanson, Frank W. Judson, Howard Baldrige and others.

The announcement that O. C. Redick and the Hiatt Realty company will improve 130 acres of swampy land at Carter Lake and plat it for lots upon which summer cottages are to be built, is another important announcement in real estate and building circles. The proposition is to pump the mud and sand out of the bottom of the lake to fill in these low places, bringing them up above the level of the lake water, and preparing the ground for building sites.

New Laboratory.

A new laboratory building for the University of Nebraska College of Medicine at Forty-second and Dewey avenue, is in prospect. Of course, this is contingent upon the legislature appropriating $120,000 for such a structure. This is what the regents of the University of Nebraska have asked for. This is not all they have asked for. For equipment of the state hospital on the campus, for maintenance of the hospital and the college of medicine for the coming two years, and for the erection of this new building they have asked a total of $365,000.

New Bakery.

A pretty definite proposition for another new bakery plant, built by outside capital, came to light during the week. This is Winfield Campbell bakery. Campbell, who has bakeries in Kansas City, Wichita, Des Moines and Sioux City, was in Omaha a few weeks ago, and while here is said to have told friends that he would be in Omaha within sixty days with a definite proposition to engage in the bakery business here, either by consolidating with a local firm, or as an independent baker.

A new county hospital is being agitated, also, and the county commissioners, at least some of them, have unofficially approved the proposition. They express themselves as feeling that the county has far outgrown the present facilities at the county house, and that the need of a new hospital there is eminently ripe.

ing, McFayden, Lynes, Burleigh, McDowell-Hartman, Spross, Ware, Gillette and Matthews will be given by Miss Tebbens, Mrs. Rector Brinkman, Miss Leota Parker, Miss Edna Rosenzweig, Mrs. Grace Leidy Burger and Miss Alice Duval. Mrs. E. R. Zabriskie and Miss Grace Slabaugh are the accompanists.

The Benson Woman's club will give the second program on "History of Music" Thursday at the Rouse-Edition parlor. Mrs. N. H. Tyson will be leader, and papers on "Modern Music" by Mrs. Persons, "Romantic School," by Mrs. Nelson, and "Classical School," by Mrs. Tyson, will be read.

Stories of Mozart's operas will be told by members of the Omaha Story Tellers' league Thursday at 4:15 o'clock at the public library. Miss Eloise Hills, leader of the program, will give the biography of the composer; Mrs. F. B. Fullaway will tell "The Magic Flute," and Miss Margaret Chapin a selected story.

Election of delegates to the state and national daughters of the American Revolution conferences will take place when Major Isaac Sadler chapter meets Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the parlors on the mezzanine floor of the Fontenelle. The state conference will be held at Fremont the third week in March and the national one in Washington in April, as usual. Mrs. William Archibald Smith, chapter regent, will report the success of the Powys lecture series, the proceeds of which go to the fund to erect a memorial to the first governor of Nebraska. Miss Ida M. Crowell will read a paper on "Evolution and History of the Submarine" and Mrs. Earl Stanfield on "Firearms in Revolutionary Times."

ORGANIZER FOR THE CONGRESSIONAL UNION

Miss Maud Roys will give a reading. After the meeting Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Stanfield, who is the vice regent, will entertain the members at tea in the hotel.

Miss Jessie Towne will interpret William Dean Howells' "The Rise of Silas Lapham" for the literature department of the Business Women's club Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock at the Young Women's Christian association. Supper at 6:05 precedes the meeting.

"A Trip Through Scandinavia" will be conducted by Mrs. N. M. Graham for the literature department
