CENTRAL HIGH TAKES TUCK OUT OF ENEMY

Ancient Rivalry Results in Close and Sensational Game With South Side.

CORR MARVEL ON FLOOR

Central High won from South High at the "Y" gym Saturday, by a score of 20 to 18. The game was rip and tuck from the call of time until the final whistle. South High should be given due credit for the wonderful battle they put up against Omaha. Corr, the South High capfain played a wonderful showing playing the floor in great style and incidentally making twelve out of the total eighteen garnered by the South High aggregation High aggregation.

The Omaha team was forced to battle the full time, but showed they had the fight by coming up from behind in spite of ill luck in locating the basket and emerging victors. Patty and Smith, Central High forwards, bombarded the basket wards, bombarded the basket throughout the game, but the ball rolled out in a tantalizing manner on numerous occasions. Smith also played a great floor game, seeming to be in on every scrimmage that

To the diminutive Paul Konecky and "Türk" Logan should also go a great deal of credit for the victory. Although South High was forcing the battle throughout, these men broke up numerous plays that seemed to be nestined to see in the seemed to be up numerous plays that seemed to be destined to end in two points for the South Side. Etter and Emigh, South High guards, were little behind Omaha and made Central High resort to long range shooting to win. Maxwell, playing his first full home game at center, played a fast game, although his playing was necessarily overshadowed by the wonderful exhibition put up by his opponent.

South High started out in a hurry after time hall been called in the first half and for a short time it looked had for Central High. South High tallied two field goals before Central High was able to score and that only a free throw. Towards the close of the first half the battle was fast, and furious with Central High rapidly

Sensational Play.

On the first play after time had been called in the second half the ball was passed to Maxwell directly in front of the basket. The latter leaped into the air and put the ball through the ring for the most sensational basket made throughout the game. smith followed shortly with a field goal but Corr tied up the game at eighteen apiece with a field goal and free throw. Patty caged the winning basket with several minutes to play and Central by an airtight defense maintained their small lead until time was called. From the spectators stand-point the game was all that could be desired with both feams in the battle every minute and the scores varying only a few points throughbut.

Omaha High Faces Hardest Part of Its Cage Schedule

Central High school basket ball five will tackle the hardest part of its schedule during the next three weeks. If the team is able to successfully weather the heavy schedule its chances of copping the state tourney can be better judged. A three-day trip will be undertaken the latter part of this week. Beatrice does not seem to be going well this year, having been defeated several times on their home floor. They have only one man in the lineup left from last year's state championship team and from the form they are displaying at the present time they will not figure much in the state championship.

Another long trip will be undertaken by the team on February 25 and 24. St. Joseph Central High will be played on the first date and Wichita on the second.
