S. Salerno Circulates Petition to Organize Regiment and 250 Sign, He Says.

HOLD MEETINGS THIS WEEK

News of the break with Germany caused great excitement among Omaha Italians. All day Saturday after the news was received the break was the principal topic of discussion and it was decided to hold a special mass meeting Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock at Washington hall, where an organization will be perfected. S. Salerno, president of the Giovami d' Ameglio society, one of the largest Italian organizations of the city, is arranging the details and will preside.

One of the results of yesterday's discussion among the Italians was the laying of plans by S. Salerno, promipent merchant, for the organization of a regiment. Salerno circulated petitions among this countrymen and asserted he had secured nearly 250 persons to pledge themselves they would join the regiment. "We are organizing the regiment to show that we are Americans first, no matter waht happens," said Salerno. "My countrymen look upon America as their home and will fight for it if they are needed."

for it if they are needed."

Plans for a patriotic meeting, where further details will be worked out has been called by S. Salerno for Thursday evening at Columbus hall, Sixth and Pierce streets, at 8 o'clock. "I do not think we will have any trouble to enlist at least 1,000 men, in fact, I am certain that that many will have pledged themsleves before will have pledged themsleves before Thursday," he said. A. Venuto, Italian resident consul, in the Brown block, was besieged with calls from his countrymen. The consul said that he was certain every Italian that was capable of bearing arms would respond to a call of the president if he was needed. The con-sul said that there were about 10,000 Italians in the city, a number of which had seen service in the Italian army, He commended the action of the president in taking the step he did on the ground that it was essential that the United States should uphold its

MAKING MEN OUT OF WASTE PAPER

United States Steel Company Captain Kline Does It Daily With the Help of a Little Psychology.

C. J. BOONE IS FIRST HERE PUTS PRIDE INTO BEGGARS

By A. R. GROH.

Comes now Captain Kline of the Salvation Army and tells me about "the psychology of the sorting table." The sorting table is where the old paper that you give the Army is sorted into its various grades.

The captain takes waste paper and waste men and makes salable paper and new men out of them.

When you throw away old paper or burn it up you not only waste the paper, but you waste an opportunity to rescue a derelict man.

"Time after time," says the captain, "I have "I have seen down-and-out fellows start on that sorting table and win back themselves and go out and get back themselves and go out and get good jobs.

"The psychology of it is that it makes a man feel he is worth something. He may have been living on charity for months when I land him there. Immediately he changes. I let him know that I pay him just what he's worth. He's carning his own way. He's under no obligations.

Cashing Respect.

You'd be surprised to see how they rise. They get back their self-respect. They lose the slinking look of the beggar. At last comes a time when. beggar. At last comes a time when, after a long sober period, they say to themselves. I'm a fool to be working here for Kline making a few dollars a week. I'll go out and get a good job. I'll show them I'm as much a man as I ever was.

"That's just what I want," enthuses Captain Kline. "I've roused their pride. I've awakened their self-respect. I've brought back their ambition, their desire to get ahead in the world.

"It's the sorting table that does it. I could keep those fellows in my industrial home for weeks or months

The value of such a discovery and the profound interest of the big steel companies in it can easily be understood.

Miss Hawkins Widely Known.
Beatrice, Neb., Feb. 4.—(Special Telegram.)—Miss Mary Hawkins, formerly a teacher in the high school here, was among those killed in the Burlington wreck at Creston, Ia., Friday night. This announcement was received in a message today to Miss Grace Liddicott, secretary of the Board of Education. Miss Hawkins home was at Eagle, Neb., and she had taught at Havelock, Wilber and other points in the state. She was about 35 years of age.

The Metamorphosis.

"A man goes to the sorting table as linking, beaten, discouraged, down-and-out fellow. After a few days of industry and sobriety he begins to perk up. Good food, sleep, clean clothes work their changes. Soon he gets so he looks you in the eye. He knows he is carning his own way. I gave one of those fellows a new suit at Christmas. Why, you ought to see him. He puts that suit on and he struts out and walks down the street just as proud as anyone.

"And if I can just get that man converted he'll be completely reclaimed. You must help him to help himself first. And then conversion makes the grand work complete."

May Dynamite Ice To Save Game Fish

(From a Staft Correspondent.)

Lincoln, Feb. 4.—(Special.)—Ice so thick that it may be detrimental to fish in Nebraska streams is the result of this week's intense cold snap.

Fish Commissioner O'Brien, in charge of the state hatcheries at Gretna, has notified the state game warden that ice at Gretna froze the thickest he had ever seen it.

The intense cold was general all over the state. Damage to fish is easily suffered, especially when the shallow lakes and slow streams freeze solid to the bottom of the channel, or to the extent where necessary air is shut off from the water.

Two years ago, after a freeze not so hard as the present, it was necessary for the game warden's department to break holes in the ice to prevent suffocation, and at that thousands of dead fish appeared the following spring.

Some Nuggestions.

Here are some tentative singestions:
Memorialize congress to require United State land officers to furnish the state land officer with plate showing all entered and unentered lands, and supplement it with monthly statements showing cancellations and new entries. The state land office should furnish information to the press and public. I have observed that the man who plants a few trees usually sticks. Trees might become of the requisities for making homested proof, and along this line the state could encourage by remitting poil tax where the homemaker observes Arbor day of every year and plants trees and takes care of them.

The line of least resistance is to let matters drift on, until the sandhills are in title, and in the hands of slockmen, it may be the uttimate solution, but I can't think it is. I don't want to believe that a third-of Nobraka shall forever be a wildermom for ranging berds. If scientifically handled it will give us the key to the situation of this territory.
