FORD HOSPITAL BUILDERS' PRIDE

Fine Structure is Thing of Beauty, Built to Resist Fire and Time.

PERFECT IN EQUIPMENT

In the Ford hospital, built and equipped by the Home Builders at a cost of $150,000, Omaha as well as the middle west can boast of one of the most modern hospitals in the country. The building faces Twenty-fifth street and is located between Douglas and Dodge streets.

The structure is one of four floors, besides a full basement and sub-basement, and is absolutely fireproof. The only wood used is in the hardwood floors to give the rooms a more home-like appearance and in the solid slab oak doors. The building was so erected that another floor and wings can be added. The hospital has seventy beds.

Resists Fire and Time. The general construction is reinforced skeleton type, so that the walls are not really necessary strength to the structure. All windows and door frames are of steel and the window bases of white marble.

The hallways have a terrazzo border and are covered with battleship linoleum, under which is a cement base. The stairways are constructed of iron and cement and are somewhat wider than the usual run of stairs. Although the different departments seem to be scattered all over the building, they have been so arranged as to give patients the maximum amount of service.

A working unit on each floor is a nurse's duty room, a diet kitchen and a dressing room. Besides this there is a special toilet and bath room.

The Layout. The administration department is on the first floor and connects with the lobby. The lobby has a terrazzo floor and serves the purpose of reception room. Private rooms and wards occupy the remainder of the first floor.

The second floor is taken up entirely with private rooms, four of which have private baths.

On the third floor are the two operating rooms connected by a sterilizing room. A laboratory, surgeon's wash room, sterile supply room, surgeon's dressing room, instrument room and Dr. Ford's private office take up the greater part of the floor. The obstetric room and several private rooms are also located on this floor.

The entire fourth floor is taken up with a sun parlor and open promenade with a pergola above. The sun parlor is accessible by two automatic electric elevators and a broad flight of stairs.

Important Machines. Perhaps the most important and important part of the hospital is in the basement. Here is located the hydroponic department, the roentgen department and the retention rooms. In the south part is drug room and emergency room, where emergency cases that cannot be taken to the operating room are taken care of. A disinfecting room, where all the bedding is disinfected before being laundered, is also located on the basement floor. The kitchen, general diet room and nurse's dining room take up the remainder of the space.

The boilers, filters and pumps, all duplicated in case of emergency, are located in the sub-basement. All rooms in the hospital are open rooms and on each floor is a wide open porch.

Proper ventilation is one of the big features in the construction of the hospital. Two ventilators, one at the floor and the other at the ceiling in every room, are connected with the exhaust system which keeps the air pure at all times. Besides this there is a special ventilator on every window.

Plumbing All Open. The plumbing is perhaps the most up-to-date of its kind. It is all open and can be easily gotten to in case of trouble. On every floor there is hot, cold and ice water. Bubbling drinking fountains are in every hallway.

By the new service system there is small chance of a nurse not responding immediately upon the call of a patient. When a patient rings for a nurse the number of the patient's room registers on a glass plate by the nurses' serving room and at the same time an electric blub lights over the patient's room, thus doubly calling the attention of the nurse. There is also a telephone in every room.

Two electric elevators of the latest type operate to all floors. The building is also equipped with a vacuum cleaning system. The most up-to-date equipment was purchased for the hospital. In the kitchen there is an electric dish washer, an electric vegetable peeler and many other time-saving devices. One of the most up-to-date pieces of

One Owner Arrested in Pool Hall Clean-Up Move

Following out Captain of Detectives Maloney's crusade to clean up the pool rooms, J. A. Coom, a pool hall owner at 1902 North Twenty-fourth street, was arrested on the charge of permitting minors to play in his place. He was given a thirty-day suspended sentence. Three boys, all under 18, found in the place, were given a severe lecture by Police Judge Fitzgerald and allowed to go.

Husband Seeking Freedom Says Wife is Some Fighter

Morris Rivers, suing for divorce in district court, admits that he doesn't care to do battle with his wife who, he avers, is some fighter. He alleged that she attacked him on February 8 of this year and he, not wishing to engage in a physical encounter, left the house as she had ordered. He also asserts that his wife, Letta Rivers, squanders his income.

T. C. Byrne Resigns from Commercial Club Board

T. C. Byrne has resigned as member of the executive committee of the Commercial club. His successor is to be named at an early meeting of the committee. Mr. Byrne gives important private business as his reason for wishing to be relieved from pressing Commercial club duties.

New Ford Hospital a Model

equipment is the bed pan sterilizer, one of which is on each floor.

The Home Builders, Inc., erected the building for Dr. Michael J. Ford, just as it erects individual houses, provides money, the places and supervises the construction, turning over the completed building to the owner. The large capital necessary was provided by more than 1,000 shareholders. Besides erecting the structure, Home Builders equipped the hospital in the most modern manner.

Adjoining the hospital on the north is the nurses' home, which was built by the Home Builders. It has quarters for thirty-five nurses and is modern in every detail.

Dr. Ford's Own Invention Makes All Beds Restful

Furnishings and decorations which play such an important part in the comfort and mental peace of patients is a big feature at the Ford hospital. Everything has been done with a view of making things as comfortable and as homelike as possible.

To prevent dust and germs from collecting every dresser in the hospital has a glass top. Beside each bed is an adjustable reading table so constructed that it can also serve as an adjustable bedside stand.

The beds are the last word in neatness and comfort. While some of the private rooms have brass beds there is practically no difference in the construction of those in the other rooms and wards. By an invention of Dr. Ford any corner of a bed can be raised or adjusted to the position or angle that is most comfortable to the patient.

Perfect white walls set off by highly polished hardwood floors lend an aspect of cheerfulness that cannot help but be a great asset for health.

Wide windows permit plenty of sunshine to the pleasant airy rooms. Situated as it is among pleasant surroundings, yet away from the noise and bustle of the busy streets, although in the heart of town, the hospital is an ideal place for peace and rest.

Luxurious Baths In New Hospital Well Appointed

The luxurious and well appointed baths of the ancient Roman plutocrats could hardly have been on a par with those that occupy the north end on the basement floor of the Ford hospital.

Nowhere in the country is there a more complete equipment for the many different kinds of baths than that at the middle west's most up-to-date hospital. A special room with elaborate equipment is set apart for nearly every kind of bath offered.

POLLY THE SHOPPER

THE influence of the Orient has even reached our table napery—just arrived from Japan are lunch cloths, napkins and table-runners with artistic Japanese designs in blue, green and red. These splashy blue figures on white ground are really wonderfully effective. The 2-yard lunch cloths are 10c to 11 1/2c—napkins to match, 30c for a half doz. or 75c a doz.—at Thompson-Heiden's.

LUCIEN STEPHENS' Shop for men. At 1801 Farnam St. is showing the latest in men's clothing. "Jordan's"—the name is sufficient guarantee of their quality.

By far the most striking innovation of the Spring is the "Darrel" silhouette which is the greatest width midway between the waist-line and the knees, narrowing down toward the feet.

ITOOK a friend of mine from out-of-town into Lamond's hat shop and you should have heard her wail and cry for selling me such a beautiful hat like a New York shop," she said—and my, but she was right. The dealer who is designing a frame for them rather indignantly displayed them. I suspect he wants to know how many of the hats with the whole hundred and twenty-five dollars in their hand at which they're priced.

CAREFUL chirography at the Comfort Shop, Rose Bldg. I've mentioned before a beautiful pair of shoes, designed by Miss Johnston gives those tired, aching feet, do you need a shampoo for your hair? Buy the "Hair" shampoo at the Comfort Shop. It's really a comfort to shop where one can do so without being jostled or crowded.

A Jersey sports suit in French blue the jacket lined throughout with satin and stitched heavily in silk—reverses and pockets of white serge. It's one of the most distinctive things I've seen for Spring.

IJUST can't help mentioning the A. Hooper Co. Shop often, for it has such attractive gift things. My attention was particularly attracted this week to the Corvado Art leather goods—the beauty and elegance of the specially hand-tooled bags would certainly appeal to Milad Fastidious—priced from $11.00 to $22.00. There are purses, book-bags, handbags, for $4.99 and up. Attractive shopping lists and address books to tick within her bag for the suitcase bags for the friend who is going away for 10c, and a beautiful signature blotter for a man friend's desk for $1.00.

Black hats seemed to be favored this Spring. One of the handsomest I've seen is a high-crowned circle with combination of velvet, fancy straw braid and large jet ornament.

PLINNEAU indeed, was I to see that Mrs. Little had returned from the Drabow-Little's Hat Shop, Baird Bldg., Thursday morning. And, oh, my! They were allowed to keep into the boxes of new hats being unpacked. My! but there were some of the most beautiful I've seen in the city. Kasey, Gage and Hyland. They're packed new, so do go and see them for yourself.

LIBERTY! If you're planning your Spring wardrobe, right now is the time to buy materials for undergarments, for it is very specially priced at Thompson-Heiden's. Nippon nain-sook, 30c yd., $2.10 for 15-yd. bill; Phantom cloth, so sheer and pretty for lingerie, 15c yd., or 12.00 for 10 yd.; English nainsook, 12 1/2c for 15 yd.; and Longcloth, 20c yd. or 11.50 for 10 yd. Better clip this item so as not to lose the like advantage of these splendid values.

What Women Are Doing in the World

Saunders; "Argentina" and a map study by Mrs. J. Calvert will be given. Mrs. H. Rivett is leader. This meeting will be held in the city hall, will open at 2 o'clock and the program will be followed, beginning at 3:30, by a lecture on "Innocence," by Mr. H. C. Harding. Mrs. J. Calvert has been elected vice president to fill the vacancy made by Mrs. J. V. Starrett, and Mrs. Harry Rivett chairman of civic committee to fill Mrs. J. W. Welch's place.

State officers of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs will be special guests of honor at the Dundee Woman's club's open day program Wednesday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. John O. Yeiser. Mrs. J. N. Paul of St. Paul, the president, is expected and the following Omaha women, who hold state offices, will attend: Mrs. F. H. Cole, who is national officer as well; Mrs. M. B. Cameron, Mrs. John Welch, Mrs. K. R. J. Edholm, Mrs. C. W. Hayes and presidents of all local federated clubs.

The following state leaders of women's organizations have been secured up to date as members of the advisory committee of the Nebraska Woman's Suffrage association; Mrs. J. N. Paul, St. Paul, Woman's club; Mrs. M. M. Claffin, University Place, Woman's Christian Temperance union; Mrs. A. G. Peterson, Aurora, Woman's club; Mrs. Emma Reed Davison, Rural Woman's club department of the state university; Mrs. Mayme Cleaver, Degree of Honor. Leaders of all other women's organizations of the state are to be asked to serve on the advisory committee.

The monthly business meeting of the Young Women's Hebrew association will be held Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at the Young Men's Hebrew association club rooms in the Paxton block. The expression class which regularly meets Thursday evening will be postponed this week until the following Tuesday.

The Miller Park Mother's circle which next month celebrates its sixth anniversary, has purchased for the Miller Park school, a Forseman educational music record system, including six books and about fifty records, at an expense of over $50. The mothers' club has purchased many pictures and a Victrola for the school in the past.

Mrs. Frederick Cole, chairman of the civil service department, reports that there are 371 headings for inspeccional work open to women in the federal service, involving 86,397 employees. Appointments of this kind in the middle west are often unfilled because girls do not know of such opportunities. She urges women college graduates to consider employment of this kind as an alternative to the overcrowded teaching profession.

The "America Firsts" campaign, in which women's organizations are cooperating with the education bureau of the federal government, offers these practical suggestions as to what women's organizations can do: Appoint a committee on Americanization to assist in national and local school campaigns.

Organize special subcommittees to secure young foreign-speaking women to visit immigrant homes and urge mothers to attend adult classes.

Offer co-operation in national and local evening school campaigns to respective school authorities.

Pledge each member to induce one non-English speaking immigrant
