

KENTUCKY GUARDS AT MURRAY COURT

Soldiers Will Protect Judge During Trial of Alleged Murderer, Beginning Monday.

GOVERNOR REBUKES MOB

Murray, Ky., Feb. 17.—Under the protection of Kentucky National Guardsmen the trial of Lube Martin, a negro, charged with the murder of Guthrie Duquid, a policeman, begins here tomorrow.

The soldiery was sent here under orders from Governor A. O. Stanley to guard against the possibility of a repetition of scenes enacted early last month, when a mob threatened the life of Circuit Judge Charles Bush and Commonwealth's Attorney Denny Smith.

The trouble which arose at that time was the occasion of a hurried night trip by Governor Stanley to Murray for the purpose of using his personal influence in averting the danger which it was reported threatened the court.

Judge Bush granted a continuance when the negro was presented, for trial January 10 and Martin quietly was taken out of Murray and lodged in the city jail at Paduac, Ky.

Mob Threatens Court

When it was announced that a continuance had been granted, there arose from the crowd in the court room an angry demand that the negro be placed on trial at once. This was accompanied by threats against the judge and prosecutor and demands were made that Martin be brought back for trial.

Late in the day Governor Stanley was informed by long distance telephone messages of the situation at Murray. It was reported to him that the circuit judge and the commonwealth's attorney were confined in their hotel by an angry crowd which threatened to dynamite the building.

Declaring that he would give the mob an opportunity to "lynch the governor of Kentucky first," Governor Stanley started for Murray aboard a special train. Every available unit of the Kentucky National Guard was on the Mexican border and there was no other force which he could call upon in the emergency.

The governor halted at Paduac long enough to give personal orders to the sheriff of Calloway county that the negro was not to be returned to Murray, under any circumstances, unless he himself gave the word.

Governor Addresses Crowd.

Arriving at Murray at 9 o'clock in the morning, Governor Stanley went to the hotel where Judge Bush and Commonwealth's Attorney Smith spent the night. Later, after the evening of the court, he addressed a crowd which filled the court room its capacity. Pleading that the be allowed to take its course, Governor Stanley said he had come to protect the court "with my body if necessary." When he finished speaking a brother of the with whose death Martin was bedded and endorsed the government's appeal. The court then adjourned and the crowd filed quietly the room.

Leaving the court room, Governor went about the streets talking individuals, repeating the arguments of his address and rebuking tendency to revive the mob spirit he had ruled the day before. By apparently had dominated situation and there appeared to be anger of further trouble. Shortly after he left Murray on his special train, accompanied by officials of court.

Troops Recalled from Border. Several days after the Murray incident Governor Stanley requested the return from the Mexican border of see companies of the Kentucky National Guard, whose home stations are in widely separated sections of state. The War department commanded and Company A of the First regiment, from Louisville; Company D of the Third regiment, from Hopkinsville, and the Frankfort company of the Second regiment were returned from the border and mustered out of the federal service.

The Hopkinsville company received orders last Monday to move to Murray for duty during Martin's trial. Many citizens of Calloway county protested against the sending of the troops, asserting that there was no danger of violence, but Governor Stanley was not willing to take chances of a repetition of the disturbance.

Wealthy Farmer's Wife Wins Separate Support

The divorce suit of the Thieses, which has been pending in district court for several months, came to an end Saturday morning when a decree of separate maintenance was granted to Mary Ethel Thies from Perry Joseph Thies, a wealthy farmer. Mrs. Thies alleged cruelty. The court found that the evidence was not sufficient to grant a decree of absolute divorce. The wife was allowed $35 a month for the support of herself and minor child and $350 fees for her attorneys.

The following decrees were also granted in divorce court:

Mabel Gartkunkle from Morris H. Gartkunkle.

Margaret A. Hughes from John D. Hanes Cooks from Harold Cooks.

Divorce petitions filed by dissatisfied wives and husbands are as follows:

Kenneth D. Worth against Harold J. Wofford, nonsupport alleged.

Lola A. Crate against John A. Craig, cruelty alleged.

Hazel F. Herrell against Louis C. Herrell, nonsupport alleged.

Christian Nielsen against Louis Nielsen, desertion alleged.

Anna Gertrude Irwin against Carl Irwin, cruelty alleged.

John McCormon against Lee McCormon, nonsupport alleged.

Minnie Bettelman against Milton Bettelman, nonsupport alleged.

Buford and Anderson

Pose as Fire Department

A fire, due to an overheated stove, in the State Furniture company, Fourteenth and Dodge streets, was extinguished by Police Chauffeur Buford and Conductor Anderson without the help of the fire department. The officers were returning from a call at Sixteenth and Dodge streets when they noticed a number of excited clerks trying to put out a small blaze with brooms. With the aid of the fire extinguisher on the patrol they had no difficulty in extinguishing the flames. Several mattresses and blankets were destroyed.

Noted Architect to Come to Omaha With Bankers Realty Investment Co.

F. W. Fitzpatrick has been engaged by the Bankers Realty Investment company as head of its construction department.

Among architects of America F. W. Fitzpatrick is a household name. Born in Canada, he entered the great west in the United States many years ago and has fought his way to the very front rank of the architects of America. For years he was a member of the firm of Traphagen & Fitzpatrick Duluth, the firm that planned so many of the important buildings in the cities of the northwest. In 1896 he was called to the service of the federal government and for seven years more he rendered it distinguished service, being in charge of the government's most important building operations. In 1904 he resigned from the federal government service to devote his efforts to the work of a consulting architect, and during later years he designed and planned a large number of big buildings in this country, as well as in Canada.

Some of the finest buildings in Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg, as well as in our own country, were designed by Mr. Fitzpatrick for local architects.

It was Mr. Fitzpatrick who, away back in the eighties, in co-operation with a Swedish engineer, developed a scheme for constructing tall, steel or iron frame buildings. In fact, it is perhaps true that he was the first to originate and make possible the plan upon which present day skyscrapers are built.

With all of his busy life Mr. Fitzpatrick has found time in which to do pioneer work in other movements for the public good. He was the first to give impetus to the "city beautiful" idea for the city of Washington, laboring for an appointment by the president of the art commission that later did much good work in the beautifulizing of the national capital. Joe Mitchell Chapple, the famous editor of the National Magazine, referring to Mr. Fitzpatrick, says: "Always of a scientific trend of thought, his contributions to various magazines and newspapers are most interesting and to the point and are widely quoted. In addition to his work in this, his specialty, he has accomplished splendid results in the advancement of architectural and civic reforms."

Youth Would Marry Young Woman Who Abandoned Her Little Babe

Chivalry among the workaday people of the world, as portrayed by O. Henry in his tales of the four million, is very much alive in Omaha, judging from a story which came to light in the office of the county attorney.

With pity and forgiveness in his heart after reading the newspaper stories of Anna Clayton, a young mother who abandoned her 12 days old baby a couple of days ago, giving as her excuse the fact that a man by the name of John Flynn, not the father of the child, however, wanted to marry her if she would get rid of the child, a local gallant visited County Attorney Magney and expressed a wish to make the young woman his wife.

This man, who has never seen Anna Clayton, told the county attorney that in his opinion all the young woman needed was a good husband and admitted that he wanted a wife.

County Attorney Magney informed the young gallant that the only thing that would prevent him from pushing the case against Anna would be an order from the district court.

The child, which is now in the Child Saving Institute, is also in demand. Mr. and Mrs. Grover Hughes of Clay County, Iowa, have written the county attorney expressing a wish to adopt the baby and give it a good home. Their application is being considered.

Socialists Will War On War, With Words for Bullets

War against war with words as ammunition instead of shot and shell will be waged eloquently at the Auditorium Sunday afternoon by socialists and all other pacifists.

"Down with war. Down with the inhuman social system that breeds war. Long live peace. Long live the international solidarity of the workers of all nations." These and a few other like statements preface a printed invitation to attend the mass meeting.

Speakers of national repute will be on hand to marshal the facts and theories of history and economics and array them as arguments against war and militarism. Also, says John T. Goings, chairman of the protesting committee against war, "Those who favor war and have the courage of their convictions will get full opportunity to be heard."

Denizens of East Bottoms Pick Pears from Dumps

A local commission firm on Friday hauled four carloads of California pears to the new city dump at Willow slough, northeast of Carter lake.

The fruit was spoiled in storage in Omaha. These were canned pears and it is said that the high price of sugar last fall affected the market for this class of fruit. An attempt to keep the pears in storage resulted in spoilation by frost.

Residents of the east bottoms gathered up a lot of the fruit.

Stevens Has Cold Feet And Very Nimble Fingers

George Stevens' feet were cold. So when he proceeded to rub them against Paul Sve, his bed mate at Father Flanagan's hotel, the latter took the matter as a joke. When Sve awoke, however, he found that besides being touched with cold feet, he had also been touched for $3. He had his bed mate arrested. In police court Saturday morning Stevens got thirty days in the workhouse.

The following decrees were also granted in divorce court:

Mabel Gartkunkle from Morris H. Gartkunkle.

Margaret A. Hughes from John D. Hanes Cooks from Harold Cooks.

Divorce petitions filed by dissatisfied wives and husbands are as follows:

Kenneth D. Worth against Harold J. Wofford, nonsupport alleged.

Baby Boy Bandits Who Strong-Armed Girl Get "Theirs"

Charged with having strongarmed Evelyn Flower, 5 years old, and robbed her of some small change, four South Side youths, ranging in ages from 9 to 13 years, were arraigned before Judge Sears in juvenile court, who presided in the absence of Judge Leslie.

Tony Radzickousky, 12 years old, said to have been the leader of the youthful "highwaymen," was ordered taken to the state industrial school at Kearney. Stephen Burdura, 11 years old, Andrew Macke, 9 years old and Sam Zaep, 13 years old, were released on parole to the juvenile court officials.

The Radzickousky boy was the youngest offender charged with strongarming ever arraigned before Judge Sears in the latter's career as a judge.
