Dying Stolen Porker A trail of blood, footprints and the dying grunt of a hog all combined to clear a mystery that had baffled the clear a mystery that had baffled the police department for the last two weeks. For some time past C. Sorcisson, manager of the Omaha Feed and Rendering company, had been missing some of his choice porkers. Wednesday morning he notified the police that he had a hot trail and the patrol barge with Officers Coffey and Buford responded. They found a trail of blood and footprints lead-doors for two house. Evidence in and Buford responded. They found a trail of blood and footprints leading from the rendering plant near East Omaha to a small empty cottage at Tenth and Grace streets. Here the trail stopped and the officers were about to give up the chase, when from under a pile of loose straw there came a feeble grunt. The officers recovered the dying porker, a 150-pound Jersey-Duroe, but were unable to apprehend the thief.

It imony of witnesses behind closed doors for two hours. Evidence in developing the course for two hours. Evidence in developing the course was submitted. It is ramored trait another batch of indictments will be returned before the grand jury's final adjournment. The report for the district judges and the county attorney's office is said to be about completed.

FINE FOR KEEPING CARS TIS A "BIGGEST EVENT"

Vesterday was the last day of grace for railroads to hold empty freight equipment, unless the holding road Fontenelle next Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. desires to pay the heavy penalty to be applied by the Interstate Commerce commission. This penalty is $5 per day per car for the first three days, and increasing at the rate of $1 per day until a maximum of $10 per day has been reached. After that another $10 is added each day and applied on each and every freight, stock or coal car so held.

the owner roads. Grain, generally, is the commodity.

The order relative to returning cars to the owner line is not very elastic. It provides that the cars may be loaded, but in the event of carrying loads they must be delivered to the nearest connection on the owner line and sent by the shortest route. It also provides that in loading cars of foreign lines these loads must not be consigned to points off or beyond the lines of the road owning the cars. It is figured that this will get the cars into home territory within the shortest space of time.

New Industry Still is

Looking for Location J. H. Gillan, industrial secretary of the Commercial club, has just re-turned from Chicago, where he went with Frank Rudolph in connection with Frank Rudolph in connection with the intended moving of the Nelson corporation plant of Chicago to Omaha. This corporation, it was announced a few days ago, is now to move its plant to Omaha, where it will continue the manufacture of loose leaf ledgers. Mr. Gillan says from his observation it is his opinion at least five cars will be required to move the machinery and equipment to Omaha. The building has not yet been selected in Omaha.
