Wellesley "Rushing" Party.
That today is Wellesley day, you could not doubt had you pecked in on the lively scene this afternoon at the Wellesley club meeting at the home of Mrs. Ralph Kiewit. Loyal college alumnae find time amidst many lectures, musicales and social duties to keep up their college spirit and incidentally do a little boosting for their alma mater. Consequently, fifteen young girls from Brownell Hall and Central High school were invited to the meeting and were enlightened upon all phases of college life, which were so attractively presented that the prospectives went home with their hearts overflowing with true college spirit and will spend the rest of the winter pouring over catalogs.

Each member brought her memory book and song book and one might have thought she was on a college campus had she chanced to meander past the home and heard the rousing sounds.

A skit, in which Miss Halcyon Cotten took the part of the homesick freshman, who is pictured as falling asleep in her room while reading a letter from home, was given during the afternoon. While she dreams various types of girls representing all the college activities pass before her. Miss Gretchen McConnell was the society girl and represented the Barnswallows' organization; Miss May Somers, the student government; Miss Ora Ambler, athletics and sports; Miss Lydia McCague, the dread academic; Mrs. Ralph Kiewit, the glee club and choir; Miss Nona Bridge, the frolics, such as May day and tree day, and Mrs. James C. Dahlman, who, if she had finished her course, would have graduated with the first graduating class of the college, represented memories.

The parlors were decorated with yellow jonquils, daffodils and tulips, while pink roses furnished the centerpiece for the dining room table. Miniature flags and George Washington hatchets were used in the refreshments as a reminder of the day.

Thirty members were present and the guests at this little "rushing" party were:

BRIDE OF WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY.

Before the ceremony Miss Hazel Evans will sing a love song entitled "My Valentine," after which Miss Gretchen McConnell will play the Lohengrin wedding march.

The bride, who will be given away by her father, will wear a white satin gown veiled, with Lucile net, made with a short full skirt and high waisted, trimmed with pearl beads and silver lace. The long sleeves are made of the net. Her veil of three-fourths length will be arranged in a pearl bead band and will be held in place by a wreath of lilies of the valley, and she will carry a shower bouquet of brides roses.

Mrs. Blake Erb and the Misses Anna McCague, Helen Carrier and Edith Jones will stretch the ribbons. Miss Edith Hodge, who will be her sister's maid-of-honor, will wear a pink georgette crepe dress trimmed with pearl bead bands and pink satin, and will carry a bouquet of pink roses.

The bride and her father will be met at an improvised altar of smilax and two baskets of roses placed on high pedestals, by the bridegroom and his best man, Mr. Guy Kiddoo, Rev. Titus Lowe will officiate.

Assisting in the dining room will be Mesdames Charles Wright, Blake Erb and T. E. Sturgess, the Misses Hazel and Carol Howard, Anna McCague and Mary Phillipi.

The table decorations will consist of a basket of pink roses, and the ices will have pink hearts in the center while the individual cakes are to be frosted in white with the pink initials.

The bride and groom will leave immediately after the ceremony for an eastern trip, after which they will live in Brooklyn, N. Y. The bride's traveling suit is of blue broadcloth and her hat a small tailored straw.

Miss Isabelle Ross and Mr. Fred Cockrell are the only out-of-town guests.

The house was decorated with flags and miniature spinning wheels. The guests came in costume, some with colonial dresses and powdered hair, and others with kerchiefs and cap. A little program was given, including a minuet by little Miss Helen Levinson and Miss Dorothy Reuben; colonial songs by Miss Ruth Ganson, and an elaborate guessing contest.

Love the Sorcerer

Copyright, 1917, International News Service. By Nell Brinkley

LOVE is a sorcerer in cap and gown, with a Will o' the Wisp wand. He makes over the little Sit-in-the-ashes, the shabby Cinderella, into the princess at the ball. When the fire of his magic stick touches her image—lo, you, she is no longer a girl with stray locks that fly, hairpins falling, torn stockings and scuffed heels, lace petti-skirt a-fraying and fingers grubby. Watch the Ashpüttel you know, and see her, when she falls in love, fall to scouring her little hands and polishing her hair, and scrubbing her teeth into pearls until she shines out of her glass a stranger princess.—NELL BRINKLEY.

Co-Ed is Elected President of State Uni Senior Class

Lincoln, Feb. 22.—(Special).—For the first time in the history of the University of Nebraska a co-ed has been elected president of the senior class for the final semester of the school year.

Miss Marguerite Kauffman, Hardy, Neb., ardent suffragist and pretty, gave Ladislaus Kublik, the male contender for the honors, a frightful lambasting. Miss Kauffman won the presidency by a vote of 121 to 73. Owing to the fact that all of the commencement activities fall upon the senior president, it has been a time-honored precedent to elect a man to the office.

The senior president is a member of the Black Masques and has been active in all college affairs.

The junior class presidency brought out a close fight, with Ralph Anderson nosing out his closest competitor, Merl Townsend, by only one vote. Anderson received 95 and Townsend 94. Max Miller got 79, Carlisle Jones 67 and Fred T. Cotter 29.

For editor-in-chief of The Cornhusker, the college annual, Wayne Townsend had no opposition and Charles E. Peterson of Omaha was unopposed for business manager of the publication. Robert Wenger defeated Bog Bedford for junior managing editor by a vote of 273 to 75.

For Ivy day orator, E. Everett Carr received 175 votes to 75 for Charles M. Frey.

Will T. Johnson beat Fay H. Pollock 207 to 197 for sophomore class president, and Henry M. Dally, the freshmen president-elect, had no opposition.

Patriotism is Evident at Concord Club Luncheon

Everyone had a hatchet at the Washington's birthday luncheon of the Omaha Concord club at the Henshaw rathskeller at noon. Other patriotic favors were also in evidence and members of the club and guests made talks appropriate to the birthday anniversary of Washington.

William F. Baxter, secretary of the Thomas Kilpatrick company, a guest, touched on the significance of the day as compared with the nation's present crisis, which he termed the "most serious in our time."

Tom English, president of the Concordians, acted as chairman of the meeting. He was "crowned" with a patriotic-looking hat, from which dangled ribbons leading to souvenirs with members' names on them.

To Tell Friday Night What the Navy is Doing

"Hundreds of notices of the meeting of the Navy League have been sent out," said President Arthur C. Smith, "but there are no tickets of admission. Everybody is welcome. It will be held in the large assembly room of the Fontenelle hotel at 8 o'clock Friday evening of this week. Speakers will tell about the new navy and what may be expected of it; what the Navy League is doing and all about its plans; something about the probability of war. There will be a brief review of the international situation.

"There will be no requests for money," concluded President Smith, "but there will be patriotic sentiments expressed to warm the hearts of all loyal Americans. Foreign-born men of all nationalities are most cordially invited."

R. B. Howell, a former officer of the navy, will make an address. The president of the Nebraska section of the league, Arthur C. Smith, will preside and make the opening address. Leonard W. Trester, Nebraska chairman of the Civilian Naval Reserve association, is expected to make a brief address.

Hummel Tells of Trees He Has Cut in Elmwood Park

In connection with a misunderstanding said to have arisen in connection with work of the park department in Elmwood park, City Commissioner Hummel offered the following statement:

"It might be inferred by some people from the agitation going on that all the trees and shrubs in Elmwood park were or had been cut down. The fact is, and can be proven, that trees or shrubs have been cut down only where it was absolutely necessary. It was necessary to cut down some trees and shrubs in making preparation for the golf course, and in one or two cases it was necessary to cut down old rotten trees along the driveways, which were apt to tumble down at any time. The work has been in charge of the department landscape architect, Mr. Adams, who is a very capable man in his line, and I do not think the public is in any way dissatisfied with the work that we have done."

Flag Given to Brownell Hall by Mrs. Getzschmann

Brownell Hall girls are now the proud possessors of a handsome new flag. Mrs. Bertha Getzschmann, a neighbor of the school, presented them with a flag, 17x8 feet in dimensions. The donor made a presentation speech before all the scholars and faculty of the Hall in the gymnasium, to which Miss Euphemia Johnson responded on behalf of the hall. Then six small girls led the assembled multitude to the school yard, where the flag was raised in a burst of patriotism. No holiday was given to the pupils because of their holiday on Tuesday, the day of the Brownell Hall carnival.
