the sale of the National Fidelity and Casualty company's building at Twelfth and Farnam streets. They will now readvertise for bids. The structure, which has been the bone of contention in much district court litigation, was sold to Joseph Barker for $41,000 and about $5,000 in back taxes last December. The judge based his refusal to confirm the sale on the grounds that another bidder, David Cole, made an offer of approximately $57,000 for the building. 1014 100 139 1524 1424 Bellevue Co-Eds Spurn
