

THREATEN SUIT FOR THE LATE RAID

Court House Row Between Clark and Lynch Takes On a New Angle.

BOTH MAKE STATEMENTS

Big damage suits against the county are now threatened as one of the results of the raid by a force of sheriff's deputies on Lakeside club, commonly known as Shay-shay's road house, according to the attorney representing the majority of the thirteen people arrested and held for several hours in jail.

Court hangers see in the raid an angle to the rumored feud between Sheriff Clark and Commissioner Lynch arising out of the jail-feeding row. Adherents of the commissioner assert that the sheriff believed he was raiding a resort in which the former had an interest. Commissioner Lynch was at the court house bright and early and gave out the following signed statement:

"Sheriff Clark's statement that I told him I own one-half of Lakeside road house is absolutely and deliberately false, and everybody who knows me knows that it is false. I do not own any interest in Lakeside or any other road house. I could not afford to if I wanted to on account of my position.

"John Ford, manager of the road house, is a former neighbor and friend of mine. Clark is aware that this fact is generally known and that I have no other interest in the place. He thinks that will make his false statements more probable.

"If Clark is honestly intending to enforce the law, I am for him. Whether he made this raid for spite-work will be shown by his subsequent actions."

Will Keep Lid On.

The sheriff declares no personal feeling enters in the raid, but that he is going to keep the lid on in Douglas county, regardless of whom it affects.

Charges of being inmates of a disorderly house were placed against the eight men and five women arrested, according to the sheriff, but their attorney says no charges were placed against them. "I have no record of the arrests," said Chief Deputy Foster.

All of the persons taken to the county jail as a result of the raid were released a few hours later on $50 cash bonds. The money put up for the bonds was refunded when the released alleged road hangers appeared at the court house.

"We can get them again if we need them," said the sheriff. "They've all given their words that they'll appear if wanted."

To File Charges.

Following a conference with County Attorney Magney Chief Deputy Sheriff Foster declared that complaints charging selling liquor without a license will be brought against Frank Galloway, bartender, and John Leonard, who Foster says is the manager of the Lakeside resort.

Meanwhile the jail feeding row goes on, the county board refusing to allow Sheriff Clark's claim for January's purchases for the bastille. They want him to submit an itemized statement of his actual expenditures for food.

The sheriff has borrowed $500 at a bank to pay bills incurred in feeding the prisoners. He borrowed $1,000 last month, besides using both his semi-monthly pay checks and other moneys coming into his office.
